SPOOKS AND WITCHES READY FOR SATURDAY

U.S. Getting Tough On Captive Officers

Demand For Release Put To Soviets

MOSCOW (UPI) — The United States today demanded release of four officers, including two American generals, whose small plane landed accidentally on Soviet soil last week.

Boris H. Klosson, a U.S. embassy official, called on the Soviet Foreign Ministry and relayed the U.S. government's request that the four men be released, an embassy spokesman said.

"He also asked for a consular visit on Nov. 2 to the four men (held) in Leninakan if the four officers and their plane have not been released by then," the spokesman said. Three are American; the fourth is a Turkish colonel.

SEES AIDE

Klosson met with George M. Kornenko, head of the ministry's American desk. Kornenko promised he would be "in touch with appropriate people," the spokesman said.

In Washington, Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin was summoned to the State Department to receive the U.S. reply to Russia's protest over the violation of her air space by the plane.

Dobrynin was asked to meet with Undersecretary of State John Irwin who was to hand him a written communication. It was understood the reply repeats the U.S. contention that the violation was accidental and demands again the release of the American and Turkish officers and the plane.

Reports that the Beechcraft U8 deliberately flew across the Soviet-Turkish border on Oct. 21 and was forced to land at Leninakan by Soviet Mig jetfighters were described as a "canard" by the embassy spokesman.

TURKISH REPORT

He also denied a Turkish radio report that the Soviets used electronic devices to lure the plane into Soviet territory.

"We have the pilot's report and there's nothing there to indicate that," the spokesman said.

On Monday, consular officials Peter B. Swiers and Richard E. Combs Jr. were permitted to visit the three army officers. The embassy reported later that they said the plane was blown across the border by a "freak gust of wind."

The officers are Maj. Gen. Edward C.D. Scherrer, Brig. Gen. Claude M. McQuarrie and Maj. James Russell. Also detained with them in what the embassy described as a comfortable "guest house" is Col. Civat Danli, a Turkish liaison officer, who also was aboard the plane.

Leninakan is just across the Soviet border and about 20 miles from Kars, Turkey, the intended destination of the U8 plane which was piloted by Russell.

VANTALISM — Vantals, breaking into fire alarm boxes, were caught in the act last night by Alto Richardson Bay firemen. The antruders were suspected of causing at least one false alarm. Glass they neglected to break led to their arrest and anterruption of the nuisance.

ANTSTOUNDING ALARM!

How Tiny Creatures Bugged The Firemen

The Alto-Richardson Bay Fire Department, hot on the trail of a couple of false alarm artists, caught them in the act last night.

They weren't arrested, though — cells in the Marin County jail aren't constructed to hold a pair of ants.

The adventure started at 9 p.m. when firemen answered an alarm from the box in front of the men's dormitory at the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in Strawberry.

"I suspected something right away when I saw that the glass wasn't broken," said Chief Carl O. Heynen Jr.

Gingerly opening the door, he pounced on the culprits — "two regular black household ants" — hanging across the electrical contact points.

Did he advise them of their constitutional rights? Did he phone for a sheriff's deputy to make the arrest? Did he congratulate them on their teamwork?

No. Heynen merely followed standard department procedure in such cases: "I brushed them away and reset the box."

The department, bugged by this sort of trouble in the past, is going to crack down on the ant vandals, the chief said. Putty will be placed in the bottom of the box to keep the little creatures out.

Israel Says Reds Man 500 Missiles

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Israel told the U.N. General Assembly Wednesday Egypt has moved more than 500 missiles into the standstill zone along the Suez Canal and that 3,000 Russians are helping to man them.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba S. Eban, speaking during the General Assembly debate on the Middle East, said "these are not defensive measures but offensive measures."

The debate continues today, with the United States, Syria and Lebanon among the 12 nations on the scheduled speakers' list.

In Tel Aviv, Defense Minister Moshe Dyan said that if fighting resumes along the Suez Canal Israel will inflict another defeat despite the missile buildup. "Although the military situation has changed in favor of the Egyptians after they advanced their missiles towards the canal, they too know that if the war should be resumed they shall be beaten."

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, in a speech to troops on the Suez Canal said "You should be sure that we will never permit the cease-fire to be turned into a permanent cease-fire."

He said the Nov. 5 expiration of the cease-fire "should not mean anything special to you because you should always be prepared at every moment and should work continuously to increase your combat abilities."

"America and Israel continue to bring psychological pressure to bear on us," he continued. "America gives Israel hundreds of tanks and aircraft. And they make a fuss about the missiles and accuse Egypt of violating the cease-fire although they know well that these are allegations without any foundation."

Eban said in his speech that when the 90-day cease-fire began Aug. 7 there were only 17 SAM2 and SAM3 missiles in the standstill zone along the Suez Canal. He said between 500 and 600 more had been moved into the area since then.

"One-third of the missiles in the standstill area are SAM3s, manned by Soviet personnel," Eban said. "The Soviet strength in the standstill zone is estimated at 3,000 men."

He added that "at the heart and center of that (peace) initiative was the cease-fire standstill. They (Egypt) agreed not to introduce missiles, not to construct any concrete emplacements for missiles, or to carry out any work for the emplacements of missiles."

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad told the General Assembly Monday all Egypt had done was to replace sandbags with concrete fortifi-

Cong Report Soviets Back 'Our' Plan

PARIS (UPI)—The Viet Cong said today it has won a new pledge of all-out support from the Soviet Union for its struggle against the United States. Thus, it said, Moscow was not going along with President Nixon's latest new peace package.

Viet Cong spokesman Dong Dinh Thao said after today's fruitless session of the Viet Nam peace talks that the Soviets were backing fully the Viet Cong peace plan and condemning Nixon's proposals unveiled Oct. 7.

The spokesman said that at a London meeting Wednesday night Viet Cong Foreign Minister Madame Nguyen Thi Binh received from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei AK. Gromyko "an energetic reaffirmation of the Soviet Union's support for our struggle against the United States and for our peace plan of Sept. 17."

On Sept. 17, the Viet Cong in Paris called on the United States to agree to withdraw its troops by June 30, 1971, in exchange for a cease-fire and for the constitution of a new provisional cabinet in Saigon.

The Viet Cong spokesman said that at the London meeting Gromyko condemned Nixon's Oct. 7 speech as a "recognition of the known positions of the American aggression in Indochina."

The Viet Cong spokesman said Gromyko's assurance to Madame Binh indicated there was "no change" in Moscow's foreign policy line on Indochina.

Nixon Tells Midwest: 'Give Me Some Help'

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UPI)—President Nixon carried his blitz campaign to change the ideological complexion of the Congress across the vote-rich Midwest today, pleading, "Give me some help."

It was a tense trip. In Chicago, his jumping-off point today, an alert was out to pick up two men reported seen with an automatic rifle in their car in the suburban area where the President spent the night.

Later, after the President had left the Chicago area, another police report went out that a tall young man drove up at a gasoline station and remarked, "I'm on my way to kill President Nixon."

Security was laced tight when Nixon took off from Chicago's O'Hare International Airport. However, the President showed no reluctance in mingling with crowds in the Chicago suburb of Mount Prospect and at Rockford, Illinois' second most populous city and a Republican bastion. Nixon's man, Sen. Ralph T. Smith, relies upon Rockford to overcome his Nov. 3 election challenge by Illinois State Treasurer Adlai E. Stevenson III.

Secret Service agents were informed of the various police reports. Although they took precautions, they indicated they did not attach heavy importance to the reports.

Nixon in the Midwest took on two of the most prestigious names in the Democratic campaign for the Senate, Stevenson of Illinois and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

Before flying to Rockford and a rally at Rochester, Minn., Nixon told a high school auditorium crowd in Mount Prospect, "People want action . . . that's why I won the election in 1968."

As in past stops along his campaign tour, Nixon had a few hundred noisy hecklers to deal with at Rockford. He shouted over their protests of the Vietnam War, "We've been bringing them (the soldiers) home by the thousands."

Nixon's voice was somewhat hoarse from three days of heavy campaigning as he appealed to the airport crowd of about 30,000 at Rockford to help him "keep my promise to America."

Contrasting the majority of his audience with the pocket of hecklers, Nixon said, "The great silent majority—you don't need to shout obscenities—instead, on Nov. 3, you go to a quiet place to vote for a few moments and you are the most powerful person in the world in those moments."

"Young persons involved in bombings, heckling and shout-

Judge Orders Inspections Of Strip Cells But No Ban

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A Federal judge today ordered twice-weekly inspections of San Quentin "strip" cells by outside attorneys.

U.S. District Judge Albert C. Wollenberg declined, however, to issue orders against use of tear gas in the cells or the placing of prisoners in strip cells.

The judge ruled after four days of hearings in a civil rights action brought by seven convicts. The seven said they had suffered harassment and abuse because they were witnesses to the death of a follow inmate, Fred Billingslea, assertedly at the hands of prison officers.

Judge Wollenberg earlier issued a temporory order against reprisals on the prisoners and called for San Quentin officials to follow state regulations in regard to the inmates.

In his latest injunction the judge kept these provisions in effect and ordered inspection of the strip cells and other areas twice weekly by attorneys approved by counsel for both sides to assure compliance.

The judge noted that prison officials, in rebutting charges of unsanitary conditions in the cells, offered testimony that cleaning materials were always available for those inmates requesting them.

He also declined to prohibit use of tear gas "in any enclosed area" after testimony by officials that there are circumstances in which tear gas is the least dangerous means by which a prisoner who refuses to leave his cell may be forced to do so.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

$77 Million Loss

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. blames a $77 million third-quarter loss—its first quarterly deficit in 24 years — partly on the 45-day strike by the United Auto Workers in the United States and Canada.

GM also blamed longer shutdowns for 1971 model changeovers "because of extensive changes in certain regular-size models" for its first quarterly red ink since the first quarter of 1946, when operations were also shut down by a UAW strike.

Negotiations were resuming today between GM and the UAW. The strike has now surpassed the 44-day shutdown of the Ford Motor Co. in 1967, and caused thousands of layoffs in automotive and supplier industries.

No Kidnap Lead

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI) — Police checks of telephone tips and an intense search in the Quito area have failed to disclose leads to the whereabouts of kidnaped Brig. Gen. Cesar Rohon Sandoval, official sources said today.

Police said interrogation of the Air Force commander's chauffeur, Sgt. Jesus Marcillo, shed few clues on the Tuesday kidnapping. Marcillo was found bound, gagged and heavily drugged on a Quito street corner where the kidnapers dumped him after abducting Rohon Sandoval.

Marcillo, who was questioned Wednesday after recovering from effects of the drug, only revealed that he was threatened by two armed men who transferred him to another car where he was bound and drugged.

Head Start Cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon Administration has advised local Head Start administractors that budget reductions will force them to cut projects and turn children away from the popular preschool educational program.

The key to how drastic the cuts will be lies with Congress, which will decide on a final budget for the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) when lawmakers return Nov. 15 from an election recess.

Head Start is providing educational, social and medical services to 263,000 children in the 3 to 6 age bracket. It has proved popular with parents, politicians and most educators, but its budget has been cut three of the last four years.

Uruguayan Censors

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI) — The government clamped tight consorship on the Uruguayan press today after newspapers published photographs of kidnaped American Claude L. Fly playing cards with his terrorist captors.

An Interior Ministry spokesman warned news editors censorship was still in effect and said that newspapers reporting on terrorist activities could publish only "the communiques and photographs released by the city's police department."

The 65-year-old Fly, a soils expert of Fort Collins, Colo., has been held hostage since Aug. 7.

Abrams Charged

ATLANTA (UPI)—An attorney for a soldier accused in the alleged My Lai massacre has charged Gen. Creighton W. Abrams with permitting his troops to torture prisoners.

Attorney Charles Weltner also accused Abrams, the Army commander in Vietnam, with committing a felony in knowing that troops under his command struck prisoners and subjected them to "inhumane treatment" and then "wrongfully and unlawfully" concealing the alleged acts.

Weltner, a former congressman, is the civilian attorney for Sgt. Esequiel Torres, 22, of Brownsville, Tex., who has been charged with murdering three Vietnamese civilians by machinegun fire, hanging a fourth and assault with intent to murder three others.

Pope's Itinerary

VATICAN CITY (UPI)--Pope Paul VI will visit seven countries from the tiny Samoan Island of Pago Pago to the world's largest island, Australia, when he visits Southeast Asia Nov. 26-Dec. 4 the Vatican announced today.

The Pope's itinerary does not include Saigon, as some reports had suggested, but Vatican sources said the Roman Catholic pontiff would likely make an appeal for peace in Vietnam at some spot on his tour, probably in Manila.

Sato Wins Again

TOKYO (UPI)—Conservative Prime Minister Eisaku Sato won an unprecedented fourth term today to continue his policies of friendship with the West and opposition to Communist Chinese membership in the United Nations.

Sato, 69, won another two-year term as president of the Liberal Democratic Party (LDP), a grouping of 14 conservative factions which have ruled Japan continuously since World War II except for one brief Socialist government.

Sato won an easy expected victory over his only opponent, Takeo Miki, 63, who was foreign minister in an earlier Sato cabinet. The vote in the party election was Sato 353, Miki 111.

Chilean Plot

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—The lawyer of jailed Gen. Robert Viaux said Wednesday the general sent abroad a list of high persons who may have been involved in a plot to kidnap murdered Gen. Rene Schneider.

Schneider was fatally wounded while resisting a kidnap attempt Oct. 22. Police have charged that the Army commander in chief was the victim of a rightwing plot to block the succession of Marxist Salvador Allende to the presidency.

Allende's election has been confirmed by congress and he is due to be sworn in Nov. 3 as successor to outgoing Christian Democrat Eduardo Frei.

Transformer Hit

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Explosions today wrecked one transformer and damaged a second badly at Ballydown, southwest of Belfast, an army spokesman said.

Two Newsmen Die In Cambodia Zone

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Two United Press International staff members — Pulitzer Prize-winning photographer Kyoichi Sawada and correspondent Frank Frosch — were killed in a Communist ambush Wednesday. They apparently were executed by the side of the road.

Frosch, 27, of Atlanta, Ga., was API Phnom Penh bureau manager. Sawada, 34, was Japanese and had won many photography prizes, including the 1966 Pulitzer Prize for his dramatic picture of a Vietnamese mother and her children depserately fleeing across a river in search of safety.

The two men left Phnom Penh alone in an automobile Wednesday afternoon to drive to Chambak, 24 miles to the south along Highway 2, to see whether any fighting was going on in the area. Evidence at the scene indicated they were ambushed while returning.

There was some blood in the car and indications they escaped alive since the bodies were found 30 feet from the car, six feet off the road. The nature of their multiple chest wounds indicated they were executed by bursts of a Chinese made AK47 automatic rifle.

Details of the double killing could not be pieced together until today because of weak military security on Highway 2 which kept Cambodian troops in their defensive positions until after dawn. They said they had heard firing on the road shortly before sundown.

The bodies were discovered today by UPI correspondent Khau Buu Khien who went out from Phnom Penh to look for the two men. He found the bodies about 30 feet from their blue Datsun automobile in a marshy wooded area.

The two men apparently tried to establish their identity as journalists. Each carried a routine collection of official press cards. Sawada's press card covered with blood was found at the scene.

They were the sixth and seventh correspondents killed in the Cambodian War and the third and fourth UPI men to die in Indochina. Another 17 newsmen are listed as missing and eight others have been captured and released.

Sawada had been captured by the Viet Cong not far from the same spot in May, but by sheer courage and determination talked his way out of captivity after eight hours and also saved the Phnom Penh bureau manager Robert Miller from captivity.

$370,000 For Cezanne Study

NEW YORK (UPI) — An oil study by Paul Cezanne brought $370,000 Wednesday night — more than $1,000 a square inch—setting a world record for a French Impressionist sketch.

Peregrine Pollen, president of Parke-Bernet Galleries Inc., said the sale of 69 French artists for $3.98 million proved that "quality paintings still bring great prices despite the economic recession."

The Cezanne was a study of one of five card players for the finished masterpieces, "Cardplayers," in the Barnes, Merion, Pa., Museum and a second version in the Metropolitan Museum in New York. It was bought by Stephen Hahn, a New York dealer.

North Vietnam Units Surround Cambodians

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Two Cambodian infantry companies fought North Vietnamese troops today near the site of a major battle in August. The Cambodian Command said its forces were engaged in "a battle for their lives."

The Cambodian Command said the North Vietnamese attacked Cambodian position 14 miles northeast of the capital at dawn and the battle was ranging 16 hours later.

"It is a battle for their lives," a Cambodian spokesman said.

The fighting was four miles north of Prek Tameak, scene of a major battle in late August in which the Cambodian Army suffered more than 200 dead and wounded. Heavy bombing raids have been carried out against the suspected Communist positns in the area.

The size of the North Vietnamese force was undetermined but the area was a sector where elemnts of the 1965th North Vietnamese regiment has been spotted in recent days.

It was the third time in less than two months a 24-hour period has passed with no American combat deaths.

American B52 bombers carried out another day of raids against the Ho Chi Minh Trial in Laos to round out a third consecutive week of daily saturation bombings of the Communist supply line.

The U.S. Command said 43 Americans were killed in the war last week and 279 wounded.

It was the third lowest weekly toll of the year and U.S. military sources said the last four weeks have brought the lowest combat death toll for a 28-day period since Sept. 5-Oct. 2, 1965, when 91 American died.

The toll raised to 43,904 the number of Americans killed in the war since Jan. 1, 1961. U.S. military sources said 38 GIs died from noncombat causes last week to bring the total of such fatalities to 8,730.

Nixon Hails Blood Donors' Month

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—President Nixon's designation of January as National Blood Donor Month has been hailed by delegates to the convention of the American Association of Blood Banks.

"This is great," association president Dr. Enold H. Dalquist said Wednesday. "Observation of the month for the first time this year enabled banks to avert the almost-nationwide January shortages of the past two years."

The President's proclamation, published in the Federal Register, asked the "public media, the blood banking and medical and health facilities of our country, and the public at large to pay special tribute and honor during that month to the voluntary blood donor, and to encourage by all appropriate means increasing numbers of people to be voluntary blood donors."

Times Buys Papers, TV From Cowles

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Times Co. agreed Wednesday to purchase for $50 million in stock three Florida newspapers, a television station and several magazines from Cowles Communications, Inc.

Assumption of the securities will give Cowles a 23 per cent interest in The New York Times Co. Additionally, Gardner Cowles, chairman of the board of the company bearing his name, will join the Times board of directors.

The agreement calls for the Times to assume the $15 million debt of the properties it is acquiring, which is to be financed at the rate of 6.5 per cent. Cowles will receive 2.6 million shares of Times Class A stock.

The Florida newspapers include the Lakeland Ledger, the Gainesville Sun and the Ocala Star-Banner. The other properties are WREC-TV in Memphis, Tenn.; the Cambridge Book Co. which publishes textbooks; Family Circle magazine, a monthly consumer publication sold in supermarkets; and the Modern Medicine group of magazines which serves the medical and dental professions.

Airport Series Has A Familiar Ring

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A brief, six-episode series titled "San Francisco International Airport" bowed on NBC-TV Wednesday night, hoping to knock off its high-riding, head-on competitor, CBS-TV's "Hawaii Five-O."

The airport series is part of NBC-TV's new Wednesday hour which has the blanket title "Four-In-One," referring to the fact that a quartet of six-episode entries are being employed throughout the season to see if such diversity is a workable ratings experiment.

"San Francisco International Airport" succeeds the first six-part series, "McCloud," in which Dennis Weaver portrayed a western-style, contemporary New Mexico lawman assigned to temporary duty with the New York Police Department.

"San Francisco International Airport" stars Lloyd Bridges. He plays the airport manager. In the Wednesday premiere, a famous professor-scientist, dead set against chemical warfare and frustrated by his inability to have effect with mere words, decided on extreme action — setting a military gas shipment to detonate at the airport as an antiwar gesture.

If the hour often seemed like "Mission: Impossible," it was no accident. For the airport series was created by William Read Woodfield and Allan Balter.

To Allende Event

Army Airlifting War Game Troops

NURENBERG, Germany (UPI)—Silver C141 Starlifter jet transports took off from this civil airfield at three-hour intervals today, returning the first of 11,400 American soldiers to the United States from the NATO fall war games.

An army announcement said nine flights, carrying 744 soldiers and their baggage, were leaving today. Redeployment of the main body is expected to be completed by Nov. 5.

Israeli Pilots Seek Boycott Of Arabs

TEL AVIV (UPI)-Israeli pilots will propose an international pilots boycott of Jordan, Lebanon and Egypt because those countries encourage Arab guerrilla airliner hijackings, the chairman of the Israeli Pilots association said today.

The chairman, El Al Airline Capt. Amram Shemer, said he will submit the proposal at the International Airline Pilots Association (IFALPA) conference next week in Madrid.

A $1 Million False Arrest Claim Filed

A Sausalito man, who was arrested after talking to some of his friends at the Marin County Jail last July 16, has filed a million-dollar false arrest claim against the county.

Albertus W. Oldenburg, 28, of 212 Richardson Street, alleges he was falsely held and his reputation irreparably damaged because of publicity in the San Francisco Chronicle, the Independent-Journal and other news media.

He is represented by attorney Thomas T. Storer of Novato.

Narcotics agents arrested several crew members of a converted sub-chaser in Tiburon last July. The agents had boarded the boat on suspicion that it was used for marijuana smuggling and found an arsenal aboard.

After the crew members were taken to the county jail, Oldenburg went to the sheriff's office to talk to them and was himself held on suspicion of illegal communication with prisoners and suspected sale of marijuana. He was subsequently released without charge.

Oldenburg's claim was filed with the Marin County Board of Supervisors. A claim normally precedes a formal damage suit in court.

Joseph Black, a Scottish chemist, discovered, carbon dioxide.

Truck Rolls Down Bank, Injures Man

Leonard E. Farmer, 43, of Sebastopol, was reported in satisfactory condition at Hillcrest Hospital with head and back injuries suffered yesterday at 12:23 p.m., when his truck rolled down a 70-foot embankment near Cotati.

The California Highway Patrol said Farmer may have been dozing when his apple-laden truck went off the right shoulder of Highway 101 south of Railroad Avenue and plunged down the embankment.

Younger Says O'Brien Exploiting Anxiety

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Attorney general candidates Charles O'Brien and Evelle J. Younger disagreed Wednesday over the possibility of violence occurring on Election Day.

O'Brien, the Democratic candidate and chief deputy attorney general, said some public officials had been threatened with terrorist acts but he refused to identify the officials.

Los Angeles District Attorney Younger, the Republican candidate, said there were no reports which justified "hysterical response."

Younger told a separate news conference in Los Angeles that O'Brien was "capitalizing on a public anxiety by deliberately exploiting the apprehensions and fears" of many persons.

O'Brien said, "We don't know whether to take them (reports) seriously or not. As a consequence, we are taking them seriously." He said "precautionary steps" are being taken to protect threatened officials.

In other campaigning:

—Sen. George Murphy called his re-election opponent, Democrat John V. Tunney, an "outright liar." The Republican incumbent released a statement containing the "eleven lies of Tunney." The eleventh "lie" was the Democrat's charge that Murphy's campaign was hiring a "bunch of scruffy people" to pose as Tunney supporters and heckle President Nixon when he campaigns for Murphy in California.

—Tunney said he believes President Nixon will announce the award of a fighter airplane contract to a California firm during his campaign swing on behalf of Murphy. Speaking in San Jose, Tunney accused the Nixon administration of "playing politics with the aerospace industry in an attempt to get George Murphy's campaign off the ground."

—Gov. Ronald Reagan told the League of California Cities convention in San Diego that, if re-elected, he would work as a liaison man for cities with the federal government. The governor said he would especially represent the cities in the areas of taxation, which he said should not totally be preempted by Washington as they are now.

—Democratic gubernatorial nominee Jess Unruh said the same oil companies which are backing Reagan's re-election campaign are financing the opposition to an anti-air pollution ballot proposal. Unruh told newsmen in Richmond that the oil industry "has contributed $100,000 to a deceptive advertising campaign aimed at defeating Proposition 18 . . ." The measure would allow cities, with voter approval, to divert up to 25 per cent of their share of state highway funds for mass transit projects. Unruh said the same companies have contributed $100,000 to Reagan's campaign.

—State Superintendent of Public Instruction Max Rafferty issued a white paper saying the "total casualties from drug abuse will far exceed our losses in Vietnam." Rafferty estimated that between 1965 and 1968 there were 30,000 deaths in the nation caused by drug abuse plus an additional one million cases of mental disturbances due to drugs.

—Wilson Riles, Rafferty's re-election opponent, said the public has lost confidence in California education. "The loss of confidence is evident from top to bottom in California education today," he told a joint meeting of the Wilshire Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary in Los Angeles.

Pleads Guilty To Motocycle Theft

Phillip David Harrison, 19, of Sleepy Hollow, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of stealing a motorcycle last July.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner set sentencing for Harrison, now serving a 90-day jail sentence for burglary, for Nov. 12.

JESSE UNRUH, Democratic candidate for governor, responds to a question from Duston Harvey, UPI San Francisco bureau. Through this kind of "oral examination", issues are brought into focus, opinions sharpened, and the voter is provided a basis for comparing candidates, and finally, establishing his own position at the polls.

Harvey, a trained observer of the political scene, reports for United Press International which in turn reports for the Independent-Journal. In a very direct sense, as with all reporters, Harvey is your "lieutenant of the news" . . . your personal representative wherever news is made.

WHAT IS GOVERNOR REAGAN SAYING? George Shelton, UPI political reporter takes it down that you may take it in by reading the I-J. Asked to describe his work, Shelton said this: "I'm 33, and have been covering state politics now for more than nine years. After working for a couple of newspapers and graduating from San Jose State, I joined UPI in San Francisco in 1960 and was transferred to Sacramento the next year.

"I've covered every legislative session since then, virtually every state political convention and statewide candidate since 1964. I covered the '66 Brown-Reagan campaign for two months straight on the road, the '68 Kennedy-McCarthy travels and the '68 national conventions. Suffice to say, it's my life work and I wouldn't trade it."

The race

How I-J/UPI reporters & editors keep up with the candidates to keep you up on the coming election

Perhaps the most important part of the election is that you, as a free citizen, are privileged to vote. Which makes it equally important that you should know for whom and for what you are voting.

To keep you thoroughly informed the I-J and United Press International are teamed in a major effort to cover the candidates for state and congressional office. UPI reporters are also I-J reporters, an extension of journalistic manpower to the political fronts throughout California.

As the candidates race one another, eight UPI reporters "race" the candidates. As George Shelton of UPI, Sacramento, puts it: "When we staff a candidate, we stay glued to him. That's an iron-clad rule. He never appears anywhere in public, and seldom anywhere in private, unless we are there."

Which means, to you the reader, that whatever Governor Reagan, Jesse Unruh, John Tunney or George Murphy do or say, you will be informed. You will get to know them, to assess their views and their stand on issues which will require your decision. And the same for other candidates.

It's not an easy job. But a newspaper is best-equipped to do it. It has the people. And it has the print. Combined, they provide you not with surface gloss but with a deeper perspective.

And that, we believe, is as meaningful to your vote as your vote is to the democratic process.

WHEN JOHN V. TUNNEY, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate speaks, you can be pretty certain that Dennis J. Opatrny of UPI will be taking notes. On assignments such as this, Opatrny stays with the candidate . . . listening, questioning, examining, keeping you thoroughly informed.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN SACRAMENTO? What legislative actions are in process which may affect you, the Marin County voter? At right, Bryce W. Anderson, executive editor of the Independent-Journal, gets the word first-hand from William T. Bagley, assemblyman for Marin & Southern Sonoma Counties. From interviews such as this, plus long experience in evaluating the political scene, Anderson sharpens the edge of editorial comment. The purpose is not to persuade but to reveal the meaning of issues and legislative actions. And such "meaning" means a more enlightened vote and most important of all: independence of choice at the polls.

"Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate for moment to prefer the latter. But I should mean that every man receive those papers and be capable of reading them."

THE 'JAWBREAKER' WORKS FOR SAFETY

A machine designed to test the stability of roof structures in rollover-type accidents through controlled crushing is one of several new test devices installed in American Motors' new safety laboratory in Detroit. An instrumented American Motors Rebel is mounted in the fixture — nicknamed the "jawbreaker" by safety engineers — where it will be subjected to forces as high as 13,000 pounds.

Walker Jailed As Bail Is Withdrawn

Former San Quentin convict Tommy Lee Walker Jr., who had been free on $10,000 bail posted by the Soledad Brothers defense fund, was remanded into custody today after his bondsman surrendered him.

A representative of North Beach Bail Bonds told Judge E. Warren McGuire today in Marin Superior Court that the collateral for the bail bond had been withdrawn this morning.

The bail bondsman moved to surrender Walker in court just after a retrial for Walker, who is charged with battery on two San Quentin guards, had been set for Feb. 8.

Walker's attorney, Robert Birkie of San Rafael, theorized that the committee which had posted the bail withdrew it so the money could be used to bail other persons.

Walker, released last month from San Quentin prison, was tried before McGuire earlier this month, but a jury was unable to agree on a verdict. Eleven jurors voted for conviction on both charges with one woman juror holding out for acquittal.

McGuire would not allow Soledad Brother George Jackson to be called as a witness in the case, saying he had not been at the prison on the day of the alleged offenses.

McGuire said today he would consider reducing Walker's bail at a hearing Monday.

Walker went quietly with sheriff's deputies to jail after being hugged and kissed by a half-dozen crying young women who had accompanied him to court.

Box Of Dynamite Found On Beach

A box of dynamite found near Stinson Beach yesterday by a crew picking up litter was destroyed later by sheriff's officers.

Officers said 25 or 30 sticks of fresh dynamite in a cardboard box were found near Shoreline Highway about two miles south of Stinson Beach.

They theorized that the explosives had been stolen from a construction company but did not know which one.

Officers took the dynamite to a deserted area of Stinson Beach and burned it.

Soviets Sentence Five To Death

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet court in Pskov has sentenced five Estonian men to death for collaboration with Nazi forces in massacres during World War II, the Defense Ministry newspaper Red Star said today.

The trial began Sept. 11 and ended Wednesday in Pskov, a Russian city near Leningrad and the Estonian border, Red Star said.

It identified those sentenced to dealy only as Piggli, the commander of a collaborationist detachment, and former subordinates of his with the last names Limiste, Tanga, Veski and Yuksaar.

"They were involved in the massacres of innocent citizens during Hitler's occupation of the Pskov region," it said.

Shrinking World

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interstate highway system is shrinking distances between cities by reducing travel time for auto trips. The U.S. Transportation Department says a 2,830-mile journey from New York to Los Angeles which took 79 hours of travel in 1956 can now be made in 62 hours.

'Look-And-See' Ruling On Nudity Is Upheld

The Appelate Division of Marin Superior Court yesterday unanimously upheld last year's conviction of three nude sunbathers by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Municipal Court.

The three higher court judges apparently agreed with Judge Goldstein that "There is a time and place for everything."

Judge Goldstein, after taking a trip to Little Beach just north of Muir Beach to see nude sunbathers for himself, had found two women and the son of one of them guilty of disturbing the peace.

After a trial without a jury, he wrote a 10-page document telling his reasons for his decision. He described Mrs. Eleanor D. Borden, the complaining witness who lives above the beach, as having been "sickened" by what she saw.

He also noted that other residents of the area had protested nude sunbathers.

Since the September 1969 trial, Mrs. Borden, after testifying in several other such cases, has refused to come to court, leaving the district attorney's office without witnesses in many similar cases.

However, the board of supervisors this month passed an ordinance outlawing nudity in public places, which will allow officers to make arrests without having witnesses.

As a result of yesterday's court decision, Linda Ann Wells of San Francisco and Barbara Ann Gavin of San Rafael will have to pay $50 fines imposed by Judge Goldstein, who had placed Mrs. Gavin's son, Bruce F. Gavin, now 19, on probation.

Fewer Resignations At UC Berkeley

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Despite recent turmoil on the University of California's Berkeley campus, only 17 tenured faculty members out of 1,079 resigned last year.

This was the lowest number of tenured faculty resignations in six years and the lowest percentage of resignations (1.57) in eight years.

Schnacke Sworn Into Judgeship

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Robert H. Schnacke, 56, was sworn in Wednesday as U.S. District judge for Northern California.

Schnacke was moved to the federal judgeship by President Nixon. He had been a superior court judge in San Francisco since July, 1968.

Schnacke, a native San Franciscan, is a former U.S. attorney in the city. He was sworn in at ceremonies in the federal building by Chief Judge Oliver J. Carter, becoming the ninth federal district judge in Northern California.

Police Courtesy

MANILA (UPI) — Constabulary regional commander Col. Rafael Dumlao has ordered his officers and men to take up a two-week seminar on "utmost courtesy and respect for civilians at all times." He said courtesy and respect are necessary to gain the cooperation of civilians in the constabulary's effort to maintain peace and order.

Warning Against Snap Judgment On Patrols

The problem of who is to pay how much for the rising cost of sheriff's services is too complicated to make any snap judgment, the Marin Council for Civic Affairs decided last night at a meeting at Redwood High School.

Chairman George Ellman said he would try to set up a special meeting of his group next Wednesday night to thrash out the problem.

Guest speaker John F. Barrows, assistant county administrator, explained the proposed formation of a countywide police services district in the unincorporated areas so that communities that want increased police protection can pay extra for the service.

Hugh Dougherty of Stinson Beach, another invited speaker, argued that if cities want to shift more of the sheriff's cost to unincorporated areas, they should turn over a part of the sales tax revenues to the unincorporated areas.

USS Providence Arrives For Tour

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The flagship of the U.S. Navy's First Fleet arrived in San Francisco today on the first day of a four day visit.

The guided missile cruiser USS Providence, home ship for First Fleet commander Vice Admiral Ray Peet, will be open for public viewing Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 31 and Nov. 1 from 1 to 4 p.m.

The fleet defends the western sea approaches to the United States and trains ships and airplane squadrons for the Western Pacific.

Testimony Resumes In Fairfield Trial

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — Testimony resumed today in the Valentine's Day riot trial after a day of legal wrangling which nearly led to a postponement of the proceedings in Solano Superior Court.

Lt. James Carlton of the San Rafael police, the opening witness, returned to the stand as the prosecution's case against seven persons — accused of various felonies during the Feb. 14 riotous demonstration outside the Independent-Journal) — continued before Judge William E. Jensen.

Carlton, jointly in charge of about 150 law officers who had gathered for the demonstration, began identifying a series of photographs depicting the Valentine's Day scene outside the I-J.

Earlier today, Judge Jensen ruling on defense motions made yesterday, said he would bar prosecution testimony by two police officers stationed outside the embattled newspaper plant, but would allow introduction of photographs taken by I-J photographers during the melee.

Defense attorneys argued yesterday that Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua W. Thomas had not complied with a court order to offer prosecution evidence for review by the defense. Included in the material were the reports of the two officers, Inspector Gerald Souza and Charles Brobeck.

The jury was seated in the box yesterday only long enough to be told by Judge Jensen that it was dismissed until today. That came in late morning, and before and after the panel was sent home, the court was kept busy with legal arguments.

After a long discussion in chambers, it was reported that the judge was planning a delay in the trial because Thomas had not complied with the order to let the defense see some of his evidence.

There was no postponement but Judge Jensen rebuked Thomas.

The photographs were the center of the controversy, the defense contending Thomas's failure to comply with the court order was done wilfully. The prosecutor said he was told one defense attorney, Robert D. Carrow, had seen all the photos and that he (Thomas) was not aware he was in possession of all the I-J pictures.

Unhatched Gulls 'Talk' With Adults

BRIGANTINE, N.J. (UPI)— Unhatched infant sea gulls "talk" with the adult birds from inside their shells, says a lady psychology professor who has been wiretapping their nests.

Dr. Monica Impekoven of the Rutgers University Institute of Animal Behavior, has been conducting her eavesdropping with microphones, amplifiers and tape recorders.

She recorded the chirps of unhatched chicks from within their shells which had begun to crack. She used a mike under the nest at the National Wildlife Refuge here.

Watching from a blind, and listening to the chirps on an amplifier in the blind, she discerned that the adult birds responded by looking down, rising, shifting the eggs and uttering bird calls at the eggs.

When she put small amplifiers under other nests in which there were no eggs and played back the chirps, the adult birds responded in the same manner. She said that at hatching time the adult birds gave out a special "crooning" sound.

Suspect Denies Bizarre Hold-Up

ATLANTA (UPI) — Gordon "Chicken Man" Williams, flanked by his girl friend and an attorney, showed up at police headquarters Wednesday to deny that he had any part in the plucking of 100 fight fans for about $200,000 Monday night.

Not only was he innocent of the bizarre holdup following the Cassius Clay-Jerry Quarry heavyweight fight but he and his girl friend, Barbara Smith, 28, also were robbed Williams said.

Williams, who has a long police record, and Miss Smith jointly own the brick home in a well-to-do Negro section of Atlanta where the fight fans were lured by invitations passed out at the fight.

Military Count Below 3 Million

WASHINGTON (API) —The United States has fewer than three million men in uniform for the first time in five years.

The Defense Department said Tuesday that as of Sept. 30 the combined strength of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps was 2,984,120. The last time a figare below three million was reported was March 31, 1966, when strength was at 2,968,000 men.

The Sept. 30 figure represented a cutback of 35,386 men from August and a cut of 465,000 from Sept. 30, 1969.

The cutback — an average of 38,000 men a month — has been greater than the reduction in the draft.

Bolinas-Stinson Trustee Resigns

Erik Lund, a trustee of the Bolinas-Stinson School District, has resigned his board seat, effective immediately, because he has moved to Portland, Ore.

According to Supt. Lester M. Horning, Lund resigned this week in a letter to board chairman Edward Z. Lewis. Lund, a pharmaceutical salesman, had been a trustee since July 1969.

Horning said the Marin County Superintendent of Schools office will call a special election — within 120 days of the resignation as required by law — to fill the vacancy on the board.

Petaluma Produce

PETALUMA, Calif. (UPI) — Chicken farms here, said to be the world's most concentrated egg center, produce 51 million dozen eggs per year.

Racial Scuffling Over Black Busing

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI)— Police said 10 persons were arrested today when scuffling broke out between black and white parents at Washington High School where blacks were bused in under a state-ordered integration plan.

The school, which white parents have picketed for four days, has been boycotted by the whites since the busing plan was put into effect last Monday.

Public Safety Director T. Howard Waldron ordered police on 12-hour shifts. Police said some windows were broken before order was restored.

Two Autos Stolen In Sausalito

Two autos were reported stolen in Sausalito in the last two weeks, Sausalito police said today.

Police said a 1966 White Austin Healey convertible, license SPN757 was taken Oct. 20 while it was parked in front of 388 Sausalito Boulevard. Owner Tamara Ingram of San Francisco said the auto was stolen sometime during the night.

A 1965 blue Dodge, license MLW669, belonging to Alan M. Van Moppes of 11 Amicita Avenue, Mill Valley, was stolen early Sunday, police reported. Moppes told officers the auto, unlocked with the keys in the ignition, was taken between 12:45 and 1 a.m.

Stinkbomb In Greenbrae Store

Spraying of a nauseous substance in a Greenbrae store was the only incident reported yesterday, the 20th day of a wildcat union boycott against Marin businesses.

The manager of Petrini's, 270 Bon Air Shopping Center, said a bearded man sprayed a foul-smelling substance in two aisles of the store at 1 p.m.

Recent stinkbombings have appeared to be part of a labor boycott of Marin in support of San Francisco Tyopgraphical Union Local 21's strike against the Independent-Journal.

Expensive Program To Modernize Cave

STANTON, Mo. (UPI) — Bob Hudson, director of Meramec Caverns, the 100 million-year-old cave here, was asked: "What's the toughest part of your business?"

"How to spend $150,000 a year to modernize the cave and still have it look 100 million years old," Hudson replied.

cations around missiles and their pads already in the zone when the cease-fire began.

Eban suggested the General Assembly could act constructively by helping to see the cease-fire continued beyond its Nov. 5 expiration date and that Egypt moves the missiles out of the area.

In London, the Soviet Union and Britain called for an extension of the Middle East cease-fire due to expire Nov. 5.

The joint communique, issued at the end of a three-day visit to Britain by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, also said they agreed that peace talks with U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring should be resumed as soon as vossible.

In Amman a 17-man cabinet, led by veteran politician Wasfi Tel, took office with a mandate from King Hussein to cooperate "honorably" with Palestinian guerrillas as well as Syria and Iraq.

The new cabinet replaced the outgoing administration of Ahmed Toukan, who was appointed prime minister Sept. 26, one day before the end of the Jordanian civil war.

Tel, 50, served as prime minister several times before, the last time in 1966. At that time he was denounced by Egypt and Syria for his close connections with Britain and the United States and accused of being a Central Intelligence Agency agent.

The guerrillas are inclined to regard him as an enemy.

Tel became prime minister and defense minister. The foreign affairs portfolio went to Abdulla Salah, a Palestinian who served as foreign minister before.

Proposition 18 Opponents Raked

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Interests opposing Proposition 18, the "clean air amendment" are guilty of "Dishonest statements" in their advertising, a local group of "Nader's Raiders" charged Wednesday.

Proposition 18 would make state gas tax funds available for anti-smog research and mass transit. It is opposed by oil companies, the auto clubs, and highway builders, among others.

In a press conference, the group charged the anti-18 group constituted a "blatant example" of how special interest misused the referendum process.

They said "no on 18" force is outspending their opponents 10 to 1.

Germans Pay Well For Car Telephones

BONN (UPI) — About 10,000 West Germans have installed telephones in their cars, and the post office expects the number of subscribers to quadruple in the next couple of years.

Government ministers, industrial managers, bankers, lawyers, brokers and entertainment stars are the main subscribers. These are the people who find the 7,000 marks ($1,890) installation cost and fixed monthly charge of 65 marks, ($17.50), more than made up by savings in time.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Law Protects Harried Debtor

Dolly, a divorcee with two children, was falling behind in her installment payments. She had a $400 a month job as a clerk and received a small amount of child support.

The credit company sued Dolly, got a $500 judgment against her, and demanded payment. Dolly couldn't pay all at once but offered to pay in installments, which the company refused. The company "levied" on her wages.

In return Dolly showed that the law always allowed a person to keep half of a pay check, and sometimes all of it, if one needed it for necessary household expenses.

The credit company could collect only by pressuring Dolly. It kept on levying her wages; it called her employer time and time again; it made her come to court to explain her finances and shamed her before her friends.

Dolly in turn sued the credit company for "abuse of legal process" since the company knew her wages were exempt. She said the unfair collection practices jeopardized her job.

In court whe won. She got a court order to order the collection agency to stop harrassing her, and won damages for "abuse of process."

A person who uses an unreasonable method on purpose to collect a debt and thus harms the debtor, no matter how valid the claim is, invites liability.

Thus, Simon wrote a check to pay a merchant. Through an error, the bank failed to honor the check. By sending the check to the district attorney, the merchant caused Simon to be arrested. Although the matter was quickly cleared up, Simon sued the bank and the merchant for having him arrested. The court found them both liable for damages. They had unreasonably used legal processes to collect a check which the bank should have honored in the first place.

Collection agencies may be aggressive but may not use force or extortion. Throwing the debtor's furniture into the street, using a loudspeager to call the debtor a deadbeat or engaging in slander or libel goes beyond fair tactics.

NIXON

ing are not a majority of Americans and they're not going to be the leaders of the future," Nixon said.

"I am proud of young Americans, proud of their ideals, proud that they want peace. I am proud of the great silent majority that, while they recognize the needs for change, they know there is no cause that justifies violence."

"I need Ralph Smith in the Senate to help me keep my promises," Nixon said.

The President then repeated his pledge to end the war in Viet Nam so that anyone would be discouraged from starting other, similar wars. But, he said, there is more to the problem than ending the war.

"The question is not ending the war," he said, "The question is how we will bring it to an end. That is the difference—that is the difference between the two candidates."

The Mt. Prospect audience apparently was without hecklers. Hundreds of high school students were among the 3,000 persons who packed the auditorium. Pom-pom girls surged forward to greet him when the President arrived and, at least for awhile, the place took on the characteristics of a football rally.

Nixon was tired and a bit hoarse Wednesday night when he arrived in Chicago from a southern sweep of Florida and Texas in which he urged southern Democrats to "quit kicking the South around."

He also revealed that, while in Dallas, he had called former President Lyndon B. Johnson and told him that "I knew he tried just as hard as I am trying to bring peace to this country."

Big State Share In Safety Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S.Transportation Department has announced that $67.1 million will be available to the 50 states for state and community highway safety programs in 1971.

The funds are allocated according to population, with California getting the largest share, $6.4 million. The funds are given on a 50-50 matching basis and are to be used to implement 16 federal highway safety standards.

and expressed her satisfaction for the "fulsome aid received from the Soviet Union."

Xuan Thuy, the chief Hanoi negotiator, called on Americans to join hands with the Vietnamese to force President Nixon to endorse the Communist plan to end the war. And he once more rejected the Nixon plan as vote-getting propaganda.

U.S. Ambassador David K.E. Bruce told newsmen, "Today we once again had a flat rejection of everything our side has proposed at these meetings."

"We again made it clear there can be no question of accepting their demands as the only basis for a negotiated settlement," Bruce said.

"We reiterated that we are flexible and willing to consider their proposals along with our own. We continue to hope for some sign of a similar constructive attitude on their party."

Today was the second anniversary of President Lyndon B. Johnson's decision to halt the bombing of North Vietnam —the action which permitted the talks to begin. But there was no sign of Communist willingness to negotiate.

OBITUARIES

Alfonso C. Stock Dies At 84

Alfonso C. Stock, a six-year resident of Kentfield and a retired postal supervisor who served 57 years in the San Francisco post office, died yesterday in a local hospital. He was 84.

He was the father of Alden L. Stock of Kentfield, who is vice president of the Union Sugar Division of Consolidated Foods Corp. in San Francisco and a longtime leader of Marin County Boy Scout and Young Men's Christain Association activities.

Stock also is survived by his wife, Lenore Rawson Stock, of Kentfield, and five grandchildren. He was a native of San Francisco.

Private family services were held today at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, followed by burial in Woodlawn Cemetery, Colma.

The family prefers contributions to the Marin Council, Boy Scouts of America, or to the Marin YMCA.

JAMES FRENCH

Funeral for James E. French Jr., father of James III and Leroy C. French of Ross, will be held at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow in the Martin and Brown chapel, San Francisco.

French was a prominent Bay Area auto dealer, business executive, tournament bridge player and amateur golf champion. He died Monday in San Francisco at the age of 62.

He is also survived by his wife, Elva, his mother, Enor, and a brother Leon C. Smith of San Francisco.

He was a former president of the San Francisco Civic Ballet Association and active with other Bay Area cultural, civic and businessmen's associations.

Interment will be in Cypress Lawn Cemetery in Colma.

MARIAN MAHONEY

Marian F. Mahoney, an 18-year resident of Marin County, died yesterday at her Mill Valley home following a sudden illness. She was 61.

Mrs. Mahoney, who lived at 61 Bayview Terrace, was the wife of Jeremiah J. Mahoney, a plumber.

A native of New York, she moved to San Francisco in 1912 and to Marin in 1952.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Mahoney is survived by a son, Stanley J. Draper of South San Francisco and a brother, Christian Werner of Isleton, Sacramento County.

Memorial Mass of the Resurrection will be tomorrow at 10 a.m. at the St. Hilary Church, Tiburon. Burial will follow at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

The Rosary will be recited today at 8 p.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

SCOTT ADAMS

Scott M. Adams, 49, a custodian at Tomales High School, died yesterday at a Petaluma Hospital after becoming ill at his home in Tomales earlier in the day.

The Sonoma County Coroner's office said death was apparently due to natural causes.

A native of Oklahoma, Adams was reared in Concord. He and his wife, Rosella, had lived on First Street in Tomales seven years.

Adams had previously worked on dairy ranches and was in his third year as a custodian at the school.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a son, Roy A. Adams of Antioch; two daughters, Dorothy Good and Marie Wall of South Carolina; his mother, Mildred Carlson of Concord; stepfather, August Carlson of Concord; two brothers, Albert and George Adams of Concord; two stepsons, Larry Lynch of Riverbank, Yolo County, and Eugene Lootens of Oregon, and a stepdaughter, Sherie Stafford of Petaluma.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at the Bryant, Logh and Quimet Funeral Home, Concord.

IVAN MEITUS

Funeral has been held in Los Angeles for Ivan S. Meitus, a former Belvedere resident killed in the crash of a light plane in Maryland Saturday.

Meitus, 37, who lived at 208 San Rafael Avenue for five years before moving to Washington in June 1969, died when his plane crashed near Ocean City while returning from a Yale football game. Three others also were killed.

Meitus was a State Department attorney in Washington and had planned to return to Belvedere to live.

He was a member of the San Francisco Yacht Club, the Belvedere Tennis Club, the Tiburon Peninsula Club and the World Affairs Council of San Francisco.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Meitus, and a sister, Elaine, all of Los Angeles.

The family prefers contributions to the San Francisco Symphony Foundation.

ANDREW CONWAY

Requiem High Mass for Andrew J. Conway, father of Margaret Patricia Constabile of Mill Valley, will be concelebrated at 10 a.m. Saturday in Our Lady of Angels Church, Burlingame.

Conway, a member of many church, business and professional associations, died Tuesday in a San Francisco hospital. He was 74 and a native of Ireland.

He also is survived by his wife, Mary Margaret Conway of Burlingame, six other sons and daughters, all Peninsula residents, and three sisters in the Bay Area.

The Rosary will be recited in Our Lady of Angels Church at 8 p.m. tomorrow. Friends may call at the Sneider and Sullivan Funeral home, San Mateo, until 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Santa Cruz Jury Indicts Frazier On Murder Charges

Judge Puts Lid On Information

SANTA CRUZ (UPI)—A Santa Cruz County judge has issued a special order to keep the press and the public from learning more facts about the case of John Linley Frazier, who was indicted Wednesday on five counts of first-degree murder.

Judge Charles Franich signed the directive immediately after a grand jury announced the charges against Frazier, accused of the mass slaying of Dr. Victor Ohta and four others.

Frazier was to be arraigned today.

The 24-year-old drop-out and fomrer auto mechanic was indicted after the grand jury spent three hours hearing 21 witnesses and another hour discussing what they had heard. Judge Franich's order will keep the grand jury transcript secret until at least 10 days after Frazier gets a copy.

Dist. Atty. Peter Chang, asked whether the grand jury vote was unanimous, replied, "It was legally sufficient."

Frazier's estranged wife indicated Wednesday that she will not testify against him.

Dr. Ohta, a Japanese-American who was the area's leading eye surgeon, was fatally shot last week at his secluded home on a wooded ridge overlooking the Pacific Ocean.

Also slain were his Caucasian wife, Virginia, 43; two sons: Derrick, 12, and Taggart, 11, and Mrs. Dorothy Cadwallader, the doctor's secretary.

Tuesday, Frazier appeared in municipal court for a preliminary hearing. Appearing relaxed, he smiled frequently at his wife, Delores, and called out to her, "It's all right, baby."

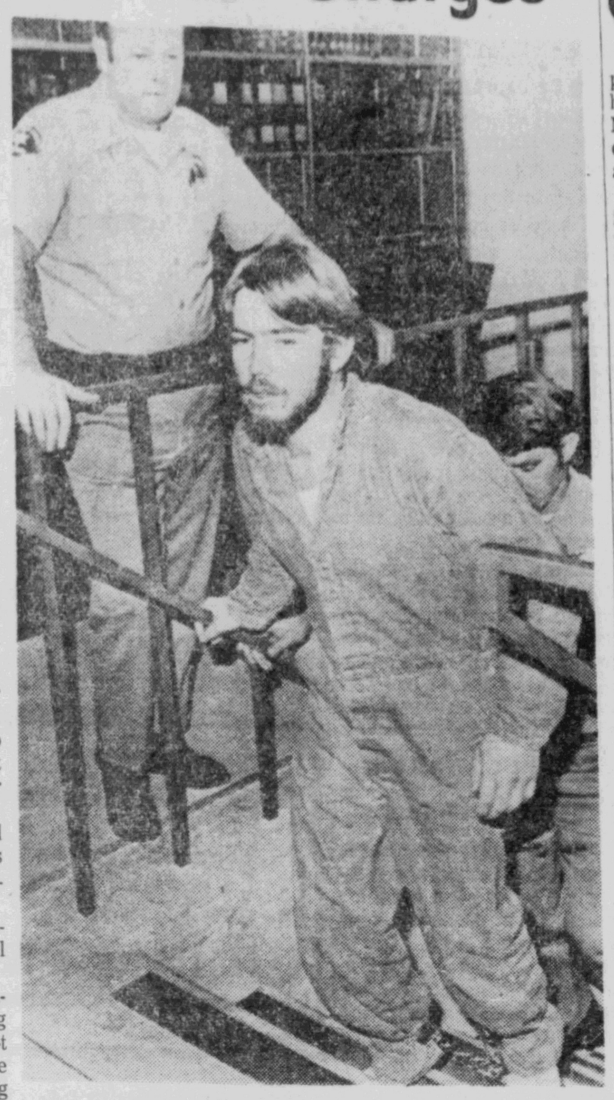
The wife, wearing a blue knit dress and her dark hair in a bun, never lost her composure.

Mrs. Frazier did not testify for the grand jury, although she provided the sheriff with information which led to her husband's arrest last Friday.

However, Frazier's mother, Patricia Pascal, did testify under subpoena before the grand jury, although she has publicly stated her belief in her son's innocence.

Frazier, a local boy with a juvenile record of burglary, worked hard as an auto mechanic until four months ago, when, after a mescaline trip, he announced he was "dropping out."

He was sought on information from some hippies in the community and arrested when found asleep in a small shack on his mother's property, less than a mile from the Ohta residence, the scene of the crime.



HEADS FOR COURT — John Linley Frazier, the 24-year-old drop out mechanic, accused slayer of five, arrives in court in jail denims and leg chains. He was indicted yesterday by the Santa Cruz County Grand Jury.

WHEW! It's A CHORE On Licenses

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Those personalized $25 license plates have got the Department of Motor Vehicles looking hard for double entendres, according to a spokesman.

The department issued a new forbidden list, including such terms as FAGGOT, HEROIN, YOU BUM and STONED.

They join a group of three-letter words from the first list, including SEX, BRA, BUM, RUM, LSD, and because of possible embarrassment to a woman driver, YES. The first list had a few longer words, too, such as RAPIST, STUD and BITCH.

These don't include a list of no-nos "really too long and too improper" to even mention, the spokesman said Wednesday.

Motorists pay $25 for any combination two to six letters long. The department gets to veto any request.

The spokesman said that while few try to sneak dirty words through, their ingenuity is amazing, as they often scramble letters.

Words of insult, such as PIG or PIGLET are out, as is CONSUL, which one ingenious driver tried to obtain, obviously so he could impress police should the need ever arise.

But the department is not trying to be too hard a censor. Requests such as PSHAW and HICCUP have been accepted.

Possibility Of New Manson Murder Count

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—For nearly a year, authorities have been searching for the body of Donald (Shorty) O'Shea, a worker at the Spahn ranch when it served as headquarters for the "Manson family."

In testimony this week in the Tate-Labianca murder trial, a one-time member of the family said that cult leader Charles Manson, 35, told him about killing O'Shea. There also had been reports O'Shea had been tortured at the ranch and his body buried there. His body has not been found.

District Attorney Evelle Young called a conference with his staff Wednesday night but following the hour session, he told newsmen there was "at this time insufficient evidence to charge any defendant in the Manson case with any additional murders."

Younger said his staff had other evidence in addition to the testimony of Paul Watkins, the former cult member, and there was a possibility charges would be brought at a future date.

Manson and three young women followers, Susan Atkins, Patricia Krenwinkel and Leslie Van Houten, are accused of the slayings of actress Sharon Tate and six other persons in August, 1969. They have been on trial since June 15.

Deputy District Attorney Vincent Bugliosi has revealed the state will rest its case on Friday. There was no morning session at the trial today.

Pot Charge Fails On Lack Of Evidence

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. yesterday dismissed a marijuana possession charge against Larry James Stover, 19, of Marin City for lack of evidence.

Stover was arrested July 5 in Novato on an outstanding traffic warrant. Police said they found a small amount of suspected pot in his car.

Marin Receives $9,062 From Property Sales

Marin County has received $9,062 from the state Division of Highways as the county's share of revenue collected by the state in fiscal 1969-70 on properties acquired for highway purposes, the division has reported.

The state collected $37,761 in such revenue in Marin in the fiscal year.

The state often purchases property for future highway development and rents the property until needed for construction.

The rent reduces right-of-way costs to the state, and the county share partially makes up for removal of the property from tax rolls.

A total of $7,723,852 was collected by the division throughout the state, and $1,853,724 was paid to the counties.

Governor Reagan tried to cut your property taxes anywhere from 25 to 40 percent.

But some politicians in the State Senate said "No" to him -and to you.

This year Governor Reagan tried to get the Legislature to adopt his "fair share" tax relief program.

The Governor wanted to —reduce your property taxes anywhere from 25 to 40 percent (27% on a $20,000 home; 25% on a $30,000 home, etc.)

—give renters a $50.00 annual State income tax reduction

—supply additional State money to local school districts to offset the cost of inflation.

—shift about $190 million in annual welfare and Medi-Cal costs from the counties to the State (taking some more pressure off of local property taxes)

—clamp a lid on local property tax rates

—adopt withholding and give you a 35% reduction on your 1970 State income taxes —reduce the discriminatory inventory tax —increase the bank and corporations tax

—reduce the oil depletion allowance

—increase the sales tax by one-cent on non-essentials (but no tax on food, drugs, shelter or medical expenses)

—increase the state income tax at the higher levels ($32,000 and up), and —close the tax loopholes so that certain citizens and corporations paid at least a minimum income tax.

All that was in the Governor's tax relief program. 93 out of 119 legislators voted for it—78 percent. But a small band of politicians in the State Senate blocked the bill. It lost by 1 vote.

When you get your property tax bill this year, remember—it could have been cut. It could have been anywhere from 25 to 40 percent less. If Governor Reagan had had his way.

Governor Reagan has vowed that tax relief will be the first order of business next year. You can help him make sure it is.

On November 3rd, vote for Governor Reagan—and vote for those candidates who will support him in his fight for tax relief. Give him a Team for the Seventies . . . and watch him really get things done!

Keep California moving ahead in the '70s.

Re-elect Governor Reagan.

Copilot Lands Jet After Captain Succumbs In Flight

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (UPI) — Capt. Herebrt Shively, 49, had just lifted Trans World Airlines flight 273—Chicago to San Francisco—into the air when he slowly got up, stepped to a rear seat of the cockpit and drifted into unconsciousness.

Copilot Edward W. Connelly, 36, took over controls of the Boeing 707 jet, asked if there was a doctor among the 47 passengers and requested clearance to land at Cedar Rapids.

Dr. Mary Marshall, Dayton, Ohio, answered Connelly's pleas for help, but a 25-minute effort to revive Shively failed. After the jet landed safely here yesterday, Shivley was declared dead of an apparent heart attack at a hospital.

EDWARD W. CONNELLY
Takes over controls

Shively, Glen Ellyn, Ill., first experienced "some discomfort" as the plane climbed at an altitude of 23,000 feet, said Connelly. "The plane was 10 to 12 minutes from Cedar Rapids."

"It was very slow and orderly," Connelly said. "He slowly progressed to a worse condition, and when I realized he was incapable of communicating I called for clearance to Cedar Rapids."

While Dr. Marshall attempted to diagnose the ailment, flight engineer Richard Preston, San Mateo, Calif., applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to Shively.

"Unforunately, it was to no avail," Connelly said. Shively was removed from the Boeing 707 after landing at Cedar Rapids and taken to a hospital, where he was declared dead.

"The weather was fine, the landing perfect and my biggest concern was the futility of the whole situation because I was unable to help the captain," he said.

TWA officials in Kansas City sent another plane to Cedar Rapids and the 47 passengers continued to San Francisco after a five-hour delay.

A second flight crew was flown in to transport the craft and its seven-member crew to Kansas City.

Top Secret Airborne Raid Staged In Canadian Search For Diplomat

MONTREAL (UPI)—Quebec Justice Minister Jerome Choquette refused Wednesday to reveal contents of a new communique from the Front de Liberation du Quebec (FLQ).

Choquette also said he had no precise information on James R. Cross, the British diplomat kidnaped by the FLQ on Oct. 5.

"Because of the present circumstances, I gave instructions not to reveal the contents of the message so as not to interfere with the work of the police," Choquette said.

It was the first time authorities have failed to reveal the contents of an FLQ message.

The communique was found Tuesday night in a trashcan in downtown Montreal. An anonymous female caller had told CKAC, a French-language station, where it could be found.

Police said a fingerprint of Paul Rose, one of five men wanted in connection with the Cross kidnaping and the kidnap-murder of Quebec Labor Minister Pierre Laporte, was found on the message. Rose's outdated passport accompanied the communique.

Police also were hesitant to discuss new raids in Quebec province carried out under the War Measure Act. A police spokesman, calling the raids "very interesting," said, "They are top secret.

The new communique is the first authentic one from the French separatist terrorists since Oct. 18 when an FLQ message and a letter from Cross were found. That communique said Cross' life would be endangered if police did not stop their searches and give in to the FLQ demands for Cross' release.

Warning To Pregnant Bay Women

BERKELEY (UPI) — The State Department of Public Health has warned pregnant women not to eat mercury-contaminated game fish from San Francisco Bay and its tributaries.

Dr. Ephraim Kahn, chairman of a task force which tested mercury levels in game fish for four months, said Wednesday that "there have been no reported cases of such poisoning from fish, but we are concerned about the possibility one may occur."

Kahn said striped bass and channel catfish caught by sportsmen in the bay and delta contained up to twice as much of the poisonous mercury as the safe tolerance level established by the U. S. Food and Drug Administration.

He said no one should eat the bass or catfish more than once a week and pregnant women should not eat any, since the greatest danger posed by this contamination is "mercury's affinity for the fetus."

"The substance is more toxic to unborn children," he said, "and may cause mental retardation and cerebral palsy."

Striped bass and channel catfish were the only species included and he stressed that the warning did not apply to fish sold commercially in markets or to canned fish in grocery stores.

The joint task force said sources of mercury contamination were gold mining operations in the Sierra Nevada, industrial and chemical operations along the bay and delta, agricultural chemical treatments used on seed grains, and natural seepage from mercury mines.

Gabriel Fahrenheit, a German physicist, invented the mercury thermometer.

Poisonous Mercury In Seal Liver Pills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government authorities today reported discovery of poisonous mercury in pills made from seal livers. As a result they said they were now checking ocean fish, previously presumed safe, for mercury levels.

The pills, a sparsely sold health food item, contained 60 times the official tolerance level of 0.5 parts per million of methyl mercury, the Food and Drug Administration said.

FDA scientists said the pills were "a possible moderate health hazard." The tablets were recalled from health food outlets in nine states by their manufacturer, Randal's Nutritional Products Inc., Santa Rosa.

FDA said it tested the pills after the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries discovered mercury in the liver of seals harvested for fur. Seals eat fish, and both agencies said they were now testing various kinds of ocean fish for mercury contamination.

FDA officials said they had found no significant mercury content in fish caught near the West Coast. The Bureau of Commercial Fisheries said it found some fish with mercury contamination, but gave no details.

Fish previously seized because of mercury contamination came from the Great Lakes and other fresh water. In a Senate subcommittee inquiry into mercury hazards in July, scientists testified the oceans were presumed safe except near the Japanese coast.

One of the July witnesses, Dr. Neville Grant, St. Louis, said today that on the basis of the seal discovery "the whole thing will have to be reassessed.

Grant, a physician, is assistant professor of clinical medicine at Washington University in St. Louis. He studied mercury poisoning as a member of the committee for environmental information, a scientific group.

He said if a person took 20 of the liver pills a day for 10 months, "that would be roughly one-third of what's known to be a toxic dose."

Mercury is a long-lasting poison which can cause fatal damage to the brain, nervous system, kidneys and liver. However, the FDA said it had no indication anyone has been harmed by the seal liver pills.

Air Canada Installs Weapon Detectors

OTTAWA (UPI)—Air Canada has installed electronic weapon-detecting devices that went into regular use at Montreal International airport today.

The airline eventually plans to operate similar devices at other major airports across the nation "as a measure to step up security."

SMOG CLOUD REPORT SAID TO BE 'SILLY'

BOSTON (UPI) — The meteorologist in charge of the National Weather Service in Boston says a report of a dirty air mass hanging over the east coast is "silly."

"The whole premise shows a rather shallow knowledge of meteorology," said Dr. Oscar Tenenbaum.

A laboratory unit of the Leahy Clinic Foundation told a meeting of the American Public Health Foundation Monday a cloud of tiny particles hangs over the east coast and threatens major weather patterns.

"This is silly, to believe that a cloud is hanging over Boston moving back and forth like a yo-yo," the veteran forecaster said. "Any airborne particles over Boston would be driven along by the wind and eventually circulate around the world."

Defense Claims Stacked Deck In 'Los Siete' Case

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Defense attorney Richard Hodge has accused prosecutor Thomas Norman of trying to "stack the deck" against "Los Siete," the six Latino youths accused of killing officer Joseph Brodnik.

Hodge said during his summation Wednesday that Norman had failed to prove any of the three crimes—murder, attempted murder and burglary—each is charged with.

"No case in California jurisprudence has been so fraught with irreconcilable inconsistencies," Hodge asserted.

He told the jurors that because the state has failed to convince them "beyond a reasonable doubt and to a moral certainty" that the six youths are guilty, they must be acquitted.

Concluding arguments continued today.

Campaigns In Tennessee Going Down To The Wire

By DUREN CHEEK

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)— There are no clear-cut favorites as Tennessee's superheated campaigns for senator and governor go down to the wire.

Senate liberal Albert Gore is battling for his political life against hawkish Rep. William Brock. Democrat John Jay Hooker Jr., is making his second try for the governership, is enmeshed in an equally tough fight against Republican Winfield Dunn.

Policies of the Nixon administration figure in both contests, particularly those concerning the Vietnam War, Tennessee Valley Authority electricity rates and inflation.

Hooker, 40, an attorney-businessman from Nashville with ties with the Kennedys, and Brock, 39, an heir to a Chattanooga candy fortune and an adamant Nixon advocate, appeared to have healthy leads the campaigns.

But Gore through constant espousal of his philosphy of populism and Dunn by his well-organized efforts to throttle Hooker with a pincer movement from east Tennessee and west Tennessee have certainly narowed and perhaps closed the gap.

The 62-year-old Gore, a leading critic of Nixon's war policies, has been campaigning hard for more than a year in this politically-changing border state where Republicans now control the other U.S. Senate seat, four of the nine seats in Congress, and the lower house of the state legislature.

Howard Baker Jr. in 1966 became Tennessee's first popularly-elected Republican senator since Reconstruction, and Brock has strong White House support in his bid to become the second.

Both Nixon and Vice President Agnew have campaigned in Tennessee in behalf of Brock and other GOP candidates, a move which Gore says supports his claim that he is the President's "no. 1 target" in the South.

Chief among Gore's political liabilities as the campaign began was his dovish stand on the war, identification with "eastern liberals" and an image of being too busy with international affairs to pay any attention to constituents.

Gore, serving his third Senate term after 14 years in the House, appears outwardly confident that he has pulled the race out of the fire, but that remains to be seen.

The state's biggest political surprise this election year has been Dunn, a Memphis dentist largely unknown outside his hometown until he pulled an upset in the five-man Republican primary in August.

Tennessee has not elected a Republican governor since A.A. "Uncle Alf" Taylor turned the trick against his brother, Bob, a Democrat' in 1920.

Dunn, ignoring the odds, built a strong campaign organization with Baker's help and is counting on heavy support from traditionally Republican east Tennessee and his populous home county of Shelby to provide a big boost toward what he hopes will be the winning margin.

Dunn has made Hooker's business record a major issue.

"I can think of no greater threat to the jobs of the working men and women in Tennessee than to put in charge of our $1.3 billion a year state government a man whose businesses lost $40 million in one year and put thousands of men and women out of work," Dunn said.

Hooker founded Performance Systems Inc., a chain of fast food outlets, and resigned in August of 1969 as its chief executive officer. PSI reported to the Security and Exchange Commission last month it lost $30.8 million in 1969 and could offer "no assurance" of continuing in business. Hooker also served for a time as director of the now-bankrupt Whale Inc., a conglomerate with a wide variety of business holdings.

Hooker's response to attacks on his business record has been that inflation and "restrictive" monetary policies of the Nixon administration have been responsible for numerous financial failures.

Hooker has accused Dunn of favoring a state income tax. Dunn maintains this is a phony issue since a constitutional change would be necessary to implement such a tax and the change could not be made during the term of the next governor.

Compensation For Mercury Pollution

KENORA, Ont. (UPI) — The Ontario government will pay two tribes of Ojibway Indians near this northern Ontario town $380,000 to compensate for losses suffered when commercial fishing was banned in area waters because of mercury pollution.

The two tribes have a total of 1,160 registered members. The fishing ban was issued when intolerably high levels of mercury were found in 17 lakes connected with the Winnipeg river systems.

DEFUSE AN UNWANTED PACKAGE

San Francisco's crime prevention detail's bomb disposal unit — Sgt. David Winn (left) and Patrolman Don Hansen — defuses a stick of dynamite with timer and blasting cap which was delivered by special delivery mail messenger to a stationery store on Jones Street in the city's Tenderlion District. The proprietor of the store placed the bomb, sent from Washington, D.C., on the sidewalk Tuesday when he became suspicious of "liquid swishing" inside the wrappings, and called police.

O'Brien Recalls '48, Calls Younger 'Seedy'

Chief Deputy Atty. Gen. Charles O'Brien, Democratic nominee for attorney general, today predicted that at least half of his party's slate will be elected Tuesday because of widespread resentment over unemployment.

O'Brien, speaking before 17 persons at a $100-a-plate breakfast at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito, said he had found "a very peculiar mood" in his campaigning, especially in Southern California. "There's a real resentment about the economy —people have come to expect full employment, and there's a resentment that the Republicans haven't handled the economy well."

He said the resentment was especially strong in areas that previously went strongly for Reagan and Nixon. "It reminds me of 1948,'' he said.

O'Brien said he did not trust polls because of the mood, but added that Republican polls show he is doing "very well" against the Republican nominee, Los Angeles district attorney Evelle J. Younger.

O'Brien attributed his claimed strength to the operation of the attorney general's office on a nonpartisan basis, unlike what he termed "a seedy kind of politics" in Younger's office.

He conceded that "the kind of television advertising we're doing would make Marshall McLuhan wince, and I apologize for it, but they are effective." O'Brien's television ads generally show him displaying massed caches of arms seized from extremist groups.

O'Brien criticized Younger for deliberately violating a court order that he not discuss details of a murder case. Instead of seeking legal action to overcome the ban, Younger held a press conference to announce that he was going to violate the court's order, O'Brien said.

O'Brien said that it is difficult to convince young people to obey the law in the face of such actions by Younger.

Four Arrested In Sunny Hills School Burglary

Four Sunny Hills students were arrested yesterday by San Anselmo police on suspicion of burglarizing the school's administration building sometime between midnight and 2:30 a.m.

Arrested were Steven G. Robert, 16, of Sunny Hills; Roger E. Herring, 13, of Palo Alto; Ian A. Peterson, 16, of San Mateo; and Alan Gemanis, 14, of San Jose. Robert was also arrested on suspicion of possessing marijuana. All were booked into Marin Juvenile Hall.

Officers said today the administration building was entered shortly after midnight. A filing cabinet containing $360 was pried open and the cash taken.

Police said the burglars then used a master key to enter the nurses office where $200 in drugs and equipment was stolen. The items were later recovered.

Pizza Hut Building Design Approved

The San Anselmo Design Review Committee last night approved the building design submitted by the Pizza Hut, 810 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. However, it rejected parking, landscaping and irrigation plans for the restaurant.

Thelma Foster, committee secretary, said today the plans turned down yesterday will be resubmitted at a later meeting following revision.

McIntire Bounced In Power Struggle

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)— The Rev. Carl McIntire, a fundamentalist radio preacher, tried Wednesday to regain control of the American Council of Christian Churches in a raucous session marked by physical struggles over the microphone.

"You're a bunch of softies. You won't fight for your freedom," McIntire shouted to his apponents shortly before he left the convention with his supporters.

Officials of the Huntington Sheraton Hotel, where the annual conference was held, asked McIntire to leave. He refused. When he finally left to hold his own meetings, he said, "we are the council and I am the president."

Pinball Windfall

BRUSSELS (UPI) — More than 93,000 pinball and slot machines installed in Belgian pubs and amusement centers netted the state 831 million francs $16,360,000, in taxes in 1969, the Ministry of Finance reports.

Wichita Crash Victim Succumbs

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)— John Taylor, 21, died Wednesday of injuries he received in the crash of the Wichita State University chartered airplane. He was the 31st person to die from the crash.

The Oct. 2 accident near Loveland Pass, Colo., killed 13 other members of the Wichita State University football team, the team's head coach and the school's athletic director. Taylor was a reserve cornerback for the Wheatshockers.

Taylor, of Sherman, Tex., was burned over 85 per cent of his body.

Maddox Reward: His 'Bug Hug'

ATLANTA (UPI)—A black janitor has found Gov. Lester G. Maddox's missing cufflink. His reward is a "bug hug" and an autographed ax handle from the governor.

Maddox lost the sapphire-bordered gold cufflink given to him by his wife and inscribed "This is Maddox Country" at a testimonial dinner in the Columbus Municipal Auditorium Monday night. He offered the hug and autographed "Pickrick Drumstick" as a reward.

The janitor, Aurthur Shipp of Columbus, found the cufflink and turned it over to his boss who mailed it to Maddox.

Shipp said he would be glad to get the ax handle, once a weapon used by Maddox to keep Negroes from integrating his Pickrick restaurant.

"A hug from the governor would be fine, too," Shipp said.

Record Philippine School Population

MANILA (UPI) — The number of students in the Philippines is approaching the 10 million mark, biggest school population in the history of Philippine education.

Department of Education figures show there are 7,350,000 students in the elementary schools, 1,921,100 in high schools and 700,000 in colleges and universities.

Backfire Turns Into Bullet Fired Into Car

A bullet was fired into the car of a San Francisco woman yesterday as she drove south on Highway 101 near Marin City, the California Highway Patrol has reported.

Mary L. Craig, 44, told officers she was driving to San Francisco from Homestead Valley at 4:15 p.m. when the shooting occurred.

She said her car was behind a white Volkswagen on the Shoreline Highway approach to Highway 101. As both vehicles entered the freeway, Mrs. Craig pulled alongside the other car and heard what she thought was a backfire.

Officers said she drove to the Golden Gate Bridge Toll Station where a bullet was found on the right front floorboard. She described the driver of the Volkswagen as a white male with brown hair and wearing a T-shirt.

Clarification On Peace Issue

A sponsor of Measure A, the "peace referendum," on the November 3 ballot, said today that the Independent-Journal had failed yesterday to report completely the circumstances surrounding the San Anselmo City Council's refusal Monday night to endorse the measure.

The sponsor, Mrs. George A. Storz of San Anselmo, said the I-J was correct in reporting that persons designated to address the council in support of the measure were not present. But 15 to 20 supporters of the measure were on hand, Mrs. Storz said, and remained silent only out of "shock at the council's refusal to act."

UAR Cracks Down

CAIRO (UPI) — The government has announced that only the Ministry of Supply in future will be allowed to import foreign luxury goods for domestic consumption. The move is an attempt to eliminate a flouirshing black market in cigarettes, toys, clothing, food and watches.

Heiress Fined For Factory Trespass

DETROIT (UPI) — Cinda Firestone, 22, heiress to the Firestone rubber fortune, has been fined $50 for trying to enter a Chrysler Corp. Plant to collect information for an underground news service.

Miss Firestone and Anne Dockery, 20, both of New York, pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of attempted trespass into a building. Each was fined $50 plus $100 court costs.

They were arrested Oct. 22 when they tried to sneak into the Eldon Axle plant with cameras.

They told police they were trying to document a story for the Liberation News Service, a 3-year-old organization which provides material to college and underground newspapers.

Uniform Horns

BRUSSELS (UPI) — All automobile horns manufactured by the six European Common Market countries must sound the same after January, 1972, the Market's ruling Council of Ministers has decided.

PRESIDENT ON THE CAMPAIGN TRAIL

President Nixon made a swing through the South yesterday in his bid to boost the campaigns of Republican candidates to the U.S. Senate. In Dallas, the Chief Executive lifted a baby onto the stage after a political address but the lad protested and Nixon returned young Chris Ohweller to his parents. In Tallahasse, Fla., the president comforted Mrs. J. K. Rozier, mother of former UPI White House correspondent Marriman Smith, who died recently. Today the president was to stop in Rochester, Minn. and Chicago, Ill.

Leary Entourage Flies To Algeria

CAIRO (UPI)—Dr. Timothy Leary 50, and three American companions today flew to Algeria where the former Harvard lecturer said he had been granted political asylum and would like to settle after embracing Islam.

Leary said in Cairo he would not go back to the United States where he estimated he might face 38 years in prison.

The 50-year-old advocate of hallucinatory drugs left with Donald Cox, who said he was Black Panther field marshal, Martin Kenner, chairman of the U. S. Panther Defense Committee, and Youth International Party (Yippie) leader Jennifer Dohrn. They left aboard an Air Algerie Airline flight.

"I'm not going back," Leary said in an interview with UPI Wednesday night. "I figure if I return to the United States I'll go to prison for a total of 38 years."

Leary and his companions arrived in Cairo Tuesday from Beirut. Egypt refused them entry, then granted them transit visas so they could visit Cairo en route back to Algiers.

Leary fled the Chino unit of the California prison system Sept. 13. He was serving 10 years for marijuana possession.

Leary said he and his wife, Rosemary, who stayed in Algiers, had been granted asyium in Algieria

Before he was interviewed in the bar of the Omar Khayyam Hotel, Leary drank green mint tea and swayed to Islamic religious music at Khan Khalili Bazaar as they watched Egyptian craftsmen at work.

Leary denied reports the group was ordered out of Beirut by the Lebanese government.

"We left of our own free will," he said.

Leary said he has been in contact with the Black Panther Party since his dismissal from his lecturing post at Harvard University in 1965.

Agnew Says His Stock Sound With His White House Boss

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Wednesday he has a "close relationship" with President Richard M. Nixon and has no fear of being dropped from the 1972 presidential ticket.

"I am not an insecure man," Agnew told newsmen during a swing through the south on behalf of Republican candidates in Tuesday's general election.

Asked at the Birmingham airport to comment on "rumors" that he would not be Nixon's running mate in the 1972 presidential race, Agnew replied:

"Have you ever seen a vice president who wasn't about to be docked in any off-year election? I remember Hubert Humphrey was going to be docked and Lyndon Johnson was going to be docked and docked.

"So I look at it this way: I am not an insecure man. I'm not worried about those rumors. I have a sense of purpose in what I'm doing. I have a close relationship with Richard Nixon was going to be my president."

The vice president flew into Birmingham after a brief stop in Georgia to boost the candidacy of GOP gubernatorial candidate Hal Suit. He used the occasion at Albany, Ga., to praise Sen. Richard Russell, D-Ga., as "one of the greatest Americans in the senate."

"I would like to see us go back to the philosophies of Richard Russell because these philosophies are all forged with the beliefs of your great president, Richard Nixon," Agnew said.

Later, speaking to more than 5,400 persons in Birmingham's municipal auditorium, Agnew denied that he was "pushing what the curled-lip boys in the eastern ivory towers contemptuously call a 'southern strategy.'

"I am here, not for a southern purpose. I am here for a national purpose," he said in a speech interrupted 33 times by applause.

He said the administration is determined to honor "its mandate for a change" despite the "supercilious electronic barons of opinion" and the "whole georgetown-manhattan-hyannisport elitist axis."

There are 68 parks comprising about 7,500 acres of publicly owned parkland in the Louisville, Ky., area.

INDIAN PROTESTER INJURED

One demonstrator was hospitalized and several Indian men, women and children suffered minor injuries when a force of 100 peace officers using clubs and chemical mace clashed with about two dozen Pit River Indians and their supporters Tuesday on a one-acre site the Indians had taken over in Lassen National Park in Shasta County. Indians fonght officers with boards, logs and sticks, and several arrests including a newspaper reporter were made.

NAACP Lists Voting Records

Typographical errors garbled a story in Tuesday's Independent-Journal about a "scorecard" by the National Association of the advancement of Colored People on votes by Marin's state legislators.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, based on 16 measures of special interest to the NAACP, voted "right" nine times, "Wrong" once, and was recorded as not voting on the remaining six.

Sen. John F. McCarthy, based on 18 Senate votes, voted "right" six times, "wrong" once and missed votes on the remaining 11.

Flag Day In Samoa

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa (UPI) — The U.S. flag was raised here April 17, 1900. Flag Day, celebrated each year on that date, is American Samoa's equivalent of the Fourth of July in the United States.

Dixie Trustees Grant Oral Report Request

The Dixie School District board last night agreed to allow a teacher to provide oral reports instead of written report cards to parents this semester.

Supt. Clifford W. Campbell said permission was granted for Jane Reamer, a fifth grade teacher at Nova Albion School, to give parents oral progress reports rather than the traditional graded report cards.

However, this pilot system may only be used with parents who agree to it, Campbell said.

Mrs. Reamer is to report back to the board with the results at the end of the semester, Campbell said.

The Dixie School District board also:

RUBELLA — Approved participation in the rubella immunization drive scheduled for the end of November by the Marin County Health Department.

EDUCATIONAL TV — Approved a $718 contract with KQED television for educational television services during the present school year.

GOALS STUDY— Approved a study by Jeannette Pomeroy, a parent in the Nova Albion area and a student at Sonoma State College, to determine what parents of the area expect from the school system.

MIWOK — Accepted five shares of Polaroid stock worth more than $300 for the Miwok Archeological Preserve of Marin, an organization trying to preserve an Indian mound at Miller Creek School. The donor wished to remain anonymous.

TEACHER — Turned down a request by parents of the Mary E. Silveira School area for another teacher to reduce class size.

CUSTODIAN — Hired a custodian, William Ellis, to work two hours daily at Don Timoteo School through the school year for $1,042.

CLOSED SESSION — Met in closed session to consider charges against an employee, but made no decision.

'Hunger' Walk Funds: $17,500

Pledged donations for Marin's "Walk Against Hunger" are continuing to come in, a Crocker Citizens Bank official said yesterday. The total now stands at $17,500.

D. R. Swing, manager of the bank's San Anselmo branch which has been collecting the funds since the 20-mile walk in September, said the bank has been receiving about three donations a day.

Walk organizers estimated that $20,000 to $30,000 had been pledged.

When the fund collection phase ends, the money is to be dividend among the Marin Economic Opportunity Council, the American Freedom From Hunger Foundation and the South Korean campaign of Meals for Millions.

Hamilton AFB Team Leads In Missile Firing Games

TYNDALL AFB, Fla. (UPI) —A perfect 1,550-point score gave the 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron (FIS) of Hamilton AFB, Calif., the lead Wednesday in the F-106 category of the annual William Tell missile firing competition.

Lt. Col. Randall R. Renken's squadron of three jet pilots and two ground controlers finished the third day of competition with 8,853 total points for the match, which tests the Air Force's ability for defending against bomber attacks with air-to-air missles.

Flying low at supersonic speeds, the jets fire toward an unmanned drone airplane equipped with special electronic monitoring devices to guage accuracy.

In F-101 Voodoo competition, the 409th All-Weather Fighter Squadron from Comox, British Columbia, held first place with 5,200 points and the F-102 Delta Dagger team from the 148th fighter group at Duluth, Minn., was highscorer for the meet with 9,102 points. The 148th made 1,800 points in Wednesday's round of the week-long competition.

Priests Approve Antidraft Stand

SHREWSBURY, Mass. (UPI) — The New England Conference of Roman Catholic Priests, terming the concept of a "just war" irrelevant, has voted to advise Catholic youths they may seek conscientus objection to the Vietnam War on religious grounds.

The 55-delegate priests wound up a three-day gathering at the Calvary monastery Wednesday by unanimously approving a resolution on the draft.

"It is clear that a Catholic either in service or out of service can be a conscientus objector 'because of religious training and belief,' "the resolution said.

Auditor Sees 701 Funds In Danger; Solnit Says No

Two county officials split sharply today over whether all county programs financed by federal 701 grants are in jeopardy.

County Auditor Michael Mitchell said he's not so sure, and therefore is blowing the whistle on further county spending until federal reimbursements are assured.

Albert Solnit, chief of advance planning in the County Planning Department, declared the fears are unfounded on 701 programs undertaken by the city-county planning council.

Last year, the county appropriated funds for two different programs to be financed partially under Title 701 of the Housing Act of 1954. Financing is from the Housing and Urban Development (HUD) fund.

One was an appropriation of $26,500 for Marin City planning. This was thrashed out yesterday before the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The second was $63,000 appropriated for countywide planning under the direction of the city-county planning council. This program includes the development of information for the balanced transportation program, the countywide housing report, research to forecast the future development of Marin, and a study of tourism potential.

Solnit said he is referring only to the second program. Marin City planning is a different story, but the other program is not in jeopardy, and there is no danger of non-reimbursement, said Solnit.

The federal government has agreed to share equally in the program and thus reimburse $63,000, Solnit explained.

"It's a federal grant. We have a contract, and I've never known the state or the United States to back out of a contract as long as we produce under the contract." Solnit said the county is producing on the countywide planning. Billing for more than $6,000 has been sent to the federal government, and billing for another $40,000 is being prepared. "We are in no danger of rejection," said Solnit.

Auditor-Controller Mitchell said he's not so sure. "I have no alternative but to blow the whistle until reimbursements come in. It's like spending money that's not there."

Although thousands of dollars have been spent since July of 1969, not a single cent has been reimbursed, Mitchell declared. "In the 1970-71 fiscal year, a revenue accrual (anticipating federal reimbursement) in the amount of $48,248 was included and no reimbursement has been received to date."

GETTING IN THE HALLOWEEN SPIRIT

A Greenbrae pie shop owner discovered waitresses were not artists when he papered the walls last week and asked them to draw Halloween pictures. But 6-year-old Jeffrey Cain, left, came into the shop with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cain of Tiburon, and saved the day drawing some witches, black cats and pumpkins. A week passed, and the pie shop owner had to keep running out for more rolls of paper as more children came in wanting to draw. Jeff brought his 8-year-old sister, Danielle, right, when he came back this week so they could draw and have some pumpkin pie with their parents.

A One Length Dress For All

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Subtract the gimmicks, add a magic number of 41 inches, and you get a total spring fashion look that settles the hemline hassle for women along Main Street, U.S.A.

It is the formula in the Abe Schrader daytime collection designed by Belle Saunders. The Schrader collection was one from several manufacturers still showing spring lines to store buyers.

Designer Saunders has this to her credit: during the hemline hee-haw this fall, with customers hesitating from coast to coast over the mid-calf midi, Schrader togs she designed were reordering and selling like mad.

The secret is the 41 inches, said Betty Yarmon, public relations director for Schrader, a publicly-held fashion conglomerate that can't afford to stitch on the too wild or too gimmick side lest stockholders fret over red ink and shrinking dividends.

The 41-inches extends from shoulder to hem of dresses and costumes shipped by Schrader. The hemline falls somewhere around the knee — above it if you're over six feet tall, below it, if you're shorter. But it would only make it to mid-calf on a petite person —who could take it up.

This is the length Schrader expects to ship for spring again as it has been successful.

The safe, sane Schrader line includes lots of red, white and blue, with a tendency for the sedate dress with its sedate but pretty jacket to predominate in navy with white collar and cuffs. Some novelty prints and glen plaids and even dotted locks are included.

The price starts at around $100 and goes up to $250, but most of the clothes are in the $140 to $180 price range. The ladylike clothes even included some costumes with linen and lace collars.

THE HEMLINE hassle is settled for one company which is manufacturing all their styles in one length — 41 inches. That is the measurement from shoulder to hem and it will fall at a different place depending upon the height of the buyer.

Married Love Must Replace Romantic Love

It's disappointing indeed to have to reveal that you are not really so very wonderful, and to realize that the person you married isn't so astonishingly wonderful either, but this sore of transformation is essential to a happy marriage, according to psychologist Aron Krich.

"Romance must go for a marriage to be successful," says Dr. Krich, who has specialized in marital therapy for many years and written nine books on the subject.

Dr. Krich believes that romantic love must be replaced by what he calls "married love" to give a marriage a solid basis from which to grow.

"Marriage is always a disappointing experience," declares Dr. Krich, who explains that the "failure to realize that at least some aspects of marriage will always be disappointing plays an important part . . . in the high rate at which young couples divorce."

Our society has an unrealistic attitude toward marriage, which is caused by two main forces, Dr. Krich says.

"The first is social," he says. "We as a society retain a concept of romantic love that has no place in marriage, and, in fact, cannot exist in marriage.

'The second force is personal. Each of us comes into marriage with unresolved problems. The degree to which we believe in romantic tradition combined with the severity of our neurotic needs, determines how well or how poorly we react to the disappointments inherent in marriage."

"It is sad to see a couple go through a painful divorce because they were unprepared for the run-of-the-mill disenchantment of marriage," he says.

HALLOWEEN COSTUMES

Monsters And Loveable Characters

By CAROLYN A. BOWERS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Traditional Halloween costumes will still make the trick or treat scene this year. Leading department stores across the country report that the usual gamut of witches, cowboys and Indians, devils and ghosts still are top favorites.

Other perennial outfits include doctors and nurses, scarecrows, skeletons, pilates and clowns. Animal favorites such as lions, tigers and leopards make the list, too, as do space suits — a fad a few years back that has since become classic.

Although most retailers reported that "monsters are still big," W.S. Hicks, a national buyer for F.W. Woolworth Co. feels that the popularity of the "more lovable" characters is increasing.

"The Saturday morning cartoon characters on television seem to be what a lot of the kids want now," Hicks said. Many stores reported that they were featuring such characters as Mickey Mouse, Hot Wheels, Superman, Batman, and, of course, Caspar the Ghost, who has been around for years.

F.A.O. Schwarz, a leading New York toy store, said along with the traditional outfits and cartoon favorites, it also is offering gypsy, peasant and Spanish senorita outfits for girls.

Among those for both sexes, the store offers something new in animal costumes — frogs and ducks. Prices range from $12 to $15.

Don Nute, regional merchandising manager of Woolworth in the Middle Atlantic area, said one innovation which his stores feature is a "pajama type" costume which can be worn to bed after a weary round of trick or treating.

Nute said he also expects costumes with light-up masks to be very popular. A battery operated bulb on the forehead of the mask can be turned on with the push of a button.

He said the mask is featured on Batman, Superman, Pink Panther and robot costumes and will be heavily advertised. Costumes at Woolworth stores ranged from $1.75 to $2.99, with most masks retailing under $1.

However, all costumes don't come out of stores. The do-it-yourselfers who raid the attic for old clothes and cosmetics make Halloween complete. From the homemade outfits can come many unique variations on scarecrows, clowns, witches and all the demons and other characters associated with the funmaking — even to hippies.

A TOPCOAT with the look of the '30s in 1970 fabric is a fashion view point for Piero Dimitri, the only custom tailor in New York willing to put on his own fashion show. The show cost him about $35,000, and this doublebreasted coat in a zigzag pattern of navy, pale blue and white wool was featured. ((UPI Telephoto)

Tailor Gives His Own Fashion Show

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI) —Piero Dimitri, 36, is the only custom tailor in New York to shell out $35,000 or so every year for his own fashion show. But he is so immersed in fashion he finds it a small sacrifice to get his viewpoint across.

When he began this practice three years ago a lot of fashion experts looked at the "Dimitri of Italy" on the invitations and asked, "Who's he?" Now they turn out in droves to see his creations, which blend a classic sense of style with revolutionary new fabrics.

His first show, comparatively modest, was at a chic restaurant and there was modest applause. The following year the applause was warmer. This year there was a standing ovation when he went all out with a show at the Plaza Hotel Terrace Ballroom.

Throughout the show as the classic look of the 1930s, but Dimitri took that look into the 1970s with the use of daring new fabrics — woven geometrics, gangster stripes, a flocked blend of silk and mohair for cocktail jackets and double knit jersey for everything.

Dimitri reached into moviedom for one look—the striped gangster suit worn with a black shirt and white tie. One of the models for this line was Oley Borris, 27, his Cuban-born righthand man and business manager whose fierce mustache might have scared Humphrey Bogart.

Dimitri's spectacular topcoats ranged generally just below the knee. For one he incorporated the classic look of the trench coat with doubleknit jersey in both navy blue and tan. A wrap-around coat that might have been worn by Rudolf Valentino was in burgundy and beige tweed. A trim double breasted top coat was in a zigzag pattern of navy, pale blue and white wool.

He mixed in such things as a palsey cocktail jacket which could double for a summer tuxedo, another in silk and mohair with red flocking like expensive wallpaper, a more formal cocktail jacket with belled satin shawl collar, very wide, and the coat in multicolored metallic threads. Most were shown with open shirts.

SOME OTHER interesting items: A jersey cardigan suit worn with a wide belt and open necked shirt; space age detailing on a graphic suit made up in vivid weaves and worn without a shirt; a velvet blazer in chocolate brown worn with brown and white herringbone velvet pants.

"I like to do shows every year," he said. "Too many designers are concerned only with business. Fashion must be genuine and must have nothing to do with business. Just to make a million dollars? Is that fashion? That is not fashion."

Tal Fletcher Will Marry In February

The engagement of Sarah Warner Cunningham to Tallentyre Sturdivant Fletcher has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwin Cunningham of Pasadena. A February wedding is planned.

Tal, as the future bridegroom is called, is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Russell Fletcher of Kentfield.

Sarah, who is the sister of William Cunningham of Pasadena, attended Westridge School in Pasadena and the University of California at Los Angeles and is a graduate of U.C. at Berkeley. She served for two years in the Peace Corps in Malaysia and is now living in San Francisco.

Tal is the brother of Isabel and Benjamin Fletcher, both of San Francisco. He was graduated from Lick-Wilmerding School in San Francisco and the University of California. After serving for four years in the Navy, he was graduated from the American Institute of Foreign Trade in Phoenix and is now a broker with W. E. Hutton Co. in San Francisco.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

High School Boys 'Fool Around' Then Want 'Good Girls' Later

DEAR HELEN:

My girl friend has an older brother and he usually brings his friends home, so we often talk together, along with his mother.

His mother doesn't think much of the type of girls they date. But they say that as soon as they're finished fooling around they'll start looking for good girls. (Like us.)

If these two nice guys — they aren't dopers or hippie types — think this way, then I guess a lot of others do too, and where does that leave us girls with high standards? Do we have to wait around until we're 17 or 18, when the guys settle down — at ages 19 or 20? — WAITING IMPATIENTLY AT AGE 15

DEAR 15:

While you're waiting, why not settle for nice guys nearer your age? (Those older fellas still see you as kid-sister types.)

You'll be surprised what a difference a year will make — and how well you'll be able to manage the older boys by then. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have a problem grandmother. See, I live with her. Boys call, and she always sneaks on the other phone. I can hear the click. So then I go in the den to tell her I know she's on it, and she hears me coming and quickly hangs up and then acts all hurt and innocent. As soon as I go back, she picks it up again.

Last night a boy friend was talking to me and I know darn well she was listening because he asked me to meet him at the game, and afterwards Grandma said, "You can't go out tomorrow — you'll be with me," so I yelled back, and I guess you know the rest.

She has always been bossy and, when we get into a real fight, she comes up with "I've given you so much. What have I ever done to deserve this?"

I keep telling myself I don't hate her, but I can't keep on lying. What can I do? — GUARDIAN-BUGGED

DEAR G. B.:

You can both stop playing roles and see each other as people you might even like to know, if you weren't stuck with living together.

"Gramma" is so busy being the fearful (and somewhat reluctant) guardian that she can't recognize you as an average teen. Which makes you so resentful you don't see her as a worried woman, who may be aware that she is doing badly but afraid she is too old to change.

Perhaps she'd snoop and boss less if you'd share a little more of your life with her, exchanging compliments and expressing appreciation (even if you don't exactly feel it).

Anyway, it's worth a try. What have you got to lose, unless you enjoy feuding? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

The first guy I dated didn't get anywhere with me. So I lost him. The second guy got quite a lot, but not everything. I lost him too, plus a lot of my self-respect. I figured it was expected, but I sure didn't enjoy it.

Now I've got another guy, and he says petting is kid stuff. I didn't keep my first by being good, or my second by being not quite good, and now I wonder what I should do to keep the third? — ELENA

DEAR ELENA:

How about a brain overhaul? There's something awfully wrong when a girl thinks she must trade her body for the status of having a boy friend she apparently doesn't even like. Is your self-esteem so low that you feel this is all you have to offer?

Boys soon sense when a girl is selling herself. That's when they stop buying. — H.

Bank Uniforms Include Pants

The National Bank of North America has included the pants suit in its new fall wardrobe which has been designed for the staff of over 600 women tellers. Besides the pant suit, the fall collection of career apparel features a midcalf dress which zips open from the hemlines to reveal as little or as much leg as desired. A jacket, dresses, and skirts round out the ensemble, making it possible for a girl to choose from 12 different combinations on any given day.

Weekend Shoppers To Find Good Meat Supply

WASHINGTON (UPI) — USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that late October shoppers will find a fairly good supply of meats, a smaller supply of vegetables but a variety of fruits to choose from this weekend.

Meat counters will have a good choice of beef. In pork, shoppers will find good supplies of chops, smoked picnics, Boston butts and bacon. Broiler-fryers are the leading item at the poultry counter.

Vegetable bins will have good supplies of cabbage, carrots, onions and potatoes.

AMONG THE fruits, those in more abundant supply include apples from this year's big crop, also grapefruit, dried prunes, bananas and frozen concentrated orange juice.

The Department of Commerce reports canned salmon, fish sticks and portions and canned tuna in excellent supply.

Foods on USDA's plentiful foods list for October are fresh apples, applesauce, apple juice, pork, broiler-fryers, dry beans, canned peaches, canned salmon, onions, eggs, potatoes and dried prunes.

There is little change in wholesale food prices in West Coast markets.

Beef loins, pork loins and Boston butts, smoked hams and broiler-fryers are somewhat lower while other red meats, poultry, eggs and butter remain unchanged from last week.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include apples, bananas, grapefruit, cabbage, carrots, lettuce, onions and potatoes.

Seafood buys to watch for in the West, according to the U.S. Department of Commerce, are canned salmon, fresh and frozen salmon, dungeness crab and crabmeat, snapper, dover sole and Pacific oysters.

Directions For A Home-Made Sauna

NEW YORK (UPI) — Directions for preparing a homemade sauna are given in a new beauty bulletin for nurses. The sauna is described in the first issue of the publication "Beauty Prep" as a great way for nurses to relax before going to bed.

To try it yourself, fill a large pot with water. Just before bringing water to a boil, add one teaspoonful of allspice, one of the assorted herbs, thyme, rosemary and two sage leaves. Remove the pan from the pan from the fire and lower your head so that the steam bathes your face for 10 minutes. Rinse with cooler and cooler splashes of water from the tap. Dry skin should be creamed first.

After the close of the sale members will be entertained at dinner at the home of Mrs. Howard Henry of San Rafael.

Nancy Frank To Be A Bride In June

NANCY J. FRANK

A June wedding is planned by Nancy Jeanne Frank and Russell J. Scharlin. The engagement was announced by Nancy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Z. Frank of Greenbrae.

Carol Frank is the future bride's sister, and Dr. and Mrs. Irving Holbert of San Francisco are her grandparents. She is a Redwood High School graduate and a student at the University of California at Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Scharlin of Rodeo are Russell's parents, and Mrs. Dennis Fischer is his sister. He was graduated from John Swett High School in Crockett and U.C. at Davis, where he is attending graduate school.

School At Home For The Gracey Family

MEXICO, N.Y. (UPI) — Bonny Gracey is studying trigonometry, French, history, chemistry and English.

Not unusual for a 17-year-old high school senior, except that her mother is the teacher and her eight brothers and sisters, ages 2-15, are her classmates.

The classroom is the kitchen of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gracey's modest home in this central New York community.

The mother, Cecilia Gracey, a strict Roman Catholic, objects to the "sex teachings and other immoral acts" that her children would be exposed to at the Mexico Academy Central School here. Since this school year began she has been teaching her six school-age youngsters at home.

She never has been too specific about the "immoral acts," but allegedly has objected to a state-required health program containing sex education and said the children were harassed "because of our religious beliefs."

Alvin Pierce, principal of the school, said he understood Mrs. Gracey's complaint to involve a film about the birth of a calf and a classroom mention of abortion in a social studies class. "A kid asked what abortion meant and the teacher told him it was getting rid of an unborn child that the parents didn't want," he said.

Mrs. Gracey's view and her home-school plans have clashed with the law. On Oct. 19, acting on a family court judge's orders, authorities came to the Gracey home and took the six youngsters away and placed them in foster homes.

BEFORE THE END of the week, however, the judge remanded his order and the daily lessons at home had resumed.

Bonny says she does not-date, "but I get to see a lot of people when we go to visit friends, or when we go shopping for groceries."

The four older girls, Susan, 11, Amy 11, Patricia, 15, and Bonny, are studying French together, "and the younger ones sit around and listen," Bonny says.

Bonny, who is not legally bound to attend school, quit on her own, "because there were so many immoral acts that they caused her to sin and she would rather stay home to preserve her purity," Mrs. Gracey said.

THE YOUNG GIRL hopes the daily register of grades and class work done which her mother keeps will enable her to obtain a high school equivalency diploma.

A number of persons, including educators and college professors, have called the Gracey home since the night the sheriff's deputies came to take the children away, either to offer advice in setting up the at-home school or help in teaching the children.

A family court hearing Nov. 13 is scheduled to decide if Mrs. Gracey's home-school is meeting the educational needs the state says her children have, and the judge may rule on whether or not he considers Mr. and Mrs. Gracey fit parents.

Pamela Rollins To Be Bride Of G. W. Schaefer

The engagement of Pamela Jean Rollins of Novato and Gerald William Schaefer of El Cajon has been announced by the bride's parents.

PAMELA J. ROLLINS

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Clifford Bunds Jr. of Novato and Richard Rollins of Sonora. She is the sister of Julie Ann Bunds and the granddaughter of Mrs. Raymond Rollins of Vacaville and Olen Brittain of San Bruno.

She was graduated from Novato High School and attended the College of Marin and Sacramento State College.

Pamela will attend San Diego State College in February. She is presently employed at Pacific Telephone Co. in San Francisco.

Gerald is the son of Leland Schaefer of Novato and Mrs. Thomas Downey of Honolulu. He is the brother of Ronele Schaefer and the grandson of Mrs. Frances Howard and Mrs. William Schaefer, both of Richmond. He was graduated from Novato High School and is attending Grossmont Junior College in San Diego. He is employed with KOGO television in San Diego.

The couple will be married in San Francisco in January.

New USDA Mark On Fresh Eggs

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Purchasers of eggs have a new protection, in a stamp that went into effect July 1.

The smart shopper already knows to look for the USDA grade shield on egg cartons. Now, reminds Ethel Diedrichsen, University of Nebraska Extension Specialist, cartons bearing the official USDA mark are stamped with the day the eggs were packed, shown as the consecutive day of the year. For instance, the July 1 mark was the 183rd day of 1970 so the sheild was numbered 183.

Tuesday Night's Selection Night

By JAMES E .WILLIAMS

Tuesday night may not be early election-return watching for many.

For one, it is the opening of "Lovely Ladies, Kind Gentlemen," finale to the San Francisco Civic Light Opera season.

Secondly, it is subscription night at the San Francisco Opera, featuring the first season's performance of Gounod's "Faust."

The Civic Light Opera presentation is a new musical based on the prize-winning play, "Teahouse of the August Moon," which went on to be a highly successful motion picture.

Co-starring in the musical, which recounts humorous adventures of GIs in post World War II occupation of Okinawa are Kenneth Nelson, Ron Husmann, Bernie West and Eleanor Calbes.

However, the big night at the Opera House is Saturday with the first production of Wagner's "Tristan und Isolde" with Swedish soprano Birgit Nilsson as Isolde. Replacing Jon Vickers, who had to bow out because of illness, as Tristan will be German tenor Wolfgang Windgassen.

Also next week is another first night opener — James Whitmore starring in "Will Rogers' U.S.A." at San Francisco Marines' Memorial Theater Monday night. It is a one-man show, recreating the legendary Oklahoma humorist's reflections of his time.

MUSIC

At Berkeley on Friday night Welsh harpsichordist Geraint Jones and his wife, violinist Winifred Roberts will present a recital of Tartini, Mozart and Bach sonatas in Hertz Hall on the University of California campus.

Curran Theater — "Promises, Promises," tonight, Friday, Saturday, 8:30 p.m. and Saturday, 2:30 p.m. (final performances). Opening Tuesday, 8:30 p.m. "Lovely Ladies, Kind Gentlemen."

Geary Theater — "Dear Love," tonight, Friday, Saturday, 8:30 p.m. and Saturday, 2:30 p.m. (Final performances.)

Marines' Memorial Theater — Opening Monday, 8:30 p.m. (two-week engagement), "Will Rogers, U.S.A."

Encore Theater — "The Ofay Watchers," Tuesday through Friday, 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 7 and 9:45 p.m. and Sundays, 7 p.m.

Little Fox Theater — "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" nightly except Monday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Orpheum Theater — "Hair" Tuesday through Friday, 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 6 and 10 p.m.; Wednesday and Sunday, 2:30 p.m.

M. H. de Young Museum — "T. Edward Memorial Collection," through Dec. 6; "John Marin," through Nov. 8.

California Place of the Legion of Honor — "Paintings by Norman Steigelmeyer," through Nov. 29; "Group show, Tiepolo and his Circle," through Nov. 15; "The Imaginary Prisons," by Piranesi, through Nov. 15.

San Francisco Museum of Art — "Kandinsky Watercolors," through Sunday; "James Reineking," through Nov. 8; "Cuevas Drawings and Prints," through Nov. 22.

$120,000 Raised By War Foes For Candidates

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Anti-war fund raisers, relatively new on the American political scene, have kicked in more than $120,000 for congressional candidates this year from Vermont to California.

In records on file with the House clerk, five campaign committees with "peace" in their titles have listed contributions and spending as required by law. No peace committee was listed in 1968, although Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., received heavy campaign contributions from antiwar groups in his unsuccessful drive to win the Democratic presidential nomination.

Of the "peace" committees reporting contributions, the "Task Force for Peace," Los Angeles, with movie stars and businessmen as members, and the "Peace Commencement Fund," Boston, with well-known antiwar advocates on its board, are making the most headway in raising.

PFP Candidate To Speak At Sonoma

Israel Feuer, Peace and Freedom party candidate for Secretary of State, will speak at 11 a.m. tomorrow in the Quiet Lounge at Sonoma State College.

Feuer, coordinator of Ecology Action of Greater Los Angeles, will speak on the need for independent political action outside the two-party system and on environmental problems.

Oakland Symphony Is Near A Settlement

OAKLAND (UPI)—The Oakland Symphony strike that blocked the orchestra's first concert is on the verge of settlement, labor and management reported Wednesday.

Jerry Spain, union negotiator, said the majority of the orchestra members appeared to be in favor of the accord which would grant them $214 for each performance remaining in the season instead of the $225 they were seeking.

In return for the lower figure, total rehearsal time for each of the seven concerts remaining will be cut one hour and fifteen minutes.

Mail ballots on the settlement have been sent to each member. If they agree on settlement, rehearsals for the Nov. 10 performance will begin Monday.

The strike had forced the cancellation of the October concert.

Planetarium Plan For Marin Fest

A performance of "The Music of the Spheres" will be presented Nov. 10 at the Morrison Planetarium in San Francisco as a benefit for the Marin Shakespeare Festival.

The performance, which will begin at 8 p.m., will feature readings from Shakespeare's works illustrated by a display of astrological lighting effects and accompanied by music by The Different Fur Trading Co. using a moog synthesizer.

Further information is available from the festival at post office box 2306, San Rafael.

For The Public, Art Market Is A Buyers', Not A Sellers'

By MARINA VAIZEY

LONDON (UPI)—Anyone interested in acquiring a few modern paintings who hopes to buy a Van Gogh or an equivalent for a few dollars and to sell it in a few years for a fortune is bound to be disappointed.

If such a coup were ever really generally possible, it is certainly impossible now. It is worth remembering that Van Gogh was one of thousands of painters of his time, a difficult, intense man, as well as a revolutionary painter.

His own brother Theo, an art dealer, supported Vincent van Gogh throughout his life, and never managed to sell one of his pictures.

For all the people who may have scored at some time with a "Van Gogh," there are hundreds more with unsellable 19th Century works. And for all the contemporary resurgence of interest in Victorian art, the prices in real terms now fetched at auction are considerably less than the more popular artists fetched at the time.

One other factor is that each art object is produced either in a strictly limited edition (as for instance in bronze cast sculpture or prints) or is unique.

There is hardly any possibility of comparing like with like, and while one person may be willing to pay a large price for a particular item for his own collection, he may be one of only a few prepared to go so high.

It is vital, in collecting art as well as investing in any other manifestation of human activity, to study the market. And, incidentally, while the art market can boom in times of currency shakiness, it is as responsive as any Stock Exchange to the ills which befall a market, as the last year has shown.

So any potential collector-investor must, crude as it sounds, decide what he likes and look as much as possible. Whether you collect for decorative purposes, for prestige, for investment or for love, there is really only one rule: train your own eye. Visit museums, galleries, and go to the viewing days at the major auction houses.

Art galleries, when selling, naturally have their own reputation to keep up (although a quirk in the art market is the frequency with which experts disagree. When buying from a gallery, naturally the price must take note of the overheads in terms of staff, premises, and capital tied up in stock, that most galleries have to face.

One modern picture I know in a gallery's stock has doubled in asking price in the last year, from the price paid at auction by the gallery. This rise is legitimate: the dealer has a certain amount of capital now tied up in the picture, and the deceased artist's prices have shown a remarkable increase in the last five years.

If you buy a new mink coat for $2,000 and sell it back the next day, you will be lucky to get $800. It is the same with pictures. For the public, it remains a buyer's market and not a seller's.

I recently tried to sell a picture I bought a few years ago by Denton Welch, a minor painter and poet. The amiable gallery owner justifiably pointed out that the taste for Denton Welch was probably now confined to two or three people in Britain, and it would take him years to find a buyer. We still have the picture.

Auction houses are in a better position to offer bargains to purchasers, as here the vendor pays the commission. However, it is often fatally easy, particularly for novices, and sometimes for old hands, to get carried away in the saleroom. So the price it is knocked down for may not be a true buyer's price.

The only test of successful investment in a painting, sculpture, etc., is the price for which you can sell it.

3,600 Absentee Bids Received

Approximately 3,600 applications for absentee ballots for next Tuesday's election were received by the county elections office by Tuesday's deadline at 5 p.m.

County elections officer Peter C. Meyer, who had expected 5,000 aplications, blamed the lower figure "just on a poor estimate on my part." He declined to attribute it to voter apathy, but trimmed his prediction for the election day turnout in Marin from 83 to 82 per cent.

In 1968, when there was a presidential election that November, 4,941 voters applied for absentee ballots in Marin. In the past June primary election, about 2,900 applied.

Gus Hall Plans Tours For Angela

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Gus Hall, general secretary of the Communist Party in America plans to tour the nation to form "free Angela Davis" committees.

Hall, here Monday and Tuesday to mobilize support for the black militant and Communist Party member, contended she was framed by the FBI.

Miss Davis is charged with supplying the guns used in an Aug. 7 Hall of Justice shootout in San Rafael in which three black prisoners and a judge died. She is fighting extradition from New York to California.

Houseboating is one of the fastest-growing forms of warm weather vacationing.

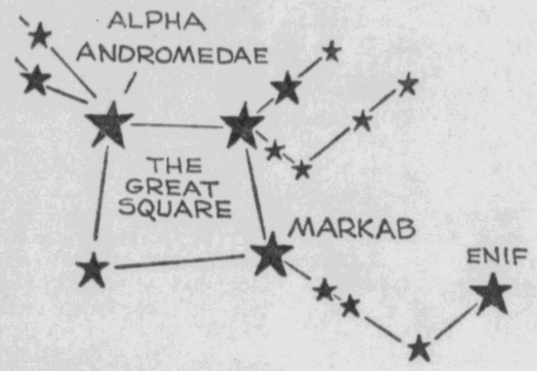
How Best To Find The Flying Horse During This Period

By SHERMAN WALKER



Pegasus, hthe Flying Horse, is well known to almost everyone, although the figure in the sky is not. The body of the horse is formed by four medium-bright stars, making a four-sided figure that is called a square. Actually, it isn't a square because it does not have equal sides and angles. It takes up a large part of the sky and is usually called "the Great Square of Pegasus."

To locate this constellation in the sky, face southward at 9 p.m. and look at the region of the sky that is four-fifths of the distance up from the southern horizon to overhead.

Pegasus was very famous in antiquity and there are many tales about those who tried to capture him and thus become the first astronauts. Imagine the difficulties involved not only in the capture, but also in taming him and keeping him captive.

Pegasus is upside down as seen from northern latitudes such as the United States and only his chest, forelegs, head and neck are visible in the sky. The constellation of Andromeda is made up of two streams of stars which could be the hind legs of the horse, but the ancients classed them as a separate figure.

On one occasion when Pegasus touched the ground with a hoof, a fountain gushed forth from the hoofprint. This happened on the hill of Acrocorinthus and if you're a nonbeliever, visit the fountain on the Isthmus of Corinth and see for yourself.

Aerospace Jobless Will Picket Nixon

SAN JOSE (UPI)—Hundreds of unemployed aerospace workers and other jobless are expected to be among demonstrators tonight when President Nixon speaks at the San Jose Civic Auditorium.

A number of groups representing the unemployed said they would send contingents of pickets to the political rally at which Nixon is to appear.

$21 Million Suit Filed For Schools

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Alabama Attorney General MacDonald Gallion today sued the federal government for $21 million as restitution for schools he said the state was forced to abandon to "achieve racial balance."

Gallion's suit, filed in the U.S. Court of Claims, charged that under the Fifth amendment of the Constitution the federal government cannot "take" property without giving "just compensation."

Gallion said at a news conference that the federal government had taken the Alabama schools in this case through orders of federal district courts or federal administrative agencies.

His suit valued the schools at $21,174,792, but Gallion said the figure was an estimate which might have to be revised on the basis of real estate appraisals.

Gallion said that at the moment he did not know how many schools were involved. He declined to make an estimate.

Some are black schools, some white, some old and some quite new, he said. Because of their locations, the courts or the Department of Health, Education and Welfare did not believe the schools could fit into racially balanced attendance patterns, he said.

Meet your Bell Savings Counselor

Mrs. Lila M. Haberman

What is a Bell Savings Counselor?

She's a person who represents Bell Savings and Loan Association here in Marin County. What's more she's a resident of Marin County and has been for 25 years. She's been deeply involved in the Savings and Loan business for 15 years. Before Marin County Savings and Loan merged to become Bell Savings, she was an important member of the Marin County Savings family.

What does a Bell Savings Counselor do?

Now, as a Bell Savings Counselor, she's in an important position to help you and your family. In private, she'll be happy to sit down, discuss your personal savings and financial goals – confidentially – and help you to establish a program of saving. She'll see that you receive the highest, guaranteed daily interest available on insured savings, and that's not all. After your account has been opened she and the rest of the members of the Bell Savings family will watch over your savings and when they reach a point where the amount you have saved is eligible for a higher rate, she'll help you convert your account to the higher yield. Call Mrs. Haberman now and set up an appointment, or just drop in at our office. There's no obligation, of course.

Neither Side Sees Major Changes In California's House Delegation

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — All of California's 38 House seats are up for election on Tuesday, but neither Republicans nor Democrats are looking for major changes.

Democrats now hold 21 of the seats and Republicans 17. Three incumbent Democrats won't be seeking reelection.

Rep. John V. Tunney of Riverside is giving up his seat because he is the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate against Republican incumbent George Murphy. A Republican is a slight favor to win the seat.

Rep. George Brown lost the Democratic Senate nomination to Tunney in the June primary and will not be returning to Congress. Democrats should retain the seat.

And Rep. Jeffrey Cohelan lost his Democratic party nomination to black Berkeley City Councilman Ronald V. Dellums, who generally is regarded as the favorite on Nov. 3.

Assemblyman Victor V. Veysey, R-Brawley, is giving up his legislative seat to run against Democrat David A. Tunno in Tunney's district. Tunno formerly served as Tunney's administrative assistant.

Dellums, with the help of a massive registration drive and a highly professional campaign organization, is considered to be running ahead of Republican John E. Healy of Albany.

Democrats probably will retain Brown's Los Angeles County district with a victory by state Sen. George Danielson over Republican Tom McMann.

If Danielson wins the congressional race, a special election will be needed next year to fill his vacant state Senate seat.

Spokesmen for both parties said little attention has been focused on the congressional races because most of the money and manpower is being spent on the legislature in hopes of winning control for the crucial 1971 reapportionment.

California also is scheduled to be allocated at least four new congressmen due to the increased population counted in this year's national census.

The election also will provide the first chance to win full, two-year terms for GOP Reps. Barry Goldwater Jr., John Rousselot and John G. Schmitz.

Goldwater, son of the Republican Arizona senator, was elected in 1969 in a special contest to fill the vacancy created when GOP Rep. Ed Reinecke was appointed lieutenant governor. Reinecke replaced Robert H. Finch who had been named secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Rousselot and Schmitz won special elections this year replacing congressmen who died.

Rousselot defeated Democrat Myrlie Evers, widow of slain civil rights leader Medgar Evers, in the June special contest to succeed the late Rep. Glennard P. Lipscomb.

Mrs. Evers and Rousselot face each other again Nov. 3 with the Republican virtually certain to win in the conservative eastern Los Angeles County district.

Schmitz, also the overwhelming favorite to win, is opposed by Democratic businessman Thomas B. Lenhart of Santa Ana. Schmitz, in a special election, replaced the late Rep. James Utt.

Nutritional Baby Food Labels Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has proposed nutritional labeling rules for baby food under which milk substitutes failing to meet federal standards would have to be identified on the package.

Other baby food labels would have to list each ingredient, meaning that a jar of strained meat and vegetables would have to name each meat, vegetable and preservative, in order of quantity.

Formulas designed as substitutes for human milk would have to go even further. Their labels would have to indicate the amount of protein, moisture, carbohydrate, ash, crude fiber, calories, and added vitamins and minerals.

If the formula failed to meet proposed federal standards for protein, the label would have to warn that the product should not be used as the baby's sole protein source.

The FDA said the proposal would be published in today's Federal Register. The agency said it would then allow 30 days for comment before issuing the final order.

Raymond E. Newberry, FDA officer for special dietary foods, said the rules for milk substitutes should be made tougher because babies depend entirely on milk or milk substitutes during the first month of life.

He said a protein and vitamin break-down was not considered necessary for strained foods because the infant by then is eating a variety of foods and is more likely to get a balanced, nutritious diet.

Whole cow's milk and evaporated milk would be exempt from listing mineral, protein or fat content. But milk sold as a baby's substitute for human milk would have to be labeled to say that the baby should get additional Vitamin C, Vitamin D and iron.

Space dolphins? Actually the marine mammals are suspended in synthetic sea water, noted for clarity at Niagara Falls Aquarium.

The Aquarium of Niagara Falls, N.Y., has been open for five years on a three-acre site that is two minutes from the world-famous waterfall.

An Aquarium Goes Fishing

Expedition members checked out scuba equipment in the pool before the trip to Cozumel island.

Besides Catching Traditional Honeymoon Trade, Niagara Falls Goes After Marine Specimens

THIS IS THE AGE of aquariums, non-astrologically speaking, and Niagara Falls, N.Y., is concerned with marine life as well as the honeymoon atmosphere. The aquarium on Whirlpool Street is a habitat for more than 2,000 specimens from all parts of the world.

To augment the collection, the aquarium sponsored an expedition to the island of Cozumel off the tip of the Yucatan peninsula in Mexico. Various types and sizes of nets and traps served as the hooks, lines and sinkers to land the fish.

Photographers played a major role in the venture, recording the underwater world of the quarry for biology, zoology and ecology students who will be visiting the aquarium next fall. Slides and films show rare tropical fish in the undisturbed world of Palancar reef, which is described as "a coral mountain that stretches southward for six miles through crystal clear water." The area is considered one of the "top five" diving sites of the world—a scuba paradise. The average underwater visibility is 150 feet.

This expedition follows by five years the aquarium venture to the headwaters of the Amazon. Mr. Stephen Spotte, director of the aquarium, says that one of the most vital jobs on these expeditions is collecting gear to insure the safe transport of the specimens back to Niagara Falls. Insulated watertight containers and a dependable oxygen supply are prime ingredients in a piscatorial honeymoon.

A sea cucumber is lifted from his home on Palancar Reef off the Yucatan Peninsula and is on his way to Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Real coral formations are used to reproduce copies that will not disintegrate when they are used for decor in the tanks.

Race In New York: A Major Nixon Issue

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI)—A maverick Republican senator, a wealthy Democratic congressman and a member of the conservative Buckley family are campaigning for the junior U. S. Senate seat from New York State.

Many observers view the contest as a sort of referendum on President Nixon's popularity; or Vice President Spiro Agnew's influence.

The latest polls show a tight race between Conservative party candidate James L. Buckley, a brother of William F. Buckley, the author and editor, and Democratic Rep. Richard L. Ottinger. Republican Sen. Charles E. Goodell, who is the GOP and Liberal party candidate, is fighting for contention following several scathing attacks on him by Agnew. The vice president has stated he feels Goodell may no longer consider himself a Republican in good standing because of his opposition to a number of Nixon administration policies.

It is, says Goodell, "the most unpredictable Senate race in New York history." The contest is made further intriguing by the possibility of a candidate outside the two major parties going to the Senate for the first time since Wisconsin's Robert H. LaFollette of the Progressive party won in 1940.

If Ottinger and Goodell split the liberal share of New York's eight-million voters, Buckley may inherit the "silent majority"—predominantly white, middle aged voters who are believed to be worried mainly about crime in the streets and drugs.

"Isn't it time we had a senator?" his commercials ask.

Buckley says he wholeheartedly" supports the Nixon administration on almost all issues except welfare reform. And by its official neutrality" in the New York contest, the White House has given tacit support to Buckley.

Ottinger, a three-term congressman from Westchester County just north of New York City, campaigns on the slogan "Ottinger Delivers."

He cites his leadership in programs to protect the environment and against power companies and the Penn Central Railroad, whose commuter train service is daily vilified by its riders.

Ottinger has been concentrating on rising unemployment, visiting factories hit by layoffs and linking Buckley and Goodell to Nixon's economic policies.

Lately, with polls showing Goodell in trouble, Ottinger has trained his guns on the fact that Buckley, a New York City attorney, lives in Sharon, Conn.

Goodell stresses his record of independence and his early call for a Vietnam troop pullout since Gov. Rockefeller named him in 1968 to complete the term of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Goodell's campaign seems to have been buoyed by the Agnew attacks. The senator wears a Spiro Agnew wristwatch, and after the Agnew barbs changed his slogan from "He's Too Good to Lose" to "He Must Be Good. Look at the Enemies He's Made."

Both Buckley and Goodell claim that Ottinger, heir to the U. S. Plywood fortune, will have spent $4 million in his primary and general election campaigns. They estimate their own expenses at $1 -$1.5 million.

Goodell, 44, a former six-term congressman from western New York, is the more aggressive, hand-pumping campaigner.

Buckley, 47, sometimes called "Gentlemen Jim", radiates a cool confidence and sounds like his more famous brother.

Ottinger, 41, who resembles actor Kevin McCarthy, is more reserved on the stump, and sometimes appears ill at ease in a verbal give-and-take situation.

With a 600,000 Democratic edge in registrations, Ottinger remains a slight favorite.

Robber Hits Same Bank, Same Time

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—For the second time in four months at exactly the same time, 1:50 p.m., a branch of the Bank of America here was robbed by the same bandit.

Employes said a reddish-blond man presented a note to a teller Wednesday and escaped with $4,118. Authorities said bank personnel recognized the man as the same robber who held them up for $2,502 July 21 at the same time.

Patrol Costs To Be Aired Once Again

Next round in the battle between cities and unincorporated areas over who should pay how much for sheriff's patrol costs will be held at Ross Town Hall Wednesday, at 8 p.m.

Marin's Local Agency Formation Commission set the special hearing in Ross because the Civic Center is closed to night meetings.

At the last meeting two weeks ago, agency commissioners asked John F. Barrows, executive officer, to compile a report on the cost of sheriff's services and the revenues such as property and sales taxes received by cities and by unincorporated areas.

City representatives contend that they are being taxed twice — once for their own city police departments and again for the sheriff's department because the sheriff's budget is borne equally by all taxpayers.

Residents of unincorporated areas reply that cities receive hugh revenues in sales taxes from stores that are patronized by residents of unincorporated areas.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
THIRD SECTION — SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1970 — 23

HUGE HAUL — Sgt. Robert Gaddini (left) and Deputy John Earl of the Marin County sheriff's department, inventory what is thought to be a $30,000 supply of LSD pills. The plastic wrapped pills were found yesterday next to a Tamalpais Valley home, raided later in the day.

Study For Bridge Barrier

A $5,000 architectural study of a suicide barrier was recommended today by a committee of Golden Gate Bridge District directors.

The study by Anschen and Alden of San Francisco will take up to three months, and will come up with at least three designs for a barrier, according to August K. Strotz of Tiburon, a partner in the firm.

SPEED UP STUDY

Director Ben K. Lerer of San Francisco, chairman of the joint-finance-auditing building and operating committee, urged Strotz to speed the study in light of the fact that "number 400 is coming up." Lerer's reference was to the number of suicides said to have been confirmed since the bridge opened in 1937.

The committee's recommendation will go before the full board at 10 a.m. tomorrow. The study has been rejected once by the board and Lerer, long a proponent of such a barrier has been lobbying hard to win a second vote.

The committee voted 7-1, Director E. J. Guidotti of Sonoma County voting "no" without explanation.

The $5,000 will cover only the first of five phases in the study, with no estimate available of the cost of the remaining four phases. District Engineer Robert E. Shields estimated that aerodynamic testing of barriers, to come in a later phase, would cost $30,000.

EXPERT TESTIMONY

Lerer cited testimony by suicide experts that 80 per cent of jumpers from the bridge could have been saved with a barrier and psychiatric treatment.

San Francisco Supervisors Peter A. Tamaras said, "if you could save only one life it would be worth the expenditure."

Shields said the study fee was "within the proper ranges."

After the committee adjourned, several directors filed into a small room for an unannounced closed meeting. Board President William Moskovitz of San Francisco at first said, "It's not a meeting," then said "it's just a little personnel matter," then said it was "to hire someone."

Suicide Prevention Expert Scotches A Few Old Ideas

By WAT TAKESHITA

Volunteers at a suicide prevention center can often save a life because a suicide is begging to be saved until the very moment a bullet or barbiturate snuffs out his life.

That was the message delivered last night by Dr. Edwin S. Shneidman, national authority on suicide prevention, before a rapt audience of 100 at the Marinwood Community Center.

"A suicide never just happens," declared Shneidman. "The drives to die and to live co-exist. The paradigm of suicide is a man who cuts his throat and cries for help."

A group of Marin actors presented a play titled "Quiet Cries," with Hugh Leppo of Mill Valley as director. Using this as an illustration, Shneidman stressed the importance of listening to "a trail of subtle and obvious hints" left by a suicidal person.

"Don't use words like 'it's only an attempt' or 'he's only trying to get attenion.' Every suicide attempt is a serious cry for help. All verbal indications should be taken seriously."

Shneidman scotched the idea that a suicidal person remains forever suicidal and cannot be stopped.

A few words or a sympathetic ear from a friend, a minister, or a volunteer can often carry a suicide over the crisis, he declared. "People who kill themselves also want to live, and their acute suicidal states are temporary — that is, given the opportunity to clear their heads, almost all will choose to live."

This is reason enough to establish a suicide prevention center, said Dr. Shneidman. Laymen can work effectively in such centers, but he urged that they be carefully selected "to get the kooks out" and continuously trained.

Other statistics listed by Dr. Shneidman:

A typical American suicide is a white Protestant male in his forties, married with two children. Male suicides outnumber female three-to-one, although women attempt suicide more often. Single men with few ties are more prone to suicide than church or family members. By profession, medical men have the highest suicide rate, especially psychiatrists.

In his final moments, a suicide may withdraw and become monk-like, reduce eating, reduce conversation, ignore normal sex drives, act as if he were going on a long trip and frequently gives away his prized possessions.

The job of the volunteer at a suicide center is to stop the caller from killing himself, not to remake his personality, Shneidman pointed out.

"When a man is foundering, a lifeline is thrown to him. It is neither the time nor the task of the rescuer to teach the drowning man to swim or to improve his stroke."

Kay Lyons, chairman of the Marin Suicide Prevention Center, issued a plea for volunteers and for funds to staff the Marin Center, which will open in December or January. A telephone service will be manned 24 hours per day, seven days a week at an office in Terra Linda. She said prospective volunteers should contact the Mental Health Association at 1368 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

Sausalito Man Dies In Utah Plane Crash

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)— Results of a toxicology test on the body of a Sausalito man killed in a Utah plane crash will not be known for about one week, according to the state medical examiner's office.

However, an autopsy conducted Tuesday confirmed that Paul R. Wolff, Sausalito, Calif., died of injuries suffered when his plane crashed in a canyon 20 miles north of Kanab Saturday.

Wolff was en route from Las Vegas to Aspen, Colo., when his Cessna 210 hit turbulance about 1:30 p. m. The tail section of the plane apparently broke off, plunging the craft into the canyon.

Kane County Sheriff Leonard Johnson led a search crew which brought out the victim's body late Saturday.

Study Asked For New Fire Alarms

The Novato Fire District board last night ordered the staff to get specifications and costs for radio controlled fire alarm boxes, Fire Chief Jack Kidder reported today.

The district had been considering undergrounding the alarm wires along Grant Avenue from Highway 101 to Seventh Street along with electric and telephone wires. The cost was estimated at $25,000 for the district's share.

The board wants a comparison of this cost with battery powered radio alarm boxes.

Theft Of Equipment Reported; $500 Value

The theft of more than $500 in equipment during the past six months from a San Rafael engineering firm was reported to police yesterday.

Herbert Saxton of the Herbert Saxton Engineering Co., 4488 Redwood Highway, told police two radios, four sideview mirrors, a buffer, an acetylene tank and a paint sprayer were taken from trucks and trailers in his parking lot during the half-year period.

Increase In Youthful Heroin Users Reported

Pot smoking is no longer big stuff in the eyes of juveniles and they can take it or leave it, but heroin use is on a dangerous increase.

This was the consensus of members of the Marin Juvenile Justice Commission which met at Civic Center yesterday afternoon.

"I've noticed more heroin cases recently," declared James D. Adam, a volunteer juvenile court referee. "Heroin is the most dangerous because an addict is usually involved in a half-dozen burglaries to feed the habit."

"I agree that those involved with hard narcotics are the ones we should desperately try to help," said County Probation Officer John W. Brewer.

Erick Yarchin, superintendent of Marin Juvenile Hall, reported that pot and other drugs are being diluted into smaller, cheaper doses so that even 12-year-olds are able to buy them. "We're getting 25-cent sales of the weaker stuff on street corners at junior high and high schools."

"More kids are getting beyond the control of their parents at a younger age," said Francis E. Mullholland, dean of boys at Sir Francis Drake High School. "Taking pot is no big stuff any more. They can take it or leave it."

Mrs. Edward (Judy) Maxwell of San Rafael, coordinator or probation volunteers, reported that about 100 Marin citizens have completed five weeks of training at College of Marin and have four more weeks to go before they can be assigned to the probation department as counselor aids or auxiliary probation officers.

"Much to my surprise, the attendance hasn't dropped off," said Mrs. Maxwell. "In fact, each time we seem to be getting more people." She estimated that 40 or 50 may eventually end up working with the probation department.

Chairman Rex T. Silvernale declared that Marin is fortunate in having a dedicated public willing to serve as volunteers. He commended all volunteers, particularly the three unpaid juvenile court referees — James D. Adam, Jack L. Blaine and Harold G. King.

Rental Car Found After Chase In Southland

A car that was rented for a week in San Rafael almost a month ago was recovered by police in Southern California yesterday after a 90-mile-per-hour chase, according to San Rafael police.

Police said the 1970 yellow Chevrolet was rented Oct. 1 to a Sausalito woman by Budget Rent-a-Car at Third Street and Tamalpais Avenue, but had not been returned.

However, the rented auto was recovered at 1:15 a.m. yesterday after the high speed chase near Coachella, Riverside County.

Arrested were Paul Rene Deck, 20, and Paul Gaiter Powell, 24, addresses not given.

Agents Seize Suspected Haul Of LSD

A sack containing what appeared to be $30,000 worth of LSD was found yesterday in shrubbery between two Tamalpais Valley houses and led to the arrest of the resident of one of the homes.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of possessing the illicit drug for sale as well as possessing pot was Donald Joseph Padilla, 23, of 260 Morningsun Avenue. He was held in lieu of $10,000 bail and was to appear in Marin Municipal court today.

PHONE CALL TIP

Marin Drug Abuse Bureau agents said that it received a phone call reporting the finding of a large paper bag which contained over 10,000 tablets and about 14 ounces of suspected marijuana.

The tablets were packaged 500 to a plastic bag inside the larger bag.

After officers had picked up the contraband, a neighbor called to say that Padilla had come there asking for the sack of pills.

He told the neighbor the pills belonged to a friend who planned to use them for experiments, officers said.

Padilla was arrested nearby as he was standing by a road attempting to hitchhike.

USE WARRANTS

Drug agents returned later to his house with a search warrant and found additional drugs in the residence, they said. They did not find, however, another man who reportedly lived in the house with Padilla.

A witness reported seeing a man and a woman flee through a back window as officers arrived.

Padilla and the other man reportedly moved into the house about three weeks ago. The other man sought was present at a San Anselmo house where a large marijuana raid took place Monday but was not charged later in court.

Larkspur Youth Is Found Dead

HOLLISTER (UPI) — The body of Michael Lewis Owens, 19, Larkspur, was found by Pinnacle National Monument park rangers Wednesday at the base of a cliff from which he apparently had fallen while on a hiking trip.

Owens and two other youths had been camping in the park, 30 miles south of Hollister, but became separated Monday when Owens' friends reported him missing. Rangers failed to find the body until about 6 a.m. Wednesday.

Young Owens, a College of Marin student and former Redwood High School student, lived with his mother, Mrs. Cynthia Dickson, at 4 College Court, Larkspur. She said today that her son and his two companions went on the outing Sunday.

Young Owens was born in Fall River Mills, Shasta County, and came to Marin 13 years ago.

He is survived by two sisters, Rebecca Owens and Judith Knight, and a half-brother, James Dickson.

Census Map Is Now Available

A map showing the boundaries of census tracts used in the 1970 census has been completed by the Marin County Planning Department.

Blue print copies of the map, 42 inches by 66 inches, are available at the planning department in Civic Center. Cost to private concerns and individuals is $2.75 plus 50 cents for postage and handling.

Planner Raymond J. Ahearn said the map would be useful to public agencies and private firms working with population and housing characteristics of local areas.

Police Report Bomb Threats

Two telephoned bomb threats were reported by San Rafael police today.

Don Timoteo School children were let out for an early recess after a youth called at 10:05 a.m. yesterday to announce a bomb would go off at 10:20 a.m. police said. No bomb was found.

Police said Mayfair Market was emptied at midnight last night after a man told a store security guard, "There is going to be some fireworks in the next hour. There's a bomb inside the store."

No bomb was found in the store at Third and Union streets.

Use Of Town Park For Dog Show Backed

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission last night approved use of the town park for a nonamplified dog show in June.

Secretary Marilyn Wilson said today the request from Frank Turco, president of the Marin County Dog Training Club, was approved routinely.

In the past, dog shows in the town park have come under harsh criticism from some town councilmen who maintain "parks are for people, not dogs." However, use of the town park remains the option of the commission except of those uses requiring sound systems. Applications must then be approved by the council.

The show, scheduled for June 27, will not use such a system, Mrs. Wilson said.

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission also:

PLAY AREA — Tabled discussion of plans from a proposed Tiny Tot play area in the town park until the Nov. 25 meeting.

LETTER — Directed that a letter of appreciation be sent Boy Scout Donald Hiller for his work in designing the wilderness park and bridge at the end of Endeavor Drive.

TENNIS — Delayed action until spring on a request from Robert Marshall of 34 Granada Drive that hours for Saturday tennis instruction at the town's courts be adjusted to allow advanced players more continuous time on court. Since only a week remains of instruction, the commission will consider the request in April when instruction begins once more.

$11 Million Outlay For Sonoma State

I-J Special Report

LOS ANGELES — Total spending at Sonoma State College for the 1971-72 school year is expected to be $11,143,257.

The "support budget" adopted Tuesday by the California State College Board of Trustees ranks the Sonoma campus 15th among the 19 in the system both in outlay and in terms of stat fund support recommended for the year.

Largest item in the Sonoma State budget is $5.7 million for instruction; administration is pegged at $1.1 million; plant operation at $1.3 million; the library at $1.1 million; student financial aid at $673,332, and student services at $662,444.

Of the total support budget, reimbursements from special funds will trim the demand on the general fund to $9.2 million, Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke's office said.

The support budget as adopted this week does not reflect the request trustees made in September, that the Legislature increase faculty salaries by 13 per cent and fringe benefits by 6 per cent in many classifications.

Innocent Plea To Burglary Of Office

Richard Anthony Alonzo, 19, of no known address, has pleaded innocent to a charge of burglarizing the Planned Parenthood Association office in San Rafael on Aug. 30.

A preliminary hearing was set for next Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Ibexes, European wild goats, feed in herds seperate by sexes.

Baar Disavows Peevey Support

County Superivsor Louis H. Baar today declared he is not supporting Michael Peevey for state senator and "I resent the inference that I am, which is in a Peevey campaign brochure."

The brochure reproduces a "Republicans for Peevey" letter signed by Frank Kelly, former San Rafael police chief, and James H. Dougan. Under Dougan's name appears, "Campaign chairman for Louis H. Baar for Supervisor, 1968."

Baar said he objected to this as an attempt to make it appear he is supporting Peevey's candidacy against Republican Peter H. Behr.

"I am not supporting Peevey," said Baar. "He has never held public office and I think he is totally unqualified for the high office of state senator."

Bolinas PUD Board Backs Proposition 1

Directors of Bolinas Public Utility District last night voted to support state Proposition 1, the $250 million "clean water" bond issue and agreed to work for passage of the measure Nov. 3, clerk Jane Boyer rporeted.

Mrs. Boyer said passage of the bond issue would provide for combined state and federal financial aid to water pollution control facilities.

Bolinas (in conjunction with Stinson Beach) is planning to construct such facilities to treat sewage from both communities and discharge the treated effluent into the Pacific Ocean through a deep water outfall.

If the measure is passed, the district could be reimbursed up to 80 per cent of the cost of certain portions of the $3 million project, according to Jose A. Silva, utility district board chairman.

But, if the bond issue fails, he said financial reimbursement to the two communities would be limited to a maximum of 33 per cent. Consequently, Silva said, Bolinas and Stinson Beach could not afford to provide the deep water outfall, although the treatment plant will still be built.

Silva stressed the importance of the facility by saying it was necessary "to permanently eliminate discharge of sewage into the Bolinas Lagoon and protect the water quality of this unique recreational area."

Ban On Rafferty Campaign Tactic

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Dr. Max Rafferty, who is seeking re-election as state superintendent of public instruction, has been ordered to stop using a campaign leaflet picturing his opponent, Wilson Riles, with a black power advocate.

Superior Court Judge John Schindler Wednesday signed a temporary restraining order prohibiting Rafferty and his campaign managers from distributing a leaflet showing Riles standing in front of a huge poster of the late Malcolm X.

The photograph was captioned, "He rose from hoodlum, thief, dope peddler . . . to become the most dynamic leader of the black revolution."

The order was issued after a hearing attended by attorneys for both candidates. A hearing on a permanent injunction was set for Nov. 12.

Stereo Tapes Taken From Cars

Thefts of auto stereo tape equipment form two cars in San Rafael were reported to police yesterday.

Timothy M. Wall of 589 Idylberry Road told police a $65 tape deck and tapes valued at $75 were taken from the trunk of his car at Third and Cijos streets between 9:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. yesterday.

A $170 stereo tape unit was stolen Friday or Saturday from the auto of Michael H. O'Hair of 172 Belvedere Street, Apt. A, police said. The car was in a parking lot at 355 CanalStreet.

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If You Have Tears To Shed, Listen To This Sad Tale

I wouldn't dream of suggesting that you lick your chops at the bridge table. For one thing, it's considered impolite. For another, it's embarrassing to find your opponent making his contract while you're still planning what to do with the money you're going to win. If you have tears to shed, listen to the tale of poor West in the hand shown today.

VULNERABLE OVERCALL

West opened the queen of hearts and looked approvingly at the dummy. It wasn't a very robust hand for a vulnerable overcall, and West felt sure he was going to collect a healthy penalty. It was too bad he hadn't doubled, but then he had always been soft-hearted.

South took the first trick with the king of hearts and led the four of spades toward dummy. West through about this for a moment and correctly played low. Dummy's king won the trick, and South then began to run the diamonds.

EASY AT FIRST

It was easy for West to find his discards — at first. He threw the ten of clubs and then the five of clubs to give his partner the good news about that suit. But West wasn't quite so happy when South led the last diamond.

West could'n't afford to throw the ace of spades. If West threw the queen of clubs, South could lead a low club to force out the ace; and then South would get back to his hand with the ace of hearts to win a trick with the king of clubs.

NOTHING BETTER

For lack of anything better, West discarded a heart. South thereupon cashed the ace of hearts and led a heart to throw West into the lead.

West took two hearts and the two black aces but then had to give up the last trick to South's king of clubs. Three no rump, bid and made.

"Lots of players would have doubled with my hand," West observed in a modest tone. "I knew you were going to make it, so I kept quiet."

It doesn't matter if you win or lose. The important thing is to say the right thing at the end of the rubber.

Mitchell And Law Officers To Meet

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Attorney General John N. Mitchell will meet Friday with high-ranking law enforcement officials from 13 cities and states to discuss ways of dealing with terrorist bombings and attacks on police officers.

Mitchell had issued an invitation to such a session earlier this month during a speech to the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Dining Out Is Top Drawer Affair For Moscow Citizens

EDITOR'S NOTE: With tourists now making Moscow a regular stop, UPI correspondent David Nagy gallantly put his digestion on the line and went out to test six of the better known Moscow restaurants. Intending visitors would be wise to clip.

By DAVID NAGY

MOSCOW (UPI)—To dine out in Moscow, a Soviet citizen might have to apply in person for reservations, leave a deposit, and then buck crowds at the door when he arrives. But he enjoys himself mightily and tips grandly.

A foreign resident usually reserves by telephone, one of the privileges of status in this town. Chances are he will grumble at the food, deplore the slow service and tips, perhaps 10 to 15 per cent.

Restaurants are an odd institution in both the Russian and the Communist scheme of things. They stand in for nonexistent nightclubs and casinos, make do for the citizen with a couple of paydays in his pocket, host uproarious wedding parties and family reunions and feasts of no particular excuse.

Dining out top-drawer is a very special occasion for the average Moscow wage earner.

Where else does the waiter pay for your meal himself in advance, getting a chit from the cashier which he presents to the cook? Where else does the cook prepare the meal from stocks purchased by a civil servant, who bought them with an eye to fulfilling an assignment in the local economic plan?

And what other city of nearly seven million persons cannot offer a single restaurant that is consistently first class in food and service, by the standards of San Francisco or New York, or Rome or Tokyo?

One might, dining out in Moscw, get a scrumptious cold chicken zatsivi in walnut sauce at Aragvi, the Georgian restaurant, or a crisp duck stuffed with apples at Praga, or a heavenly blini with sour cream and black caviar at the Metropole. Or one might also get the waiter's thumb in cold food after an hour's wait—and there is no telling in advance which it will be.

Whatever happens, it all develops from the fact your charming host for the evening is the Soviet government. Restaurants are run by the Restaurant Trust, whose director is appointed by the Ministry of Food Production.

There are only 20 to 25 top class restaurants in Moscow, defined as those recommended in various guides, and this leads to a seller's market that can make getting through the door, even with a reservation, a trial. Invariably there are crowds who, having failed to get a booking or forgot to ask for one, are jamming the entrance.

Once inside you will encounter delays in service that challenge comparison. There are two reasons for the slow service, and one is a perfectly good one. The Russians consider dining out an occasion and prefer to stretch it to four or five hours. The other reason is that the profession of waiter has fallen upon hard times in Communist Russia. It is well down the totem pole of occupations.

For the gracious exit at meals end, ignore the Communist propaganda that says tipping went out when Lenin came in. Tipping greases more paths in Moscow than in your home town, and it is definitely unstylish to skip it in a restaurant.

For a half dozen specifics based on personal samplings:

The ridiculous and the sublime of Moscow restaurants are illustrated by the Rossiya Hotel Penthouse at its worst and the Winter Garden room of the Praga (Prague) at its best. The Penthouse, 21 stories above Red Square, is one of Moscow's greatest showplace restaurants because of its view of the Kremlin and the city beyond.

At the Rossiya Penthouse Restaurant one of our party gazed out at the magnificent panorama of Moscow and said, "They'll have to go a long way to spoil this". They did. The service was wretched and so was the food at 24 rubles ($26.64) for four.

The Praga Wintergarden Room, by contrast, is all wrong on paper and seems to enjoy no particular distinction. It features Russian cuisine under a Czechoslovak name, make of that what you will, and looks as if it had been decorated with film studio props. We found it excellent in both food and service.

A meal that included fresh black caviar, roast duck with marinated apples and plums and a delicious Chicken Kiev (rolled breast of chicken stuffed with butter) plus two bottles of a good Bulgarian wine and tip came to 19 rubles ($21.09) for four.

Despite the nasty words Russia and China have exchanged these 10 years there is still one Chinese restaurant in Moscow. It is still called the Peking and it boasts an actual Chinese waiter. It is not a very good Chinese restaurant but it is a good restaurant.

A blonde waitress lobbied for the Druzhba (Friendship) Salad which she claimed was a typical Chinese hors d'oeuvres. It included cold pork, squid, pickled hardboiled egg, marinated apple slices, lettuce chunks, shrimp, greens, carrots and gelationous noodles at only two rubles 67 kopecks ($2.93) for four. The main dishes were chopped port filet with chopped onions, sharks fin omelet, pike in sweet and sour sauce. The bill for four with two bottles of wine and tip was 15 rubles, 62 kopecks ($17.33).

Uzebekistan is a central Asian republic of the Soviet Union and the restaurant of that name in Moscow draws its exotic looking nationals. The night we chose to test cuisine may have been a bad night, but the only distinguished dish was a chicken cutlet rolled in chopped onions and butter and baked in bread crumbs. Three courses with two bottles of wine and tea plus tip was 23 rubles ($25.53). The Uzbekistan is rated one of the best restaurants in town and the kitchen may be capable of better.

The most popular restaurant in Moscow is the Aragvi which specializes in Georgian cuisine. It has one precious thing going for it—someone in charge cares about food. It promises and delivers Georgian specialties—garlic and red pepper and walnut sauces used to make things taste their best, warm courses usually served warm and cold courses served well chilled.

Among the delicacies tasted on a recent night at the Aragvi were fried goats' milkcheese with chunks of delicious white bread, chilled red kidney beans in tart walnut sauce, sliced chicken covered with cold walnut sauce with a hint of garlic and vinegar, all downed to the music of a four piece Greek-styled orchestra. The chef did his best with the skewered shashlik but there were limits to what even he could do with the ordinary cuts of meat available in Moscow. Dinner for four with two bottles of light Georgian wine and tip was 22.75 rubles ($25.25).

Toward the other end of the quality scale is the Russian Hut, a log house on the banks of the Moscow River on the outskirts of town that serves only lunch. The hors d'oeuvres the day or our visit were mediocre, the Russian goulash fair, the bill for four 28.65 rubles ($31.80), the biggest of the survey.

Greek Play Called 'Peace' Opens At Sonoma State

Six Marin and southern Sonoma students at Sonoma State College will appear in the cast of "Peace" starting today at 6 p.m. at the Stevenson Hall quadrangle.

The contemporary version of the fourth century B. C. play by Aristophanes will be presented at 6 p.m. today, tomorrow and Saturday in the open air setting.

Appearing in the production are Sarah King of Sausalito, Maureen Mannion of Petaluma, Brian Swanson of Novato, Sandra Atchison Eric Larson and Fred Strutz of Rohnert Park.

Playgoers are advised to bring their own blankets. A buffet supper will be served to the actors and audience after each performance.

'Epidemic Of Fear' Painted

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Peace Corps Director Joseph H. Blatchford says America is moving toward "an epidemic of fear, the surest path to disaster."

Blatchford, in a speech here Wednesday, said a recent poll indicates the majority of citizens favor abridging half the bill of rights.

"Yes, there are terrorists in this society... but if we become suspect of everyone who raises his voice, we will have caused the terror the terrorists hope to achieve," Blatchford said.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Book On Childhood Hate Has Case History Of Manson

Van Dellen

"I Hate My Parents" (Cowles Book Company, New York) is a book by New York psychiatrist, Dr. Anita Stevens, and Lucy Freeman. It covers the real and imaginary reasons why children and adolescents rebel against parents. Several chapters are devoted to actual case histories, including that of Charles Manson, a key figure in the Sharon Tate murder trial.

Dr. Stevens tried to make her angry patients understand that parents are entitled to the weaknesses every human possesses. She also believes that anger is dangerous only when evcessive, and excessive hate is a sign of weakness. A weak person cannot accept authority, even when it is wise and sympathetic. The book also tries to hlep the parent understand what he is doing that is destructive to the son or daughter.

DR. STEVENS lists 20 real reasons why children hate their parents. These include "Do as I say, not as I do;" resentment of the child's existence by the parent; lack of affection; belittling a child's questions, ideas and dreams; lying to the child; failure to let the child grow up; failure of parents to adapt to contemporary customs, such as long hair for boys and jeans for girls.

Also included as reasons for youthful anger are inconsistency in discipline, and extreme emotional problems of the parents themselves, such as alcoholism or promiscuity, and the failure to help themselves, thus inflicting their emotional illness on the child.

DR. STEVENS also covers many unreal reasons for hate in children. These include unresolved family jealousies; demand for perfection; misinterpretation or rejection by a parent, and excessive need for love, praise and attention.

Many of her suggestions as to what parents may do to help their child are well-known and worth the price of the book. The last of these warrants repitition: "Children are more in need of example than in need of advice."

SOLIDS FOR BABY

F.D.S. writes: Do all pediatricians recommend giving solid foods to a baby 3 or weeks old?

REPLY

Not all physicians go along with this idea. Some disagree. There is no evidence that the addition of any of these foods to the normal infant's diet before 3 or 4 months of age contribute to his well-being. Solid foods such as cereals, fruits, vegetables, meats and eggs add iron to the diet and introduce the tyke to the types of foods he will be eating for the remainder of his life.

TOO YOUNG FOR PET

Mrs. C.A. writes: My son is 5 years old and is begging his father for a puppy. I don't mind housebreaking the animal or walking it, but the only thing that worries me, is that Mark is too young. Don't you think we should wait until he is 6 or 7?

REPLY

Yes, your son is too young. Seven is an ideal age because a boy is able to assume some of the responsibility of caring for a pet. You will probably fall 'heir' to the chores of a dog, even when Mark is 7.

SWOLLEN LIP

S. T. writes: What causes a woman to wake up every morning with a swollen upper lip?

REPLY

Since you don't got to bed with this condition, I assume it stems from allergy or pressure on the lip from a peculiarity in the way you sleep.

Playboy Is Slapped With Damage Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Mrs. Denver Haas doesn't think Playboy Magazine is funny.

Mrs. Hass, a widow in her 60's, filed a $1 million superior court damage suit against the popular magazine Wednesday.

The suit stems from a recent article intended as a spoof of the underground press.

It published a "classified" ad which said:

"Adventurous, virile male, 29, currently in traction, wishes to meet attractive, imaginative, groovy girl with acrobatic experience."

It was followed by a telephone number which the suit said is the Berkeley number of Mrs. Haas.

What followed gave her a nervous breakdown for which she is still under a doctor's care.

"She has received numerous telephone calls from people who use obscene language," said Marvin Lewis, her attorney.

"She still receives the calls and the worst ones are the guys who say nothing but breathe heavily," he said.

Sunrise Art Guild Moves To Church

The Sunrise Art Guild, an organization of Sir Francis Drake High School students interested in art, has moved into quarters at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo.

Utilizing space once allocated for the Third Rail coffee house, the guild will create a workshop and gallery in the church's two basement rooms.

The guild, which was formed a year ago, is made up of painters, weavers, jewelers and potters.

WITH NO INCREASE IN TAXES

A Yes vote on Props. B and C will build & operate a new college on the district owned 333-acre site near Novato, & complete the renovation of the College of Marin Kentfield campus for 5,000 students

- DID YOU KNOW:
That more than 50% of the graduating seniors from our local high schools depend on the College of Marin for all or part of their first two years of college education?
- WHY IS PROPOSITION B NEEDED?
Can you imagine having to live at today's prices with your level of income in 1937? The 35c rate on which the District now has to operate was set in 1937. It's not enough for one campus . . . let alone two.
- WHY PROPOSITION C NEEDED?
To keep construction costs down by spreading them over a 25-year period. College of Marin has built five major buildings with a pay-as-you-go tax. Further use of this method will escalate taxes sharply. It's time TO SWITCH to bonding for construction.
- WHAT WILL PROPOSITIONS B AND C PROVIDE?
Proposition B will provide 25c per $100 assessed valuation for operations to keep College of Marin operational and to staff and operate the new campus (and will terminate the voter-approved 35c override tax now being levied). Proposition C will provide 16,920,000 dollars in construction bonds to build the new campus near Novato and complete the work at the College of Marin campus.
- WHAT ARE THE ALTERNATIVES FOR OPERATIONAL FUNDS?
We would have to further limit enrollments . . . even below the present level, with more and more local college-age youth being squeezed out of college programs.
- WHAT ARE THE ALTERNATIVES FOR CONSTRUCTION FUNDS?
If Propositions B and C fail, the District can maintain its building program through the levying of taxes (without voter approval) under Senate Bill 691 (1967) to match those funds supplied by the State. If the District should use this financing program to build the new campus, the rates would increase by an estimated $1.00 per $100 assessed valuation in heavy construction years.
- WILL THE PASSAGE OF B AND C SOLVE THE NEEDS?
YES: The Marin Community College District needs to rearrange its present funding, using the same amount but in the areas where it is most needed. If approved, Propositions B and C based on current state financing will hold next year's taxes at or below this year's.
- A YES VOTE MEANS EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY FOR ALL MARIN STUDENTS beginning in 1974 when the new college opens for 1150 students (some 800 students registered this year but could not find classes) and insures both facilities and educational programs . . . with no increase in taxes.
- A No vote will close the door to many more Marin County college-age youth, and will increase taxes if the District continues to build with pay-as-you-go funds instead of bonds.

NOW, A WHOLE NEW WAY TO FLY ACROSS THE U.S.

TWA's NEW AMBASSADOR SERVICE.

If you've suffered through a five hour flight, eating dull food, watching a movie you've already seen, we've got news for you.

TWA's new Ambassador Service.

Everything starts at the front of the terminal.

The Skycap takes your bags. You head straight for the gate.

Where you find our new Ground Ambassador. If you have any problem, that's why he's there.

On board, you'll find new colors, new carpet, new seats, more room, better everything.

Especially in coach. Where we ripped the old seats out of our 707's. And put in our new Twin Seats.

You'll find a choice of 3 International meals in coach, 5 in first class. With champagnes, wines and liqueurs from around the world.[1]

After dinner, sit back, and we bring on the entertainment. Eight channels of stereo music, humor and news. And on every movie flight, a choice of two movies.[1]

When you land, you may find your bags waiting for you for a change. We've put in a whole new, faster baggage system.

Next time you're flying to New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington or Chicago, take a TWA 707 or 747 Ambassador Flight.

It's a whole new way to fly.

ROUGH ENCOUNTER — When Frank St. Marseille of the St.Louis Blues (white helmet), tried to score against California in the first period last night in St. Louis, Golden Seals' goalie Gary Smith blocked his shot while Carol Vadnais gave him a shot in the head, and Dennis Hextell came up to assist Vadnais. But the Blues won, 3-2.

Senators' Boss Confident Curt Flood Will Play In '71

NEW YORK (UPI) — Curt Flood's formal acquisition by the Washington Senators, in the latest of owner Bob Short's moves designed to make the team a pennant contender, may be announced Thursday by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Kuhn has called a press conference for this afternoon, presumably to announce the disposition of World Series shares, but conceded "there is a possibility that something may develop soon" when asked about Flood's negotiations with Short.

In Minneapolis, Wednesday, Short flatly said Flood "will be playing for us" in 1971 although he refused to confirm whether he has actually reached an agreement with the 32-year-old outfielder who refused to play for the Philadelphia Phillies in 1970 and challenged baseball's reserve clause. Flood refused to play for the Phillies after being traded by the St. Louis Cardinals.

"My only comment is that I have met with Flood," said Short. "It was a series of meetings over several days in New York. He's a great one . . . he'll be playing with us."

Short, who claims that the Senators are drowning in red ink, acquired Denny McLain, the Detroit Tigers' 31-game winner of 1968, in an eight-player trade which was openly criticized by Senator manager Ted Williams. Short gave up pitchers Joe Coleman and Dennis Higgins, third baseman Aurelio Rodriguez and shortstop Eddie Brinkman to get McLain, who was suspended for the greater part of the 1970 season for alleged dealings with gamblers.

The Senators need a center fielder of Flood's defensive ability after finishing the 1970 season with an outfield composed of centerfielder Rick Reinchardt flanked by Brant Alyea and Frank Howard. Flood was recognized as one of the best defensive outfielders in the National League during the late 1960s.

Flood was represented by attorney Arthur Goldberg in a New York District Court when he filed suit against baseball. He lost the case at the district level, as expected, but has appealed the decision and could get a favorable ruling from the U. S. Supreme Court.

The high court ruled in 1922 that baseball was not involved in interstate commerce and, therefore, not subject to antitrust laws. The 1922 decision has been upheld several times, but the definition of interstate commerce has been steadily widened by the courts.

Kuhn said that even if Flood aid Short agree to terms, there is no contingency on the antitrust suit against baseball.

"Under no circumstances will a Flood-Short agreement involve the law suit," said Kuhn.

Warriors Turn Very Cold

Knocked From Their High Perch

OAKLAND (UPI) — The San Francisco Warriors found out how cold cold is Wednesday night and it cost them the lead in the National Basketball Association's Pacific Division.

After building up leads of up to 15 points in the first half and still maintaining a comfortable 95-88 bulge at the three-quarter mark, the Warriors went completely sour in the final period—scoring only 13 points—to absorb a 111-108 loss.

Billy Cunningham scored 10 of his 27 points in the fourth quarter to lift the 76ers to their sixth victory in eight starts.

San Francisco, now 3-4, outscored the 76ers from the floor, 46-44, and controlled the boards, 61-49, but the visitors converted a red-hot 23 of 25 from the free throw line to make up the difference. The Warriors weren't helped by 35 turnovers.

Game scoring honors went to Jeff Mullins of the Warriors, who made 13 of 21 field goals for 32 points. Jerry Lucas continued his fine play with 20 points and 18 rebounds.

Jacksonville Cage Star's Poverty Pay: $75 Per Day

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) reprimanded and censured Jacksonville University Wednesday because one of its star basketball players was paid $75 a day in a summer anti-poverty program.

The 18-man policy-making NCAA Council said it frowned on such high-paying public-supported jobs and would take action against student-athletes and their schools from now on for any further violations.

The NCAA reprimand action had no effect on possible post-season tournament play by the Florida school.

It grew out of the $75 a day wages of the Dolphins' 7-2 center Artis Gilmore for work in a Jacksonville University anti-poverty program during the summer of 1969.

Gilmore, who was named a second-team all-American after leading the Dolphins to the runnerup spot in the NCAA tournament last year as a junior, was hired as an athletic consultant to supervise sports activities for the disadvantaged at city parks.

The NCAA Council, in its resolution reprimanding Jacksonville, said Gilmore, with assistance of then head basketball coach Joe Williams, now head coach at Furman in Greenville, S.C., was "employed at a rate of pay not commensurate with the going rate in that locality for services of like character."

Thomas C. Hansen, NCAA director of public relations, in a statement accompanying the Jacksonville reprimand, said NCAA rules in this area are aimed at preventing student-athletes from getting high wages in jobs perhaps specially created for them that may not be available to other youths.

Shortly after the $75 per day salary was disclosed, Greater Jacksonville Economic Opportunity Inc. reduced the pay to $37.50 per day. Gilmore resigned a few days later but kept working at no salary until the end of the summer program.

Ho Hum; Seals Defeated

ST. LOUIS (UPI) —The trips to and from Oakland are getting longer and longer for the California Golden Seals.

After nine National Hockey League games, the Seals are still looking for their initial victory. In St. Louis Wednesday night, the Seals took their seventh defeat—they've tied two—a 3-2 decision to the St. Louis Blues.

The Seals head for home today and have a date with the expansion Buffalo team Friday night at the Oakland Arena.

In absorbing their latest loss, however, something must be said of the injury bugaboo which has plagued the Seals. Missing from the lineup were regulars Bert Marshall, Norm Ferguson and Mike Laughton.

St. Louis, now in second place in the NHL West with a 4-2-3 mark, ripped off the game's first three goals — with Barclay Plager, Christian Bordeleau and George Morrison flashing the red light — and then had to hang on to win it.

Morrison's winning goal came at 2:37 of the third period on a rush down the ice. He took a pass from Tim Ecclestone in the St. Louis zone and whipped it past California goalie Gary Smith.

Gary Croteau and Gary Jarrett scored for the Seals.

RAIDERS, 49ERS, TOO

Vikes Get This Writer's Vote

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Whom were you watching in all that rain and mud . . . Gary Cuozzo . . . Alan Page . . . Dave Osborn . . . Bill Brown . . . or Paul Krause?

They all did well in that 13-3 soaking the Minnesota Vikings inflicted upon the Los Angeles Rams but the man who held my interest on the TV tube Monday night didn't even get into the ball game.

GRANT

He was Bud Grant, the Vikings' coach, and the thing that got me about him was how he just stood there in one spot all the time, without hardly even moving, despite the fact the rain kept coming down harder than it does in one of those Dracula movies.

Restraint like that takes practice and patience.

Not everybody can show that kind of rigid self control. Bud Grant can. When his No. 1 quarterback decided he wouldn't play unless he got more money, Bud Grant wasn't happy but he didn't panic. He merely promoted his No. 2 quarterback and now hardly anybody mentions the old No. 1 anymore. Hardly anybody outside Boston, anyway.

EARLY START

That doesn't mean he can't move when he has to. He was in the Vikings' office at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning looking at the films of the Rams' game.

A little later he attended a luncheon at which he talked about this Sunday's opponent, the Detroit Lions.

When Grant got through with his speech, he returned to his team. This was Tuesday, a few hours after the Vikings beat the Rams. Ordinarily that would've meant a day off. The Vikings practiced.

MY PICK

Joe Schmidt works the Lions hard, too, and practice sometimes doesn't mean a thing, but I just keep thinking about Bud Grant in all that rain, about how those Vikings don't give an inch in any weather, and I have to go with them to beat the Lions in Detroit Sunday.

As for Sunday's other games, I like:

Oakland over Kansas City—you keep hearing about Daryle Lamonica's back spasms and keep seeing him doing fine.

San Francisco over Green Bay — The 49ers have the formula. John Brodie does the passing, Ken Willard the rushing, and Bruce Gossett the kicking.

Cleveland over San Diego—Even Bill Nelsen's wife wouldn't want him to quit now the way he's going.

St. Louis over Houston—Jerry Rhome did okay against San Diego but he's no Fran Tarkenton yet.

MIAMI

Miami over Baltimore—The Colts could be a little overeager in this one.

Dallas over Philadelphia—The Cowboys are doing everything right and the Eagles are doing everything . . . well . . . you know. Los Angeles over New Orleans — on either a wet or a dry field.

Denver over Washington—Nobody stops Sonny Jurgensen but the Broncos could slow him down.

New York Giants over New York Jets—it's tough to do anything without your quarterback.

Boston over Buffalo—Joe Kapp to Ron Sellers should do it.

Atlanta over Chicago—Bears' running game isn't much with Gale Sayers and Craig Baynham out for the season.

Probation For Two Schools

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The National College Athletic Association has placed Kansas State University and the University of Tulsa on three-year probations for violating recruiting and financial rules for student-athletes.

The NCAA council compleed a three-day working session Wednesday.

RESTORED

The council, the policy-making arm of the NCAA, restored Marshall University in Huntington, W. Va., and LaSalle College in Philadelphia to good standing. Marshall was on a one-year probation for football violations and LaSalle two years for basketball team infractions.

The University of Tulsa and Kansas State University will be on probation from Oct. 28 until Jan. 1, 1973. A spokesman for the council said the schools could not take part in post-season bowl games until the period of probation is over and neither school can take part in NCAA-sanctioned television programs until the probation periods are up.

VIOLATIONS

The council said Tulsa violated rules governing financial assistance, ethical conduct, recruiting and out-of-season football practice.

It said it found "these violations to be flagrant and willful on the part of several members of the University of Tulsa's football coaching staff, thus reflecting a distorted image of the university and casting damaging effects upon the sport of intercollegiate football."

The council cited Kansas State for breaking rules on financial assistance, ethical conduct, eligibility for NCAA championship events and recruiting.

LAVER WINS OVER GIMENO; TWO IN ROW

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — Rod Laver downed Andres Gimeno of Spain 6-4, 3-6, 6-0 Wednesday to collect his second $1,600 check in as many days in a four city professional tennis tour in Italy.

In the other match Wednesday Cliff Drysdale of South Africa beat Roger Taylor of Britain 6-4, 6-4 and then Laver and Drysdale teamed to defeat Gimeno and Taylor 7-5, 7-6 in a doubles match.

The tour, which features exhibitions in Turin, Rome and Bergamo, is a winner take all affair with matches scheduled on rotating basis.

San Jose, USF In 2-2 Soccer Tie

Halfback Gary Alb scored with less than four minutes left in the game last night to bring fifth-ranked San Jose State a 2-2 tie with the University of San Francisco in a West Coast Intercollegiate Soccer Conference battle at Kezar Stadium.

The tie, viewed by 2,600 fans, was the second for each team in WCISC play this year. San Jose State's record is 7-0-2, while the Dons are 5-0-2.

The Spartans averted their first loss when Alb, a halfback, fired a goal from 15 yards out with just 3:58 showing on the clock after USF took the lead with five minutes left on a 20-yard score by forward Alex Robustoff.

SJS had scored first, when right wing Andre Marechal kicked a 28-yard goal early in the second quarter, but the Dons came back to tie it with only three minutes elapsed in the third period as two-year letterman Hans Friessen booted one from 30 yards.

Friessen scored 25 goals last year to set a single season school scoring record.

BUSY WEEKEND AHEAD

Full Slate Of Football

The Terra Linda and San Rafael High School football teams, undefeated in league play and headed for a colossal showdown on Nov. 6, should handle their Marin County Athletic League opponents this weekend.

The defending champion Trojans of Terra Linda will get a definite "breather" when they travel to Larkspur Saturday for a 2 p.m. encounter with the winless Redwood Giants. The Bulldogs could have a tougher time tomorrow night with the San Marin Mustangs, but they should grace their homecoming celebration with a victory. That game starts at 8 o'clock.

The other MCAL contest, Saturday at 1 p.m. at Novato, finds the resident Hornets going against the Drake Pirates in a game that could decide third place in the League.

Perhaps the most exciting game of the week will take place Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Kentfield, where the Marin Catholic Wildcats will host the Tamalpais Indians. Nothing but pride will be at stake in this contest, but that should be enough to bring out the best in both teams.

In other games involving Marin and Sonoma County high schools, San Rafael Millitary Academy travels to Berkeley for a game with the California School for the Deaf tomorrow at 3 p.m., while tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park hosts El Molino, and Petaluma High is at Santa Rosa.

Two college games are slated for Saturday. The College of Marin hosts De Anza of Cupertino in Kentfield at 1 p.m., and Sonoma State entertains San Francisco State under the lights at 8 o'clock.

MOTHER TO BE — Ralphie, a 700-pound female buffalo shown above in her capacity as the University of Colorado mascot, was the cause of celebration at the school this week when it was learned she is pregnant. A five-year-old who has been with the school the past four seasons, Ralphie should calve in May, according to her trainer. (UPI Telephoto)

NBA ROUNDUP

Teams Going In Opposite Directions

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Cleveland Cavaliers and Detroit Pistons are heading in opposite directions —quickly.

The expansion Cavaliers, still looking for their first victory in the National Basketball Association, suffered their eighth loss Wednesday night, dropping a 110-99 decision to the San Diego Rockets.

The Pistons, picked to finish among the NBA's also-rans, find themselves as the league's only remaining unbeaten team after posting their ninth triumph by downing the Baltimore Bullets 109-103.

INNER BATTLE

The Cavaliers, considered by many to be the worst of the NBA's three expansion teams this year, still could get a fight from either or both Buffalo and Portland for the dubious distinction, but for the moment, Cleveland is out in front. Actually, Buffalo has won only one of its first five games (against Cleveland, of course) while Portland has three wins to its credit (two against Cleveland and one against Buffalo).

Except maybe for baseball's Mets, nobody likes a loser and as Bill Fitch, coach of the Cavaliers, said after his team's latest setback, "When you are losing, things keep going wrong and nobody likes you. Sometimes, you don't like yourself when you look in the mirror in the morning."

HOME OPENER

Cleveland's loss to San Diego was the Cavaliers home opener and the crowd of 6,144 had very little to cheer about. San Diego, thanks to the hot shooting of Elvin Hayes, jumped out to a 38-17 lead after the first quarter and the Rockets were never headed. Hayes, who finished with 40 points, connected on nine of his first 14 shots. Bobby Smith and John Johnson paced the Cavaliers with 19 points each.

The surprising Pistons got a balanced scoring attack from Jimmy Walker, Dave Bing and rookie Bob Lanier to put down the Bullets. Walker tallied 20 points, one more than Lanier and Bing. Jack Marin and Wes Unseld were high for Baltimore with 21 points each.

Elsewhere in the NBA, New York walloped Boston 126-89, Chicago downed Phoenix 118-105, Philadelphia edged San Francisco 111-108, and Cincinnati whipped Seattle 131-118.

REED LEADS

New York broke open its battle with Boston early by outscoring the Celtics 33-17 in the first quarter. The Knicks placed seven men in double figures with Willis Reed leading the way with 22 points. Jo Jo White led Boston with 19.

FOOTBALL TEAM LOSES, BUT ...

Joy In Colorado; Ralphie The Buffalo Is Expecting

By BRAD SMITH

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — There is joy on the University of Colorado campus today. Not over the football team, which has lost three games, but because Ralphie is pregnant.

Ralphie is a 5-year-old buffalo who sometimes has provided as much excitement at CU's football games as has the team with her thundering charges.

For she, yes Ralphie is a she, is the CU mascot and has "lettered" the past four seasons.

Now her trainer, C. D. "Bud" Hays, says Ralphie is pregnant.

"She could calve in May," Hays said Wednesday. "We don't know definitely that she is pregnant, but we feel reasonably sure she is."

Being in the "family way" won't slow Ralphie down during the football season, Hays said. She can go full steam until winter.

Ralphie doesn't make too many road trips but when she does she is quite an attraction. Last Saturday she went to Columbia, Mo., for the Colorado-Missouri game.

She would make more trips, but it takes money to send her and the money has to come from donations. A four-horse trailer is her mode of transportation.

Besides Missouri, Ralphie has been to the Liberty Bowl game at Memphis, Tenn., and to the Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston, Tex., in 1967.

Ralphie was donated to the university five years ago when she was six months old by the father of a freshman student at CU. She is kept at Hays' Hidden Valley Ranch north of Boulder.

"She is quite manageable," Hays said. "She's always been a peaceloving animal and seems to enjoy the games."

She appears before CU's games by ushering in the football team, running ahead of several students and nonstudents holding her harness. She also appears at halftime.

"She seems to know what we're going to do when we come out there," Hays said. "She's a slow learner because she's not very bright, but she is not wild. We let her go out in front of us so she can really move out."

In many ways she is like any other pet, Hays said, pointing to the time she went to the Bluebonnet Bowl.

"She was all upset about the game. She stayed in the van outside the stadium the night before and started slapping her horns up against the van and hooking the sides," Hays said.

"We went back up there. At that time there was a student she particularly seemed to like. He crawled up in the van with her and started talking 'buffalo talk' to her. She calmed right down and he stayed in there with her all night."

Even though she might have a calf, Hays said Ralphie will be back next year.

But the fans will have to pardon Ralphie if at times she doesn't seem to have her mind on the game all the time this year. She may be thinking about the pitter-patter of little hooves.

NHL ROUNDUP

There's No Runaway For Hawks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The expected runaway of the Chicago Black Hawks in the West Division of the National Hockey League hasn't materialized as yet.

After winning the regular season title in the much tougher East Division last season, Chicago was figured a shoo-in for another pennant when it switched to the expansion West. And while the Black Hawks are in first place, they haven't shown signs of running away from the field.

2-1 WIN

The Minnesota North Stars, behind rookie goalie Gilles Gilbert, edged Chicago, 2-1, Wednesday night. In three games against West rivals this season, the Black Hawks have won only once, tied one and lost one, and their first-place lead was cut to a single point as the St. Louis Blues tripped the winless California Golden Seals, 3-2.

Elsewhere, the New York Rangers took over undisputed possession of first place in the East by beating the Detroit Red Wings, 4-1, while the Montreal Canadiens were dropping a 6-2 decision at Toronto, and the Pittsburgh Penguins beat the Los Angeles Kings, 5-3.

FIRST GOAL

Rookie Buster Harvey provided the North Stars with their triumph by registering his first NHL goal at 10:49 of the third period and Gilbert took care of his end with 30 saves. Jules Drouin celebrated his 22nd birthday by opening the scoring for Minnesota at seven minutes of the second period, but Bryan Campbell got that one back for Chicago less than three minutes later.

Tunney Says Quarry Cut Caused By Butt, Not Blow

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

LOS ANGELES — Cassius Clay beat Jerry Quarry on a heat butt and will lose to Joe Frazier if the pair meet, Gene Tunney said Wednesday.

In Los Angeles to help in the senatorial campaign of his son, Democratic Rep. John V. Tunney, the man who lifted Jack Dempsey's heavyweight title commented on Clay's TKO over Quarry Monday night.

"That was not a blow that cut the Irishman over the eye," Tunney said. "Fifteen stitches! Gosh! You can never be cut like that by a glove — it's too round and soft. He got bumped by a head. Clay's head.

SPORTS SHORTS

Basketball

INGLEWOOD — Elgin Baylor's injured right foot is out of a cast but the Los Angeles Lakers still don't know when to expect their veteran superstar back.

Baylor, 37, has missed five of the Lakers' six National Basketball Association games because of a strained achilles tendon. His foot was taken out of the cast Wednesday.

CINCINNATI — Flynn Robinson, a holdout since his trade from the Milwaukee Bucks in April, Wednesday signed his 1970-71 National Basketball Association contract with the Cincinnati Royals.

Robinson, a 6-foot-1 guard who averaged 21.8 points per game last season, came to Cincinnati in the deal which sent Oscar Robertson to the Bucks. Contracts terms were not announced.

Baseball

PHILADELPHIA — Andy Seminick, a former major league catcher, Wednesday was named manager of the Philadelphia Phillies' top farm club, the Eugene Emeralds of the Pacific Coast League.

Soccer

CURITIBA, Brazil — Pele, acknowledged as the world's greatest soccer player, said Wednesday he will retire from competition after he plays for the Brazilian team in the 1972 World Mini Cup championships.

Pele said he wants "to be finished with soccer before it finishes me."

Golf

CANBERRA, Australia — Guy Wolstenholme, an Englishman now living in Melbourne, shocked a number of the world's top golfers Wednesday by firing a sizzling five-under-par 67 in the first round of the $28,000 Dunlop International tournament at Royal Canberra.

Wolstenholme took a one stroke lead over Ron Howell of the United States. Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, Lee Trevino and Tony Jacklin were all at least four strokes behind.

PINEHURST, N.C. — Quarterfinal play in the North-South Seniors golf championship began today with both the defending champion and the medalist eliminated.

Curtis Person of Memphis, Tenn., defending champion, fell to Tom Draper, of Troy, Mich., by a 3-2 margin Wednesday. Medalist David Goldman, who had been seven under par after two days of qualifying, was defeated by John Pottle of Linville, Va., 2-1.

Orr, Bruins Discount Report Of Tendonitis

BOSTON (UPI) — Bobby Orr isn't leading the National Hockey League scoring race but that's no reason for concern, according to the Boston Bruins.

Orr, who rewrote the NHL recordbook last season with a record-shattering 120 points from 33 goals and 87 assists, is off to what amounts to a slow start for him.

After his first six games, professional hockey's ranking superstar has two goals and three assists for five points. That's seven points back of his sensational pace of last season when he became the first defenseman in history to win the Art Ross scoring trophy.

Both Orr and the Bruins discount the report that a mild case of tendonitis in the wrist has curbed his spectacular shooting and scoring ability.

tration from his Bruins this

"Bobby has been playing with the tendonitis and while it might bother him, I don't think it has," Johnson said. "After all, you can't expect him to score 120 points every year.

Time Running Out For George Allen

As soon as San Francisco 49er fans got a TV look at the playing field in Minneapolis Monday night they relaxed. They knew that the Rams were not good mudders, certainly not as good as the Vikings.

So the 13-3 defeat that dropped the Rams into second place behind the 49ers in the National Football Conference's Western Division didn't come as a surprise to 49er fans. It delighted them. But it wasn't a surprise.

WITH THEIR inside knowledge of Ram frustrations on muddy and slippery football fields, 49er fans could have provided the TV commentators with some pertinent background information.

One commentator mentioned that Deacon Jones, a member of the Rams' Fearsome Foursome, was encountering difficulty in getting traction. Another recalled, during a sideline TV shot of George Allen, that the coach of the Rams might not be back next year due to differences with Dan Reeves, owner of the Rams.

ALLEN'S DIFFERENCES with Reeves came to light after another muddy football game, this one in Kezar Stadium two seasons ago. Allen, Jones and other Rams called Kezar the worst football field in the National League. They were most unhappy about a 20-20 tie with the 49ers.

And Reeves was very unhappy that his coach and players would say such things. "We've never acted this way before," said Reeves. "The Rams do not alibi."

Then Reeves fired Allen. A revolt of 12 Ram players, including Roman Gabriel, followed. That didn't intimidate Reeves who can't be pressured into reversing a decision. But he can be persuaded. And that is precisely what Dr. Jules Rasinski Jr., the team physician, did.

DR. RASINSKI called Reeves to say Allen had told him that he wanted to return as coach. Reeves reconsidered and announced that Allen's five-year contract, which then had two years to run but expires at the end of this season, would remain the same — reportedly $40,000 a year.

Reeves then disclosed that the derogatory remarks about Kezar had merely triggered his decision to fire Allen. His differences with Allen began building before 1968. He did not specify precisely with the differences were but said "we had several goes at each other before this." He described them as personality conflicts.

"IT IS HARD for someone on the outside — I mean someone not technically involved in football — to get through to George," said Reeves. "The man works 14 hours a day on football."

When Reeves was asked whether Allen's contract would be renewed after its final two years, he said "That's too far in the future to talk about but I don't want a two-year coach."

The future of Allen with the Rams now has almost expired. Whether it will be lengthened only Reeves knows.

STANFORD'S TRAINER BUSY MAN

STANFORD (UPI) — Rose Bowl-bound Stanford may have to install a revolving door to its trainer's room before the season is over. That's how bad it's been.

At workouts Wednesday three starters were withheld from drills because of injuries. Held out were middle linebacker Jeff Siamon, tight end Bob Moore and wide receiver Demea Washington. For Saturday's encounter against Oregon State, Washington is the only doubtful participant.

Two others recovered well enough to rejoin the team Wednesday. They were offensive tackle Steve Jubb and defensive back Mike Ewing.

Bench Wins N.L. All-Star Player Poll

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Cincinnati Catcher Johnny Bench has been selected the National League Player of the year and St. Louis Cardinal Bob Gibson was picked as the League's No. 1 pitcher, as the Sporting News announced Wednesday the results of its annual All-Star player poll.

In American League honors, Cleveland's Sam McDowell was picked as the best pitcher, while Minnesota third baseman Harmon Killebrew was picked again as the player of the year.

YOUNGEST

Bench, at 22 the youngest winner of the player of the year award, hit .293 with the National League Champions in 1970 and led the major leagues in home runs (45) and runs batted in (148).

Gibson, 34, finished a 20-game winner for the fourth time in the past five seasons with 23 wins and 7 losses. He whiffed 274 batters, a career high, and set a major league record with 8 seasons of 200 or more strikeouts.

McDowell, with a 20-12 record, had a 2.92 earned-run-average and 304 strikeouts in 305 innings. Killebrew finished with a .271 average including 41 homers and 113 rbis.

Little Is Big In Rushing

NEW YORK (UPI)—Floyd Little, the American Football Conference's leading rusher, finds himself in a familiar position as the Denver Broncos approach the half-way mark in their schedule but he's hoping history won't repeat itself in the second half of the season.

493 YARDS

Little has rushed for 493 yards in 108 carries in the first six Broncos games to lead Hewitt Dixon of the Oakland Raiders and Leroy Kelly of the Cleveland Browns. At this rate, assuming he remains healthy, Little can reach the 1,000-yard plateau for the first time in his career.

But that is the problem—remaining healthy.

Little has been stuck with the injury-prone tag since he was drafted No. 1 out of Syracuse in 1966. Last season Little had a sizable lead in the American Football League's rushing department but sustained several nagging injuries that eventually cost him the title late in the year. In 1969 Little finished fifth behind Dickie Post, Jim Nance, Hoyle Granger and Mike Garrett.

WORKHORSE

The Broncos, however, aren't being cautious with their star running back. Little has carried the ball more times than anyone else in the conference and hasn't shown any ill effects because of it. Last week Little had another big day, rushing for 140 yards against the San Francisco 49ers.

Tarkenton Gains On 49ers' Brodie

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fran Tarkenton gained a lot of ground—a lot of statistical ground—with his extraordinary aerial show Sunday in the New York Giants' 35-17 National Football League victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Dubbed "Frantic Fran" because of his scrambling style, quarterback Tarkenton threw five touchdown passes against the Cards. He hit on 15 of 18 attempts, including a consecutive string of 10 in the first half.

The five scoring strikes gave Tarkenton, now in his 10th year, a career total of 194. Only four quarterbacks have thrown 200 or more touchdown passes—John Unitas, George Blanda Sonny Jurgensen and Y.A. Tittle.

Fran's 15 completions on Sunday give him a lifetime total of 1,724, good for 24,358 yards. The quartet named above, plus Bobby Layne and John Brodie are the only six who have passed for 25,000 or more yards.

Tarkenton also moved into fifth place in the National Football Conference's quarterback-efficiency derby, with 94 completions in 169 attempts for a 55.6 completion percentage, 1,218 yards and eight touchdowns.

John Brodie of the San Francisco Forty Niners remained the conference's leading passer. Brodie has completed 99 of 170, for a 58.2 completion percentage, 1,328 yards and nine TD's.

Athletics' Roster Now At 40 Men

OAKLAND (UPI) — A massive two-way shuffle has brought the Oakland Athletics' winter roster to the 40-player limit.

Among the eight players shipped down Wednesday were John Donaldson and Tony LaRussa, who were with the A's for most if the 1970 baseball campaign. They were assigned outright to Des Moines of the American Association along with pitchers Darrell Osteen, Mike Olivo, Fred Talbot, Dooley Womack; and outfielders Allan Lewis and Jose Tartabull.

Recalled were pitchers Brien Bickerton, Chris Floethe, Gilberto Marcano and James Panther; catchers Tom Cook and Gene Dusan; infielders Gonzalo Marquez and Reggie Sanders; outfielders George Hendrick, Greg Schubert and Roger Cain.

Super Toe

MIAMI (UPI) — Jim Turner's place-licking accounted for 10 of the New York Jets' 16 points in their 16-7 victory over the Baltimore Colts in the 1969 Super Bowl.

Fast Work Before Auto Race

ROCKINGHAM, N. C. (UPI) —The rain-delayed American 500 stock car race at the North Carolina Motor Speedway Sunday will cause some fast work in the garage area when the track re-opens one day before the event.

All 40 cars that qualified for last week's scheduled running of the $100,000 race will remain impounded until Saturday morning at nine. Then crews will be allowed to take the covers off and make any adjustments that are needed.

And, according to Dick Hutcherson of the Holman-Moody racing team, there'll be plenty of changes to make. He'll be making changes in David Pearson's Ford Talladega, such as tuning, chassis and suspension alterations.

"It's liable to be a whole new ball game," Hutcherson said. "We put plenty of rubber on the track last week with qualifying and practice and the 100 mile Grand American race. When we quit last Saturday, we were set up for a slick track, but the rain probably has changed all that."

The heavy overnight rain forced officials to declare a one week postponement, a move that will give second-leading money winner Pete Hamilton a chance to move back into the number one spot.

Robinson Wins Close Decision

OAKLAND (UPI) —Al Robinson of Oakland, Silver medalist at the Mexico City Olympics, took a close decision over Felipe Torrez of Los Angeles in a 10-round lightweight go Wednesday night at Oakland Auditorium.

There were no knockdowns in the fight as Robinson, 134, built up an early lead and then withstood a comback attempt by Torres, 135.

Referee Vern Bybee, the lone official, scored it 5-4. UPI saw it the same way.

Nicklaus Is Favored In Sahara Invitational

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Billy Casper and Jack Nicklaus flunked their favorite subject, golf, last week but they get a fresh start today in the first round of the 72-hole, $100,000 Sahara invitational.

Casper is the No. 1 money-winner this year with more than $144,000 to his credit while Nicklaus is a close second with almost $140,000.

Nicklaus has to be the favorite here because it seems almost like he owns this tournament. He won the Sahara last year when he shot a final six-under-par 65 for a total of 282, 12 under. He beat Frank Beard by four strokes.

Nicklaus also won in 1963, in 1966 and 1967 so he's shooting for his fifth Sahara title which would add another $20,000 to his earnings.

Casper has just been named PGA Player of the Year. He won the Sahara in 1965.

The tournaments will use two courses, the Sahara-Nevada and the Paradise Valley, for the first two rounds. The last two will be held at Paradise.

Both Casper and Nicklaus failed to make the 36-hole cut at the Kaiser Open in Napa, Calif., last weekend and that is a rarity.

The Kaiser winner, Ken Still, is here. He had to beat Lee Trevino and Bert Yancey in a playoff.

Trevino is skipping this one. He and Arnold Palmer are on an Australian tour.

J. C. Snead shot a five-under-par 66 at the Sahara-Nevada course Wednesday to be low man on the second day of a pro-amateur prelude. Next came Rodriguez and Bobby Mitchell with 68s. Each collected $320.

Lamonica, Otto Miss Workouts

OAKLAND (UPI) — Today's the day the Oakland Raiders find out if key regulars Daryle Lamonica and Jim Otto will be ready for this weekend's battle against the Kansas City Chiefs.

Quarterback Lamonica and his center Otto missed workouts Wednesday with injuries. Lamonica has a back problem while Otto is nursing a leg strain.

Banking Industry's Prospects Are Good

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have a loss in First National City Bank. My broker advises that I hold for recovery, since prospects for the banking industry are better-than-average. What do you recommend? — W. I.

A. A true growth situation. First National City Corp. has posted consecutive earnings gains every year since 1939, with the exception of 1961. Even during the recent period of tight money and economic slowdown, the company managed to maintain its growth strides.

Now with the outlook for the money market becoming more favorable, First National City and the industry in general are expected to benefit. For the third quarter, company reported a hefty 14.1 per cent gain in net income (before security transactions) to $34.3 million, or $1.26 a share.

The increase was well above the 6.1 per cent advance of the first half and higher than management had previously predicted. Part of the gain may be attributed to the decline in interest rates in recent months. A recent 10 per cent hike in the quarterly dividend further enhances this issue which is currently a candidate for Vickers Favorite Fifty. Commitments should be held.

Flourocarbons Get Kaiser Price Hike

OAKLAND, (UPI) — The Kaiser Chemicals division of Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp. has increased its prices on fluorocarbon products used as refrigerants, aerosol propellants, and blowing agents.

SEARCH FOR OIL

Sun Oil geologist Sankey Blanton (standing) and Conoco geologist Bob Haney check dolomite in the Shublik Mountains of Alaska. The search for oil on the North Slope already has produced some 50 wells, yielding up to 20,000 barrels a day before capping. By comparison, a typical California well delivers 20 barrels a day.

First Hour Rally Fails On Exchange

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Stock Market today finished lower for the third time this week following the collapse of a first hour advance. Turnover was light.

Shortly before the close, the Dow Jones industrial average was off 2.40 at 753.56. Of the 1,577 issues crossing the tape, 737 declined and 539 gained.

Turnover exceeded 10,000,000 shares, compared with 10,660,000 shares traded Wednesday.

Closing prices included: Am T&T 42 7-8 up 3-8; Beth St 20 3-4; Chrysler 24 1-2 off 3-8; Dupont 116 1-2 off 1 1-2; Ford 49 3-4 up 5-8; Gen Motors 69 5-8 off 3-8 and IBM 298 1- up 2.

Oils and electronics, among the day's widest movers, pointed in both directions. Steels traded in fractions. Bethlehem reported lower third quarter profits, while Jones & Laughlin reported a loss for the period.

Analysts noted that demand for stocks was restrained by the large third quarter loss reported by General Motors Corp. and by recent government reports indicating a "sluggish" economy and continued inflation.

Prices softened in routine trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Differences Of Opinion On Fill Issue

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Marin County's proposed 5.7 acre fill in Richardson Bay for a new road connecting Mill Valley with Highway 101 involved the county in a thus-far low key difference of opinion with the staff of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, in a cover letter on the county's application to the BCDC for a fill permit, said the application was not an admission by the county that the project was subject to its jurisdiction.

Maloney told the Independent-Journal that the marsh area slated for fill was inboard of a railroad line that blocked all natural tidal action. There was no "natural flow," he said, despite a functioning tide gate in a railroad bridge.

Joseph E. Bodovitz, executive director of the commission, responded to the Maloney's covering letter with a letter of his own, insisting the marsh still was subject to the commission's jurisdiction. If the county believes the area is exempt, he wrote Maloney, 'the disagreement should be settled through a declarative relief action in the courts rather than through unilateral action."

Bodovitz added that such unilateral action by the county would require "this commission to seek the injunction."

The county's application will be heard by the commission at 2 p.m. on Nov. 5 in Room 1195 of the State Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue.

The new four-lane roadway will extend the improved section of Miller Avenue south from Mill Valley to Highway 101. The $1.7-million project also would provide a two-lane extension of Shoreline Highway east of Dolan's Corner, forming a "T" with the new four-lane extension of Miller Avenue.

The county's application described the marshland as "extremely marginal marsh which is already severed from the bay" by the railroad right-of-way. The filling would be carried out this fiscal year with the roadwork done from 1971 to 1973.

The application said the fill was justified "inasmuch as its public benefit is manifest and substantial."

The BCDC staff's report on the application noted that the commission's policy provided that "if a route must be located over the bay . . the fill should be placed on bridge-like structure, not on fill."

Mill Valley Airman Gets Recognition

A sergeant stationed at the 666th Radar Squadron at Mill Valley Air Force Station has been selected to represent the 26th NORAD Region, Luke Air Force Base, Ariz., in the annual "outstanding enlisted service recognition program."

He is M/Sgt. Charles J. Miles of 1349 Denlyn, Novato. He will represent the region at the North American Air Defense Command headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo., Nov. 12 through 14th.

Sergeant Miles is married and he and his wife, Dorothy have two daughters, Rosalind, 16, and Sharon, 8.

Doctor Says Smog Can Cause Cancer

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Persons with early lung cancer often can reverse the progress of the disease by moving out of a smoggy environment, a Los Angeles chest physician said Wednesday.

Dr. Joseph Boyle, a member of the State Air Resources Board, also said smog may be a factor in the cause of lung cancer.

Speaking to an air pollution symposium of the American College of Chest Physicians, he told of one case in which cancerous cells disappeared from a patient's lungs when he left Los Angeles for less than a week.

Boyle said, however, the diseased cells were again found in the patient's lungs within several weeks of his return to the city.

Albums Stolen

Stereo albums and other personal items valued at about $111 were stolen yesterday at about 5:40 p.m. from an auto owned by Adrian E. Garvin, 222 El Prado Avenue, San Rafael, while the vehicle was parked at the Corte Madera Shopping Center, police said today.

1,200 Acres Burned In Southland

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Diminishing desert winds late Wednesday enabled fire fighters to contain two potentially dangerous brush fires to a total of 1,200 acres in San Diego and Los Angeles Counties.

The San Diego fire burned 500 acres of brush and timber in mountanious terrain about 55 miles northeast of San Diego before it was contained.

The Los Angeles County blaze, four miles east of Newhall, blackened 700 acres before fire fighters got the upper hand.

Another brush fire in Los Angeles caused $25,000 damage to Automated Fiberglas Inc., and $3,000 to a nearby horse before it was knocked down. Los Angeles County Fire Chief Richard Houtes, in conjunction with the U. S. Forest Service, declared an extreme fire hazard alert in the county. Certain roads and trails were closed to the public.

The hillside home of Maurice Tuchman, senior curator of the Los Angeles County Museum of Art, sustained $30,000 damage in a fire Wednesday night that also destroyed paintings valued at $20,000.

Fire officials said art works valued at $200,000 were in the home when the blaze erupted. Firemen were able to take out all but a small quantity of the works.

The cause of the blaze, which started outside next to the garage, was under investigation.

Government Says Pot Promotes Other Drugs

NEW YORK (UPI)—Assistant Treasury Secretary Eugene T. Rossides said Wednesday federal researchers now know that marijuana is dangerout because users are more likely to try other drugs.

Rossides told the American Importers Association that "danger is ever present" when marijuana is smoked because "marijuana is a manifestation of the so-called drug subculture which encourages further experimentation with a wide variety of drugs."

He said the government knows enough about marijuana "to reject it and attempt to guard our young people from it."

"A heavy marijuana user is more likely to become a multiple drug user . . . in short, we know there is no good to be derived from marijuana and danger is ever present."

The assistant secretary said more will be known about the drug upon completion of studies currently underway at the National Institute of Mental Health.

Tacit Approval To Long Locks

CHULA VISTA, Calif. (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan, stumping for reelection votes here Wednesday, gave tacit approval to long hair on young men.

The approval came in response to a long-haired youth's inquiry at a political rally.

"I recognize this is a fad or style and at the moment you're wearing your hair long," Reagan replied. "Every young generation has a right to its own style."

STOL Aircraft Grounded For Not Getting Approval

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The new STOL (short take-off and landing) has been grounded after it hardly had got off the ground.

The state Public Utilities Commission issued a temporary restraining order Wednesday grounding the flights of the nine-passenger planes between Candlestick Park and the Cal Expo Fairgrounds in Sacramento because it said the operators had neglected to obtain commission approval for the service.

The commission said STOL should halt operations until its application goes through, perhaps by early next week.

San Francisco Chamber of Commerce officials, who had sponsored this week's first flights, noted that no fares were being charged for this week's "promotional" operation and said they figured the confusion would be unraveled within a few days.

Marin Merchants Fight In Freedom's Front Line

A truck drives up to deliver goods to a store in Marin. At the wheel is a member of the Teamsters Union. His union has a contract with the company delivering the merchandise. He is covered by that contract.

But as the truck approaches the store, one or more imported goons who claim they are members of the Teamsters Union step out and stop it. They order the driver not to deliver the merchandise. They threaten him. If he ignores them, sometimes they slash his truck tires.

At another store which employs union labor and has no dispute with any union, a stink bomb is tossed inside, fouling the merchandise, driving away the customers.

Why?

THE GOONS SAY they are doing these things for "labor solidarity." They say Marin is "anti-union." They say this is proved by a strike called last Jan. 7 against the Independent-Journal by International Typographical Union Local 21 of San Francisco, which has not been settled — for reasons rather obvious to anyone who notes the boarded-up windows of the I-J Building and of various stores, who smells the stench of the stink bombs, who has heard the threats by the goons. They say it is proved also because merchants continue to advertise their wares in the I-J.

Fourteen years ago, the American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations (of which the ITU is a member) expelled the Teamsters Union for gross corruption. It has never been reinstated.

ITU Local 21, however, seems to have no objection to "assistance" from goons who claim to represent a union which its parent organization has expelled for gross corruption. Pickets placed around the I-J Building by the ITU are often seen in conversation with the purported Teamsters Union members.

This kind of "assistance" can go far toward destroying the ITU.

IT COULD HAVE destroyed much of Marin's commercial life already if it were not for the backbone of the merchants who refuse to be intimidated, who refuse to pay blackmail, who refuse to take orders from goons.

Many people are disturbed by the United States' participation in what they see as threats to liberty or self-determination for people in other countries.

Many other people are disturbed by what they see as a threat to liberty here at home by the Communist party.

The merchants who refuse to be intimidated by the goons are fighting for everyone's liberty right here in Marin County. They are not fighting some ephemeral Communist threat. They are not fighting some imagined threat abroad. They are fighting the real thing.

Benjamin Franklin wrote many years ago:

"They that give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety."

A few Marin merchants have given up essential liberty for a little temporary safety — and usually have found how temporary it is. Most have refused to do so. They deserve to be acknowledged as the real fighters for freedom, far more than do those who tilt at windmills of ephemeral threats elsewhere.

A STATESMAN much more recent than Franklin put it quite plainly. It was Dwight D. Eisenhower who said:

"Freedom from fear and injustice and oppression will be ours only in the measure that men who value such freedom are ready to sustain its possession — to defend it against every thrust from within and without."

The thrust in Marin is from within the Bay Area (though not from within Marin County). The merchants who are fighting it are the front-line soldiers protecting the public's right to read what it wishes and trade where it wishes.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Thanks For Help On Grape Festival

I want to express our indebtness to the hundreds and hundreds of Sunny Hills friends in the community who contributed so much of their time and efforts to make Grape Festival day on Oct. 3 a success. A special thanks to those who came to buy and to have fun with us at the Grape Festival. We were all, in our own way, financially making possible a significant portion of the Sunny Hills program for the care and treatment of teen-age boys and girls who come to Sunny Hills with severe home and school problems from all over the Bay Area as well as Marin County. The help given by individuals, armed forces groups, businesses and public servants throughout the county was most gratifying to all of us involved in the Grape Festival.

Fly Flag Only For 'Good Behavior'

The below-signed members of the Student-Teacher Coalition wish to commend your paper on its insightful editorial, "About That Ecology Flag" (Oct. 23) and to tell you how happy we were to find such a powerful ally in our struggle for social justice.

We were particularly pleased with the suggestion — "Why not make the ecology flag a symbol of a clean campus . . . let the flag be flown when the campus is clean, but not when it is littered." In fact, we were so taken with it that we would like to see it carried one step fulther. Let All flags be flown only during periods of good behavior. The American flag, for example. While we remain embroiled in an immoral and undeclared war in Asia, let the national flag remain humbly lowered.

Similarly the California flag. While migrant farm laborers live in squalor, while cities like Watts, Marin City, and Delano are islands of despair, let the California flag remain furled.

The sight of a completely bare flagpole then would serve as a daily reminder of the state of our local and national conscience. When our land is no longer littered — not just with paper, but with the ruin of human lives — then:

"The . . . flag . . . would be a banner of honor which the school could fly with pride."

Thanks again for the fine editorial.

School Districts Not All To Blame

Each property tax bill tells a different story. Different municipalities, special districts, and school districts — each with its own tax rate — combine with a varying assessed valuation to produce a variety of results. An analysis of the individual bill and a comparison with the bill of last year give some interesting comparisons.

The increases mentioned by a recent writer to this column are not applicable in every case. We analyzed our current tax bill and compared it with that of 1969-70. City taxes: no change. Special districts: a decrease of $3.16. County taxes: an increase of $33.62. School districts: a decrease of $13.64.

Time Running Out To Treat Causes

In the election next week, people will be asked to choose between candidates who will try to treat the symptoms of this country's several social ills and those who would treat the causes. In the latter case are those who will try to correct those things that are creating the tinder for a civil war of our own while we continue to involve ourselves in other people's civil wars in Southeast Asia. They are like bomb-disposal squads who defuse live bombs. In the former are the head-knockers who can think of nothing but more laws, more police, and more repression. They want to tie down the safety valve on the boiler.

If we voters elect those who wish to treat causes, we will have a good chance for real progress and social stability, but if we elect those who can see only symptoms, we will get peace and quiet — for a while. But this approach will virtually insure an eventual real authentic social explosion. This latter will benefit only the wild men and the radicals. The choice is basic and it is ours to make. We are running out of time to treat causes.

Judges Nullify Patrol's Efforts

The California Highway Patrol is doing a first class job of arresting the increasing number of drunken drivers on the Marin highways, only to have their efforts nullified by the bir-hearted Marin municipal judges, who are giving these drunks only a slap on the wrist by imposing an average penalty of $150 fine and a year's probation.

These judges do not seem to have what it takes to be tough. They should be giving these potential highway killers a stiff fine and jail sentence and in some cases suspend their driver's license for a period of months, in place of the light sentences they have been in the habit of passing out.

Furthermore, we have a group of attorneys practicing in Marin who do not have the moral courage to run against this entrenched judicial clique when they come up for election, but use the lame excuse that they fear retaliation when appearing in their courts.

U.N. Proves Futile Instrument For Settling Mid-East Crisis

UNITED NATIONS — The United Nations, having just celebrated its 25th birthday with splashes of glowing rhetoric, now descends to a debate threatening to prove once and for all that as a peacemaker the U.N. is a fumbling, futile bureaucracy. The Middle East quarrel between Israel and the Arabs and their respective principals, the United States and the Soviet Union, hangs like a dark cloud over the great glass house on the East River.

The debate over the Security Council resolution calling on Israel to give up territories occupied in the six-day war as a condition of peace will resolve nothing. It promises to inflame the dispute and increase the risk of still another all-out war.

OF ALL the heads of state and heads of government who came for the birthday it is hardly an exaggeration to say that a woman was the most commanding figure. Israel's Prime Minister Golda Meir in her private talks with other heads of state was as stern and inflexible as an avenging prophetess. She knew what she wanted and she knew how to get it.

The premier of a small European nation came away slightly shaken from his encounter with Mrs. Meir. She confronted him with blown-up photographs of Egypt's zone on the Suez Canal. SAM-3S here, SAM-3s there, and only the Russians could have put them in place. Her vigorous gestures underscored her commanding voice.

"And now," she demanded, "what are you going to do about it?"

The recollection he came away with was of a biblical figure calling on the conscience of mankind. What his small country could do about it was something else. As in much of the west, the left has developed a strong pro-Arab bent, identifying Israel as a client state of "imperialist" America.

IS THERE THEN any chance for a peaceful settlement? Or is the prospect for greater armaments, greater tension and finally explosion that will put the two superpowers on a collision course to Armageddon?

The American position is simplicity itself. With scarcely concealed contempt for the U.N. as a peace-keeping forum, it is based on the conviction that both Israel and Egypt want to maintain the cease-fire.

With the weeks and the months going by and the guns silent there will somehow be a break. Israel's demand for complete rectification of the Egyptian zone to the status of Aug. 7 — no one really knows what exactly that status was — will be less regid. The peace talks could start tomorrow if Israel were willing to come to the conference table.

In the American position is a wistful Micawberish hope that something will turn up. As the weeks and the months go by, American arms will continue to move to Israel, with the avowed objective of restoring the military balance in the region, although what that balance is remains nearly as unclear as the status of the missilry on Aug. 7 along the canal. In short, it is fencing with tipped foils in the dangerous and uncertain dark.

THE BURDEN in the midst of all this — and after three years it is a well-nigh intolerable burden — falls on Gunnar Jarring. With extraordinary patience he continues to stand by, ready to hear the same arguments for the thousandth time in the hope that a compromise settlement will finally come.

Jarring would be more than human if he were not at times tempted to put it down, letting the chips of blame fall where he believes they should fall. But to find another Jarring would be difficult, if not impossible, and so both sides want him to stay.

Election Eve Speculation: What Happens If Parties Break Even?

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Just before general elections, there isn't much to do except speculate, which in effect means the sky's the limit.

Some of the more experienced politicos around the capitol have it worked out that the Senate will be divided 20-20 next year, and the Assembly 40-40, and are contemplating just what's going to happen should this situation occur.

While the possibility that such a division could take place is fairly remote, the odds against it are considerably less than they were two years ago, when the Republicans were on the gain.

Usually, the off year is the time when the pendulum starts to swing back, so with even a slight gain on the part of the Democrats, the two legislative bodies could be thrown into an "odds-even" status.

SUCH A STATUS would open the door to the inevitable formation of coalitions, rather than operation on the basis of party affiliation.

The Assembly presently is controlled by the Republicans, with a Republican speaker, Assemblyman Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy. Monagan's record, although unimpressive, has generally been good, not only for the party, but for the Assembly itself.

So there would be little reason to scuttle Monagan in case neither party could elect a speaker, even if there were another assemblyman in the Democratic party as popular and well thought of as the current speaker.

If the even division should happen, there would have to be a coalition, which means that parties would be out the window, and the choice of a leader made on the basis of who can do what for whom. This would engender one of the biggest trading parties in history, with the lobbyists pulling the deciding strings.

AN EVEN division in the state Senate, however, would result in a different pattern.

The forces behind Howard Way, R-Tulare, are understood not to have given upinsofar as attempts to put Way back in the driver's seat are concerned. And it was only by a very slight majority that Way was unseated by Sen. Jack Schrade, R-San Diego.

This might open the door to a Democrat in the event of an even division in the Senate — a Democrat elected by a coalition outside party consideration.

Among others who would be in the running would be Senators Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, and George Moscone, D-San Francisco, the leaders of different groups of senators with what one might say are diverging philosophies.

The Republican Way group might be expected to throw in with the Moscone group of Democrats, while the Schrade supporters would favor Collier.

So it's up to the voters of the state. If they want peace and quiet in reasonable amounts, they'll have to give a majority to one party.

WINDOW ON THE WORLD

India-Pakistan Quarrel Hardly A Laughing Stock

By PHIL NEWSOM, UPI Foreign News Analyst

Pakistan and India have become the "laughing stock of the world," says Pakistani President Agha Mohammad Yahya Khan, because of their inability to settle the quarrels which have divided them since independence in 1947.

Well, maybe.

A source of world irritation, perhaps. Frustration, certainly. In looking upon the subcontinent it is possible to draw a smile from the fact that an alarm clock's failure prevented U.S. Ambassador Kenneth B. Keating from seeing Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi off on her way to the anniversary session of the United Nations, with resultant injured feelings among the Indians.

ONE DOES NOT, however, smile at Indian reaction to the U.S. decision to renew arms sales to Pakistan.

"Against whom can Pakistan use these war materials?" demands Mrs. Gandhi.

As a phrase, "laughing stock" scarcely would seem applicable to any problem involving more than 650 million people which is the combined population of Pakistan and India.

Their differences, says Khan, are "tragic for both of us."

Upon that there can be agreement, especially in the light of how it might have been if they had not existed.

THERE WOULD HAVE been no quarrel over Kashmir and the first great failure for the United Nations.

And there would have been no 1965 war between the two, primarily on the issue of Kashmir.

There would have been none of the religious killings between Muslim and Hindu. A subcontinent united in one nation need not have undergone the humiliation suffered by India at the hands of Red China in their border dispute. There need have been no dispute at all over the largely useless Rann of Cutch and today's dispute over waters of the Ganges.

Nor need there have been the circumstances which made the division of the Indian subcontinent into India and Pakistan probably history's most expensive social experiment.

AS OF NOW, United States aid to India totals more than to any other country, including South Vietnam. It is almost $9 billion.

Food supplied to India under an agreement since Sept. 30, 1964, comes to more than $1.2 billion.

At the end of December, 1969, U.S. aid to Pakistan from 1950 exceeded $2.1 billion.

In the last 20 years, the United States has given to Pakistan more the $1.3 billion in food grains, mostly wheat.

As result of the war in 1965, the United States halted arms sales to both India and Pakistan. It modified the ban in 1967 to sell spare parts to Pakistan and non-lethal equipment to both sides. This month it was disclosed the United States was resuming arms sales to Pakistan.

For a reason not disclosed, Mrs. Gandhi did not attend President Nixon's dinner Saturday night for visiting heads of state.

The suspected reason was the arms deal which Mrs. Gandhi did not find a laughing matter.

Problem At Phoenix Lake Not Involved In Bond Issue

Response in some quarters to a recent series of articles by this reporter on pollution of Phoenix Lake by the Marin Municipal Water District has been opposition to the district's $11.5 million bond issue.

Such a response to Proposition H on the Nov. 3 ballot aggravate the problem of sludge dumping at the lake rather than force a solution to it. The solution will require money.

True, none of the money ticketed for systems improvements and additional water supply from the Russian River is earmarked for correcting what appears to be a serious pollution and erosion problem at the Bon Tempe water treatment plant above Phoenix Lake.

However, it is also true that the water district must upgrade its system and provide for future water needs to the tune of $11.5 million.

The measure is extaneous to the argument over district priorities.

THE DISTRICT CROWS, and justifiably so, about never resorting to a tax levy in its 58-year history.

Unfortunately, another of its major objectives — "preservation and enhancement of its virgin watershed lands . . . for outdoor recreation" according to its election pamphlet — sometimes conflicts with the effort to avoid a tax. Money usually speaks louder.

District Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger has consistently told this reporter that the main reason water treatment leftovers are dumped into Phoenix Lake is economy.

However, polluting "economies" are like buying on credit. Pay nothing down, but pay heavily later with interest.

PHOENIX LAKE is a recreation area in the tradition of the district's "preservation and enhancement" program, but the lake is virtually useless for water recreation.

Swimming and boating are prohibited in the lake and fishing there appears hardly worthwhile.

Catching fish in the lake must be like a prefabricated house in a subdivision. It is hard to tell yours from the others because they all look the same.

The fish stocked cannot survive the lake's environment, so none grows to any size and fighting strength. Marin fishermen might just as well visit a trout farm.

THE ONLY WAY to make the lake a true recreation area is for the district to stop dumping sludge in and around it.

Sludge, or water treatment leftovers, bears chemicals state officials claim are deadly to wild life.

The district must spend money to treat the wastes and prevent further erosion below the plant to fulfill its "preservation and enhancement" objective.

The alternative employed for the past 12 years has been to save the money at the expense of the "virgin" watershed lands.

Whether the scale is tipped to economy or ecology ultimately depends on the voters who own and use the 17,000 acres which include Phoneix Lake.

Marinwood Not Ready To Add To Fire Area

Directors of the Marinwood Community Services District have agreed to discuss with the county providing fire protection to Marin County Juvenile Hall but say they are not ready to annex the property now.

District board president Donald A. Duerr said the board took its position at a meeting Tuesday following discussion of a county proposal that the district annex the juvenile hall site.

Duerr said the board felt there was not an adequate water supply at the county property and it would take approximately $44,000 to upgrade the supply.

Annexation would also require additional manpower for the Marinwood Fire Department, which the district is not in a financial position to provide.

In addtion, Duerr said, prior to the district's considering annexation, some of the county buildings would have to be brought up to stricter fire safety standards.

Marinwood will continue to offer fire-fighting assistance under a mutual aid agreement with the county, Duerr said, and the board expressed a willingness to discuss contracting with the county for the district to take over responsibility in the area.

The board also approved hiring William Doyle, who has worked for the fire department in conjunction with a College of Marin work-study program, as a fireman at $689 a month.

In other action, the board voted to oppose the county-wide police service district.

A resolution outlining the board's position threatened to initiate a referendum petition should the county board of supervisors approve the police district.

Among other reasons, the board based its opposition on lack of representation of any special district on the City-County Services Committee.

Indians Attack Mission Field

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A delegation of American Indians Wednesday urged the United Methodist Church's Board of Missions to end the concept of Indians as merely "a target" for mission work.

"Indian Americans want to be accepted no longer as little brothers, but as full brothers in the United Methodist Church," said Rev. Thomas Roughface, a member of the Oklahoma Indian Mission Conference.

Rev. Raymond G. Baines, an Indian who is associate director of the Cook Training School, Tempe, Ariz., and chairman of the board's Indian American Advisory Committee, estimated there were 180,000 Indians within the boundaries of the church's Southern California-Arizona conference.

Delicious Halloween Witches' Brew -But The Price Is Mighty High

WASHINGTON — It was Halloween and all the pols were standing around the large iron kettle, waiting for it to boil. Spiro, the chef, was adding some spices.

"A dash of nattering nabob, a cup of radiclib, and three tablespoonfuls of law and order."

Everyone clapped his hands. "Oh, this is going to be delicious," someone cried.

THE CHIEF TASTER Dick took a wooden spoon and tasted it. "It's missing something."

He passed the wooden spoon around to his advisers. They all agreed, and sang together:

"It's missing something. It's missing something. Oh what, oh what is it missing?"

"I know," someone cried. "It's missing chopped rhetoric. No recipe is complete without chopped rhetoric."

"Of course," Spiro the chef said. And he took a large box of rhetoric and poured the entire contents in.

SOMEONE THREW some wood on the fire and the brew started to bubble.

The Chief Taster Dick took his wooden spoon and everyone held his breath. Dick made a face, "It's flat. It needs more Democrats."

Everyone joined hands and danced around the kettle chanting, "It needs more Democrats! It needs more Democrats!"

Spiro the chef finally said, "We've thrown in all the Democrats. We have none left."

They all cried in despair: "We have no Democrats left. We have no Democrats left."

"Oh, what should we do? Oh, what should we do?"

THE CHIEF TASTER Dick stared at the pot, "Start throwing in Republicans."

There was a gasp from the witches, "Republicans?"

"That's what I said," the Chief Taster Dick said.

Spiro the chef and three of the witches grabbed Charlie Goodell and threw him in the pot.

Goodell screamed and thrashed around as everyone clapped their hands and sang: "Charlie Goodell is stewing in the pot. Charlie Goodell is stewing in the pot. Poor old stewing in the pot. Poor old Buckley marches on."

SPIRO THE CHEF stirred and stirred and then he gave the spoon to the Chief Taster Dick.

"That's better," he said, smacking his lips. "But it still needs another Republican."

"Another Republican?" everyone gasped.

"Throw in Lindsay," cried a goblin named Martha. "Lindsay, Lindsay," everyone yelled. "The stew needs some Lindsay."

They heaved in Lindsay and added water to the pot.

SPIRO STIRRED and seasoned it with a bowl of pornography, a pan of marijuana, a handful of media and a gravy of student unrest.

The pot was really boiling and everyone was licking his chops.

"Has there ever been a political brew like this?" cried one of the elves.

The Chief Taster Dick went back to the pot and stuck his spoon in. Everyone watched.

"IT'S ALMOST perfect. All it needs is a little more extract of fear."

Spiro added several gallons of fear and then the Chief Taster Dick smacked his lips and said one word: "Perfect."

They all clapped and cried, "Let us taste it! Let us taste it!"

But Spiro the chef slapped their hands with the spoon and said angrily, "Nobody gets to eat unless they pay $250 a plate."

Connection To Guard Revealed

KENT, Ohio (UPI)—Attorney General Paul W. Brown says he would not have appointed Seabury Ford to help direct the grand jury investigation of the Kent State University disorders had he known Ford once was a member of the Ohio National Guard.

Ford, of nearby Ravenna, has been cited for contempt of court for commenting on the investigation. He belonged to the 107th cavalry in Cleveland in the 1920s.

Soldiers of Troop G of the 107th cavalry, with headquarters at nearby Ravenna, were among the troops on the Commons May 4 when National Guardsmen fired into a group of demonstrating students. Four students were killed and nine wounded.

Kettenhofen Best

TWO MARIN County men, Democrat William M. Bennett and Republican Ernest N. Kettenhofen, are competing for election as Third District member of the State Board of Equalization.

The winner will replace Democrat Paul Leake of Woodland, who is retiring after many years of effective service.

It has always seemed to The Press Democrat to be highly ridiculous that this strictly financial-management job should be a partisan rather than non-partisan office, but that's the way the law reads.

The Press Democrat recommends Mr. Kettenhofen for the job. As a Marin County businessman who also operates a working farm in Lake County he has a dollars-and-cents interest and understanding of the high cost of taxes, and an appreciation of the problems peculiar to the Third District.

Mr. Bennett, on the other hand, is an attorney at law whose office is in San Francisco, which has its own member on the Board. As a Marin resident he is fully eligible to be elected from this district, but it seems to The Press Democrat that his opponent, whose own problems and interests are in the Third District, should be the one to represent us

EQUALLY important, as a farmer and as a businessman, Mr. Kettenhofen has first-hand experience with what California's lopsided tax structure, with its grass-roots emphasis on property taxes, is doing to farmers, to homeowners and to small business. His would be an expert voice in working to sensibly overhaul a tax structure that badly needs it.

Kettenhofen Has Ideas For Real Tax Equalization

There is an air of lethargic bureaucracy about the California State Board of Equalization's main office at 1020 N Street, Sacramento. We predict it will disappear in a hurry if Ernest N. Kettenhofen of San Anselmo wins election to that board on Nov. 3.

Kettenhofen is the Republican candidate for board member from the 25-county Third District, to succeed veteran Paul R. Leake of Woodland, who is retiring at the end of this year.

HE HAS SOME definite ideas about what should be done to make California taxation policies more equitable. He has been hammering at them in his campaign, which has taken him repeatedly to each of the 25 counties, stretching from San Francisco Bay and Sacramento to the Oregon line, which make up the Third District.

Here are some of the things Kettenhofen advocates, and for which he would seek legislation where necessary:

Tax relief through incentive credits.

Kettenhofen believes that those who make property improvements that reflect to the general good should not be penlaized for doing so by immediate tax hikes, but given a write-off as incentive to improve. This could be especially valuable in promoting environmental improvements, he notes.

Abolition or major revision of the inventory tax.

This tax is levied on inventory held by business firms each March. Kettenhofen calls it "the most unfair and inefficient tax now on the California statute books" and "a bonus to cheat." It results in warehousing in neighboring states to "clear out inventory" for the due date, he claims. It should either be abolished or based on average inventory throughout the year, he contends.

Revision of the Williamson Act.

This is the act that permits acreage to be placed in "agricultural preserve" for assessment unaffected by increased value through change in use of surrounding lands. In some counties, it has been used as a tax dodge by owners of small parcels of undeveloped land, contrary to its purpose. Kettenhofen would seek to enforce uniform application — a function of the board of equalization.

Uniform taxation of timber lands.

Some counties, contends Kettenhofen, are virtually forcing destruction of forests by taxing timber lands on the board footage of standing trees Others tax only that timber which is harvested — which Kettenhofen believes should be the uniform practice to encourage forest conservation. Again, uniform assessment falls within the jurisdiction of the board of equalization.

THESE ARE SOME specifics in "Kett's" campaign for the little-noticed state board that has wide powers over California taxation and assessment practices. As he proved while on the Marin County Board of Supervisor, "Kett" is a man who works hard for what he believes, so he can be depended on to do more than pay lip service to such reforms.

Running against Kettenhofen for the office is another Marinite, Democrat William M. Bennett of Kentfield. Bennett, a former California Public Utilities Commission member, is campaigning as a "friend of the consumer." But when it comes to specifics, he has proposed nothing comparable to Kettenhofen's platform.

We believe the people of Marin and the 24 other counties of the Third District will be best served by electing Ernest N. Kettenhofen to the board of equalization. And we think they will do it.

Kettenhofen Best Choice

After carefully considering the qualifications necessary for a member of the State Board of Equalization the publisher of this newspaper is convinced that Ernest Kettenhofen is the best-qualified to serve our county as a member of that most important body.

Now serving his third term as a member of the Board of Governors of our California Maritime Academy, of which he twice has been chairman, Mr. Kettenhofen has established himself as a successful businessman, rancher and property owner who knows what taxation is all about.

Campaigning as the spokesman for the taxpayer, he is able to draw on his vast experience and knowledge of the 25-county Third District which he seeks to represent when discussing taxes and tax reforms.

Ernest Kettenhofen knows the problems of the property owner, large and small, and the problems of government as well. He speaks for the taxpayer because he knows at first hand the growing burden he bears. He has the knowledge and know-how to do something about the tax burden.

Most importantly, Ernest Kettenhofen knows this area well, through his long association with the Maritime Academy, of which he is a prominent graduate, as well as his ownership of property in Lake County and his familiarity with Solano and Napa County and their tax problems.

Mr. Kettenhofen has devoted his life to public service, as a member of several boards and commissions, including the Board of Equalization in Marin County, county supervisor, Marin College Foundation president, co-chairman of the Committee for Adequate Shelter for All (CASA), hospital board director and chairman of a fund drive which raised $350,000 from private sources to help build the Mental Health Center at Marin General Hospital, and Northern California chairman for successful passage of the proposition which created tax incentives for the maintenance of open space.

His background establishes him as a proponent of economy and equality in government and tax administration. He proposes to seek tax relief through incentive programs. He believes that those who make property improvements which generally benefit the public should not be penalized by immediate tax increases, as is presently the case.

Mr. Kettenhofen would abolish or revise the annual inventory taxes what he calls "the most unfair and inefficient tax now on the California statute books."

At present the inventory tax results in millions of dollars on inventories being warehoused in other states—notably Nevada — to await the California due date. He believes if this tax is not abolished, at least it should be based on an average annual inventory.

He also advocates revision of tax regulations under the Williamson Act which permits some lands to be placed in "agricultural preserves" to guarantee uniform application of provisions of the law, which is a function of the State Board of Equalization.

For these and many other reasons, we believe Ernest Kettenhofen to be the best qualified candidate to succeed retiring Paul Leake as Member, Third District, State Board of Equalization. A man who gets things done, an experienced and successful businessman, a rancher and property owner and a proven public servant of highest caliber, Ernest Kettenhofen should be everyone's choice for the Board of Equalization.

Applications For Spring Are Still Accepted

Sonoma State College is still taking applications for admission for the spring semester despite the fact that 1,600 applications have already been received.

Registrar Harold J. Soeters said a large graduating class is expected in January which will provide more openings for new students than has been permitted in the past.

He said that admission requests are being accepted for freshmen, graduate students and transfer students, except those majoring in psychology and art.

Soeters said he expects the quota of applications will be filled within a week. He anticipates that 800 of the applicants will actually register for the spring semester.

Soeter said the crush of applications that forced closing within 24 house last year has been eased because of the large number of graduates.

Kettenhofen Proposes Revised Timber Taxes

I-J Special Report

ST. HELENA — Ernest N. Kettenhofen of San Anselmo, Republican nominee for the State Board of Equalization, yesterday proposed revision of state law on property taxation of timber.

Kettenhofen, speaking at a lunch for him at a winery, proposed a "yield tax" on timber when it is harvested, instead of the current system of taxing timber lands.

Under current provisions of the state constitution, it is possible to receive a 40-year exemption from taxation of trees on a parcel where 70 per cent of the timber has been logged. As a result, he said, "it is not uncommon to find timberlands so harvested every 40th year in order to achieve a permanent tax exemption."

Kettenhofen, according to a press release, said the net result was to discourage optimum growth and deprive mountain counties of a stable tax base.

Such a change in the law would require approval by the state's voters.

Airport Director Post Is Created

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A new post of airport director with a $39,000 a year salary has been created for San Francisco International Airport.

The new Airport Commission approved the new post and three other top-level airport administration positions Monday.

The current airport manager, George Hansen, is paid $32,000 a year.
